SUMMARY.

The most severe battle of the Mexican insurrection is now proceeding in the Topic district.

The big cathedral has collapsed under artillery fire, and there has been much looting and heavy loss of life.

A British warship is en route to the Mexican coast in order to protect British interests there.

The U.S. Presidential campaign continues to be marked with bitterness and abuse.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that Mr. Taft has been disloyal, both to past friendship and ordinary decency.

It is officially reported that the Mount Temple went to the assistance of the Titanic, but arrived too late.

The remainder of the firemen on the Olympic, hitherto loyal, have refused to sail in that vessel.

The White Star Company has consequently appealed to the Postmaster-General to support it.

Unless firmness is shown in restoring discipline, it states, sailings cannot be maintained.

At the Senate inquiry one of the Californian's crew caused a sensation by saying he saw the Titanic's distress signals.

He did not, he said, notify the officers on the bridge, as they could plainly see the signals themselves.

The captain denied the allegation, and said the signals, which were not distress signals, were sent up by another ship.

The immigration authorities at Ottawa estimate that the Dominion will receive 400,000 settlers this season.

The Australian cricketers have been welcomed at the Howard Hotel by Sir George Reid, the High Commissioner.

The visitors will have a week in which to recover their land legs and indulge in practice.

The salving of £295,000 worth of bullion from the Delhi wreck cost below 6 per cent.

Deferred shares in the Peninsular and Oriental Company are quoted at £405.

The rise is attributed to purchasers who desire to force the company to accept a scheme of consolidation.

Two French officers and two veterinary surgeons made a clever escape during the revolt at Fez.

They hid in a sewer leading to the river, where they remained without food and water for 48 hours.

The new steamer Keramu, built for the Union Steamship Company, has been launched at Leith.

The steamer Alameda, while docking, crashed through the Coleman Dock at Seattle.

The accident was due to the captain's orders to the engine-room being misunderstood.

Owing to the recent coal strike, the dates of launching the cruisers Melbourne and Sydney have not yet been fixed.

The completion of the Australia has also been delayed, but she is expected to sail at the end of the year.

The Queensland State elections were conducted on Saturday, a heavy poll resulting in a great Liberal victory.

Mr. Bowman, the leader of the Labour party, said he was delighted with the Labour success in metropolitan constituencies.

The landing of Captain Cook in Australia was fittingly celebrated on the shores of Botany Bay on Saturday.

The anniversary was the 142nd, the circumnavigator having discovered the country in 1770.

The coastal steamer Bellinger when leaving Macleay Heads on Friday, went aground, and became a total wreck.

The steamer was fully laden with hardwood timber for Sydney, but it is improbable that the cargo will be recovered.

Armed men burgled Mr. W. H. Couldery's residence at Elizabeth Bay early on Saturday morning.

They landed from a boat at a private jetty, and succeeded in stealing a quantity of jewellery.

Mr. Holman, who has returned from Melbourne, is very satisfied with the arrangement made with Victoria for border railways.

Mr. M'Gowen objects to statements made at the Congregational Conference regarding the reception and provision for immigrants.

The arrangements made by the Immigration Bureau, he declares, are most complete, and are appreciated by the immigrants.

The Sydney Polo Club defeated the Governor-General's team by six goals to five on the Kensington Racecourse on Saturday.

Lord Denman was one of the players, while Lady Denman and a Federal Government House party were amongst the visitors.

The Collarenebri P. and A. Society has decided to abandon its annual show, on account of the dry season.

Mr. O. H. O'Brien established a record for the newly-laid-out Manly golf links on Saturday, his score being 77.

A. D. Felton won the Parramatta Hundred by a quarter of a length from W. Ripley on Saturday afternoon.

A conference of aldermen will be held this afternoon to test the feeling respecting a Greater Sydney Council.

Operations on the third section of the North Coast railway, near Wingham, are now progressing satisfactorily.

Given fine weather and other favourable circumstances, the rails should be laid to Gloucester in 10 weeks' time.

University and Redfern have finished level for the first grade cricket premiership, and a final match will have to be played.

There was a fair attendance on the Randwick range last Saturday, most of the clubs beginning the June quarter shoots.

The lawn tennis season was ushered in on Saturday, the various grade competitions being started.

Forty American land seekers left Wellington (N.Z.) on Saturday night, bound for Victoria, in search of land.

H.M. ships Encounter and Pioneer left Wellington (New Zealand) on a similar mission.

An important conference of Federal and State Ministers took place in the Commonwealth offices yesterday afternoon.

The question discussed was whether the Commonwealth should be given sovereign rights over the area at Jervis Bay.

Mr. Fisher finally made an entirely new proposition, which the State Cabinet will consider on Tuesday.

Sir William Lyne is rapidly recovering from his long spell of illness, though he is still confined to a hospital.

A fair amount of business was done on the investment side of 'Change last Saturday, at very firm prices.

LAWN GRASS SEED.

ANDERSON'S MIXTURE.

In preparing for lawns care must be taken to have the top soil made into as fine a condition as possible, so that when you sow the grass seed everything should be favourable for a satisfactory germination. It is not a good plan to sow seed too thinly—to secure a good sward a full sowing of seed must be provided.

ANDERSON'S MIXED SEED is made up of the most desirable and suitable varieties of grasses for a proper lawn mixture, and the most favourable season to sow is

THE AUTUMN.

Music by Norman O'Neill.
A SERIAL TALK ON THE FANTASY.
By way of a simple interpretation of "The Blue Bird," which has excited so much public interest, an act will be discussed each day until the six acts have been so treated.
ACT II.—In Scene I. of this Act the personified animals and substances discuss the proposed journey in search of the Blue Bird, the Dog representing loyalty to man, and the Cat upholding the idea of revolt against man's universal domination, but at the same time hypocritically acquiescing in the expedition. The Second Scene takes the children to the Land of Memory, which they enter alone, since no external things may interfere with the child or man who communes with the dead. The misty figures that flit across the scene represent the fugitive thoughts of vanished dead friends. Gradually the vapour clears, as the thoughts are concentrated more strongly, and presently the figures of the dead reappear exactly as the children knew them in life. By an exquisite touch of fancy the poet represents the dead as coming to life objectively in themselves, just as they come to life subjectively for us when we think of them. And so the awakening of Tyltyl's and Mytyl's grand parents from their long sleep is depicted as resulting from the children's loving thoughts of them.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

PALING'S GET THE VERDICT ALWAYS.
An influential country buyer from a far Western town told us during his Easter visit that the people in the country have the very greatest faith in PALING'S.
When ordering PIANOS or other MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, he assured us that people knew that they would receive the article EXACTLY AS REPRESENTED—knew they would get a STRAIGHT-FORWARD DEAL.

WHAT THEY THINK IN GERMANY ABOUT
BEALE HIGH-GRADE PIANOS.
The London "Musical Opinion and Music Trade Review," an important trade journal published in Great Britain, says (July, 1911):—
"A Hamburg trade journalist, who has just returned from the Antipodes, states that the pianos manufactured by the Beale Company in Sydney greatly resemble in touch and tone those turned out at the best German factories. The Beale is sold at forty-five pounds and upwards, and enjoys a great reputation, not only in Australia, but in India, Java, South Sea Islands, and other colonial countries with hot climates. The 'Hamburger' fears that if these British colonials extend their piano manufacturing operations there will be little room left for Continental makers in the musical instrument line."

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

Michael Delgrado could govern his nervous system with some measure of success when words were the only weapons that threatened. He did not flinch now, but threw open the door of the nearest room on the upper floor. It chanced to be the apartment in which President Nesimir had received Alec and Stampoff on that memorable morning, barely a month ago, when the young King came to Delgratz to claim his patrimony. Neither man was aware of the coincidence which led Michael to slam the door, place his back against it, and gurgle a question:

"Are you jesting, Felix?"

"Quarter of an hour ago I was on the point of being introduced to a grim personage who would have squeezed the last joke out of me," said Poluski. "His name was Death, pale Death, who steps with even stride from the huts of the poor to the palace of the King, and he gave me such a fright that I shall be in no mood all day for any display of humour. Why, man, don't you realise that I have been under this roof fully five minutes without experiencing the slightest desire to sing?"

"But, Felix, do be in earnest for once. What is this you tell me? How can Alexis the Third marry this woman, this adventuress?"

Poluski's big grey eyes narrowed into slits, and the hump on his shoulders became more pronounced as his head dropped forward a little, but his smooth tones did not falter, and his uneasy hearer thought he found a note of friendly commiseration in them.

"A hard word, Michael, hard and unjust. Joan is no adventuress," he said. "We old birds are too ready to condemn a young and pretty woman who falls in love with a king, but, in the present instance, criticism is disarmed, since Joan was in love with Alec when he had no more worldly wealth than the endowment of your princely name, and when his chance of becoming King of Kosnovia was as remote as—what shall I say? Well, as your own."

Michael came away from the door and stood looking out at the window. It afforded a partial view of the courtyard and the fairly wide street beyond the gate.

"I know, of course, that your ideas and mine on these subjects differ very greatly," he said after a pause, and with a perceptible return to his grandiose manner, "but, as you say rightly, both of us are old enough to realise that a reigning king can marry none but a princess of some royal house. Again, the King of Kosnovia must marry a Serb. There you have two fixed principles, so to speak, each of which renders it impossible for a lady who rejoices apparently in no other name than Joan——"

"Joan Vernon," put in Felix, producing a cigar case, an exact replica of that containing the bombs, and selecting one of the long thin cigars which he favoured.

"Ah, certainly. The Princess spoke to her in Vienna, and ascertained her name then. Well, Miss Joan Vernon cannot, by the very nature of things, become Queen of Kosnovia. It is not that I disapprove of the notion, Felix; it is simply impossible."

Poluski struck a match, and began to smoke furiously. Delgrado probably expected him to say something, but he waited in vain, since Felix seemed to be far more perturbed by the suspected existence of a hole in the outer wrapping of the cigar and futile efforts to close it with the tip of a finger, than by the princely hinting at a morganatic marriage.

Perforce Prince Michael resumed the discussion.

"I am stating the facts calmly and without prejudice," he said. "I assume that you are not misleading me—that some sort of lovers' vows exist between these young people?"

He paused again. Poluski was triumphant. He had found the hole, applied the surgical method of a tourniquet by pressure, and the cigar was drawing perfectly.

"Having said so much, Felix, you might be sufficiently communicative in other respects," growled Delgrado, turning angrily from the window.

"Parbleu! I left you to do the talking, monseigneur. This devil of a cigar has been bored by a weevil, and was broken-winded till I stopped the leak. You were saying——?"

"That Alex Delgrado might have married your young friend, but King Alexis the Third cannot."

"He will," said Felix, grinning complacently.

"If he does it will cost him his throne."

"Poof! For a man of the world, Michael, you utter opinions that are singularly inept. I think you were driving just now at the accepted theory of royal alliances? If it holds good for Alex it affects you, his father. You didn't marry a princess, but happily secured a good, honest American lady, sufficiently endowed with good, honest American dollars to keep you in luxury throughout your useless life. If there is some law which says that Alec cannot make Joan a queen, the same law would prevent him from being a king. But it doesn't. King he is, and king he will remain as long as it pleases God to keep him in good health and save him from the miserable rascals who tried to assassinate him to-day—and their like. What you want, Michael, is a friend who is not afraid to warn you. Now, for the hour, kindly regard me as filling that useful capacity. After 25 years of extravagance you have managed, I suppose, to exhaust your excellent wife's fortune. You came to Delgratz this morning for the express purpose of drawing fresh supplies from the Kosnovian treasury. Well, you haven't met your son yet, but when you suggest that he should begin to impoverish his people to maintain you in idle pomp in Paris, I fancy you will find him adamant. That is not his theory of governing. If it were, he would neither marry Joan nor be alive at this moment, since heaven saw fit to entrust me with the control of both his bride and his life. One thing more I have to say, Michael, and then I have finished, unless you press me too hardly. Let us suppose Alec had fallen in to-day's attempt. Who do you think would succeed him? Michael the Fifth? Not for five minutes. You know now, and I have known all along, that the real instigator of the May outbreak was Julius Marulitch and his Greek bear-leader, Constantine Beliani. You were inspired, Michael, when you resigned your claims in favour of your son. Those two meant to put you forward as their puppet and shove you to the wall as soon as the Delgrado line was restored, and they were able to pull the strings here in safety. They never dreamed that Alec, the careless, happy-go-lucky boy, the polo-player and haunter of studios, would prove a stumbling-block in the path of royal progress. You were a mere pawn, Michael. They counted on pushing you out of the way as easily as if you were a baby in a perambulator. What was true a month ago is more true now. Go down on your knees and thank heaven that it saw fit to preserve your son's life this afternoon, for his life alone stands between you and the abyss. Now I have spoken, and—name of a good little grey man!—you don't seem to like the hearing. But do not forget what I have said, Michael. I have poured forth a stream of golden words. It will be well for you if you are never called on to apply other test to their value than your own judgment, for as sure as the day dawns that you dream of reigning in Delgratz, so surely will you dig your own grave with a shovel lent by the devil!"

Poluski ceased, and apparently expected no answer. He, too, went to a window and gazed out at the sunlit vista of gravelled courtyard and yellow buildings.

Already there were long patches of shade, for the day was closing. A foot regiment marched past the palace gates, and Prince Michael might have remembered that in Delgratz a sentry with a loaded rifle guards each street after sunset. But his bloated face was curiously haggard, and his prominent eyes looked at the soldiers with the unconscious aspect of a man whose castle in Spain has suddenly proved itself the most deceptive of mirages. Perhaps, for a brief space, he saw himself as Felix saw him, and a species of horror may have fallen on him at the mere conceit that another man was able to peep into his heart and surprise there the foul notion that had seized him when John Sobieski brought the tidings of his son's desperate plight.

Be that as it may, Prince Michael Delgrado offered no reply to the decrepit, poverty-stricken artist who had dared to unmask him in such exceedingly plain terms. Not a word passed between them during many minutes. The shuffling tramp and dust of the regiment died away, and the thoroughfare beyond the gates had resumed its normal condition when a new element of life was given to the courtyard by a loud order and the hurried assembly of the guard.

"Good," said Felix contentedly. "Here comes the king! Your excellency will now receive confirmation of some of my statements. As for the rest, if I am proved right in some respects, it will be a first-rate idea to accept the remainder without proof."

Delgrado shot a baleful glance at the hunchback, but ignored his comment.

"If it is not indiscreet of a parent to betray some interest in a son's prospective happiness, may I venture again to inquire who Miss Joan Vernon is?"

"I think I answered you."

"In general terms; feminine divinity and charm should be the characteristics of all brides, but these delectable beings do not enter the world fully formed, like Venus newly risen from the Sea of Cyprus."

"Oh, to me it suffices that she exists, and is Joan. I have known her a whole year, during her student life in Paris, in fact. Your simile was well chosen, monseigneur. Venus came with the spring, and so came Joan."

"And before Paris?"

"The West of England, I believe. Her mother died when Joan was a child; her father was a soldier, and fell for his country."

"An artist, you say?"

"Artistic would be the better description. She is too rich ever to paint well."

"Rich!"

"As artists go. She has an income of two hundred pounds a year."

"Ah, bah!"

"Don't be so contemptuous of five thousand francs. They go a long way—with care. I believe that my dear Joan spends all her money on dress, and keeps soup in the pot by copying pictures. But she will make a lovely queen. Yes, indeed! I must paint her in purple and ermine."

Yielding to the spell of the vision thus conjured up, Felix forgot his racked nerves and sang lustily a stanza from "Masaniello." Prince Michael flung out of the room to meet his son, but the strains about the beautiful Marguerite followed him down the stairs.

Yet Poluski was thinking while he sang, and the burden of his thoughts was that this anxious father had asked him no word as to the scene in that bullet-swept room, nor the means whereby Alec and his friends were snatched from death.

Very different was the meeting between Joan and the Princess Delgrado. The panic-stricken mother, scarce crediting the assurance given her by the President's family that there were no grounds for the disquieting rumours which arose from Sobieski's appeal for help, was in an agony of dread when the first undoubted version of the true occurrence was brought by Stampoff's courier.

The arrival of Joan, of one who had actually been in her son's company until the danger was passed, though helping to dispel her terror, aroused a consuming desire to learn exactly what had happened. Joan, of course, could only describe the siege and their state of suspense until the soldiers cleared the street of the would-be assassins. As to the motive of the outrage, or the manner in which it reached its sudden crisis, she had no more knowledge than the Princess, and a quite natural question occurred to the older woman when Joan told how Felix Poluski had startled the king and herself by his warning cry.

"My son had gone to visit you, then?" she said, not without a shadow of resentment at the fact that he had discovered this girl's whereabouts readily enough, though seemingly there was none to tell him that his father and mother were in the city and longing to see him.

Joan flushed at the words, but her answer carried conviction.

"I do not yet understand just how or when Felix discovered that the king's life was threatened," she said, "but there can be no doubt that it was a ruse on his part to distract the attention of the mob when he told his majesty that I was in the hotel. I—I chanced to be looking out—and I was very angry with Felix when I saw that he had stopped the king, and was evidently informing him of my presence."

"Then my son did not know you were in Delgratz?"

"He had no notion I was any nearer than Paris."

"What an amazing chapter of accidents that you should be in Delgratz to-day, and, under Providence, become the means of saving Alec's life, for it is quite clear to me now that had he gone a few yards further he would have been shot down without mercy."

Joan coloured even more deeply. Her pride demanded that she should no longer sail under a false flag, yet it was a seeming breach of maidenly reserve that she should announce her own betrothal. It would have come easier if she could claim more consideration from this kind-faced, pleasant-voiced woman than was warranted by the casual acquaintance of a railway journey. But Alec had sent her to his mother, and Joan's nature would not permit her to carry on the deception, though it might be capable of the most plausible explanation afterwards.

"I feel I ought to tell you," she said, and the blood suddenly ebbed away from her face to her throbbing heart. "Alec and I were friends in Paris. We were fond of each other, but gave not much heed to it, since I was poor, and he told me he had his way to make in the world. He wrote to me a few days ago asking me to marry him. I did not know what to say, when chance threw in my way a commission to copy a picture in this very city. Put in such words, it all sounds very mad and unconvincing, but it is true, and it is equally true that I would never have acknowledged to-day that I returned his love if—if I did not think—for a few awful minutes—that we would both be killed. And—and—I wanted to die in his arms."

Joan began to cry, and the Princess Delgrado cried, too, and it was in tears that King Alexis the Third found them when he had returned Prince Michael's stately greeting, and was told that the young English lady who had come from the shattered hotel was in his mother's room.

MISS ANNETTE SCAMMELL'S MATINEE.

Miss Annette Scammell gave the second of her enjoyably classic matinees at Paling's Concert Hall on Saturday afternoon. The new pianist from Stuttgart and Berlin introduced a Brahms "Sonata" (Op. 5), formidable in its dimensions and in the elevation of its style, with the result that a number of professional musicians assembled to hear it. The Allegro Maestoso, with the recurring figure in the bass that makes such strangely rhythmical entrances, was congenial to this artist's special gifts in the suggestion of a vague grandeur of idea; the soloist infused many subtle shades of melancholy into the lulling melodic theme of the soft Andante, one long phrase of which is influenced by the Sonata Pathetique; her technique enabled her to develop the sparkling phrases for right hand of the Scherzo from lightest brevity to intensity of effect; the beautiful Intermezzo was expressively played, and significance was given to the great chords of the finale. Miss Scammell, whose intellectual style is backed by a fine technique, must be recognised as a sound exponent of the German classics. The soloist was successfully associated with Miss Margaret Edson (second piano) in the Schumann "Andante and Variations" (Op. 46). The classic reserve of both artists was a trifle too emphasised in the first few variations, but after that they proved "in the vein," and hearty applause rewarded their efforts. Pieces of Chopin and Liszt were rendered during the afternoon.

"SINBAD THE SAILOR."

On Saturday night Her Majesty's Theatre might have been likened to a glorious casket stored with glittering gems. The whole scheme of the new extravaganza is, indeed, essentially spectacular. Many people would prefer the Drury-lane "genius," J. Hickory Wood, to give them more of the old fairy tale of "Sinbad" than the mere flavour of a suggestion now before them. Moreover, in spite of several detached incidents that provoke laughter, the thought arises in the mind of old playgoers that splendour sometimes goes a great way towards obliterating fun in pantomime. The original dialogue, which might carry on a definite fable with interest, and invest the fairy personages with "character," is lost in a string of verbiage which connects one specialty with another. However, in the result visitors to "Sinbad" will carry away with them confused recollections of beautiful ballets, dazzling marches, a mysterious illusion by the Sleedes, the like of which has not hitherto swum within the ken of Australian playgoers, and a marvellous termination to the first act. This was amidst the gloomily portentous crags and cliffs of the Diamond Valley (Leslie Board), where Frogs, Trolls, and other evil shapes had danced in impish glee, a huge Roc egg had been shattered by the human adventurers of the story, and a young one, seven feet high, presenting a bill as long as a panto. salary list, had fled to the wings amidst screams of laughter. Hinbad (Miss Imeson), drawing his little sword, had fought a monstrous serpent to a standstill, and from his tiredly yawning jaws issued girls innumerable—a cataract of shapely limbs, rustling silks, and gorgeous colours, forming and re-forming in kaleidoscopic groupings. The J. C. Williamson chorus and ballet this year is attractive, and everywhere the smiling face of youth gives glamour to the scene. Much art is shown in bringing multifarious effects of light and colour to a climax. And when that climax is reached in a scintillating waterfall of diamonds and rubies, flowers above that blossom in light, and bulbs of flashing glass on every side, it may be said that never before has such an intensity of radiance flooded the mimic scene. The applause was tremendous. It was thought that there at last was achieved a measurable approximation of light "like to the glorious sun's transparent ray."

Besides the clever scenic work of Geo. Upward, Leslie Board, and W. Coleman, jun., there are some cloths by W. Coleman, sen., just let down in a hurry for a comic song, as it were, that are exquisite masterpieces of theatrical painting. The full stage shows the port of Balsora, an Oriental street scene, with mosques and minarets rising towards the azure sky, sunshine everywhere, crowds on the stage, and the rich brown tones of deep shadows to refresh the eye. Mr. Fred. Winn, who depicts the Emperor of Sahara as a genial rogue, at home with the humblest of his subjects, is brought on upon a practicable "property" camel, who subsequently causes merriment when Mr. and Mrs. Sinbad drive him out in their chaise. The Emperor, Sinbad, and the poor porter, Hinbad, are all searching for the document revealing the road to the Diamond Valley. Mrs. Sinbad (once Mrs. Tippets, of Bloomsbury!) careers into public notice in the long and lanky person of Mr. "Pip" Powell, in a state of high indignation at being called "Queen of the Earth" by some naughty boys; and also in a rage at Sinbad's long voyages, which have absolutely turned her from a grasswidow into hay! Mr. Powell, whose dame rejoices in darkly arched eyebrows, and an aspect of adamantine virtue, played the part with a fine fund of energetic humour, and his feminine dancing was strictly in character. The Dame, who claimed to have mixed with Royalty in her girlhood, when she was stung by a Queen Bee, made a hit in the dashing song "Up She Goes," and was highly amusing in the scene where the good lady undresses in a storm, hurling every successive piece of clothing through the porthole window. These antics convulsed the audience, as did also the Dame's appearance on board disguised as an A.B. "You Can't Judge a Woman by Her Clothes" had some broad lines in it, however, and resembled the curate's fresh egg in being "excellent in places," but otherwise a bit stale. However, it all went down, and there was even a double encore. Charles Howard, a newcomer, as soon as the part of Sinbad gave him scope, proved a smart light comedian, and in "Don't Sing the Chorus" he took on the beginners for the season's singing-class in the gallery with an energy and success which ran close to that of Mr. Jack Cannot last year in "One, Two, Three." Two clever vaudeville artists, Drew and Alders, mightily cheered up the gallery as Bill and Tom, British sailors, of whom the former, when bidden to smile at his partner's jokes, electrified the house with a dismally toothless grin! In their duet, "The Jim Jam Sailors," the pair, in spite of their grotesque appearance, showed genuine grace of a comic order in their dance by moonlight; later, in the slave market, they were brightly original in their burlesque act taken from a book entitled "How to Learn Conjuring and Tricks with Coins, by Andrew Fisher!"

The second act opens amidst classic temples and leafy groves with the "March of the Silver Guard," in which the jaunty Sir Galahads flaunt snow-white cloaks flying from glittering coats of mail surmounted by white plumed helmets; and warmly encored was the Eastern ballet to the valse music of "In the Shadows" daintily played under Mr. Albert Vernon's directing baton with a prominent parts for harp and a fascinating passage for the magic-sounding celeste to the topmost height of a long-ascending scale. Miss Florence Imeson a shapely little figure in cigar-brown as Hinbad was not suited by the low music of her opening song, in which she sometimes missed the centre of the note but sang cleverly in character as a youthful swell returning home with uncertain steps "Follow the Car Tracks." A tram, complete with driver, conductor and passengers which crossed the stage in profile was heartily welcomed as a touch of everyday juggernaut realism. Miss Nell Finnis, a decidedly attractive principal girl, as Ruby, who went on board in the cap and gold buttons of a saucy little midshipman with Mrs. Sinbad disguised as the Ruins of Pompeii, was at her best in the pretty song "The Last Waltz" and assisted Miss Imeson in the romance of the story. Mr. William A. Hassan, coming on much too late, warmed every heart by his canine fun as Dirk the Dog Detective, his forehead positively wrinkled with wisdom and sagacity, his drooping ears burthened with police-track lore, and his tail bristling with activity and good intentions. All the children loved Dirk. Miss Celia Ghiloni's substantial dignity in tangerine-tinted chiffons blazing with emeralds, befitted the oriental Princess Fatima (She Who Will Be Obeyed) to the life, and the actress was wonderfully light on her feet—but why no song? Miss Marie Eaton's brightly penetrative vibrations of tone in the top register made "My World is the World of Love" effective as the Fairy Spirit of Adventure. The traditional spirit of evil took the form of the Old Man of the Sea, cleverly played on the lines of H. B. Irving's "Mr. Hyde," exaggerated to the verge of burlesque, but still, with the long grey beard, the wizened face, dwarfish form, and demoniacal claws, creepily acceptable as a dramatic element in extravaganza. Miss Mary Morris Smith, amongst the minor characters, made an alluring, but fugitive, appearance as an 18th Century beau.

The Sleedes in their farcical illusion will be the most-talked-of figures in the show. Their "mysterious hotel" is formed by a miniature scene with a black cloth at the back and from the thus-created darkness hands protrude, a waiter starts into being, soda-water spurts from all his five fingers, wine bottles fly to the guests, a clock momentarily hangs up and strikes the hour, and a solid door is seen which vanishes whilst the visitors are trying to open it! A sleeper on his bed is beset by skulls and magic lights, besieged by a pig which sits beside him, and tormented by mice, which a cat devours. The three artists who thus achieved the wierdly farcical were recalled amidst a roar of applause. The lovely Rose Ballet, with Cora Hamilton as fascinating premiere danseuse, closed with G. Kirby's flying ballet, in which dancers were swung on wires from the stage within a yard of the dress-circle and back again in safety; and the evening closed with a dazzling Christmas ensemble entitled Lollilop Land. At this point Miss Minnie Everett (ballet-mistress) and Mr. Maurice Dudley (stage-director) were deservedly called forward. Mr. Andrew MacCunn, now in England, composed the dainty ballet music. The task of production was the final work of the late E. T. Steyne, who came from England last December for that purpose under engagement to the J. C. Williamson management.

BLASCHECK-WRIGHTON SEASON.

The entertainments that are being given nightly at the Y.M.C.A. Hall by Mr. Joseph Blascheck and Miss Mildred Wrighton have been exceedingly well patronised, and on Saturday night, when a change of programme was given, there was again not a vacant seat. Mr. Blascheck kept the audience in a simmer of laughter with the comics, "Wot Vur Do 'ee Luv Oi" (dialect), "O Memory," "Just Before Seven O'clock," "My Inquisitive Kiddy," and "Not Such a Fool." His serious pieces were "Mark Antony's Oration," "An Old Bachelor," "The Uncle," and "His First Long Trousers." Miss Wrighton's contributions, nearly every one of which was encored, included "If You Only Knew," "Petie Boy," "Dingle Dongle Dell," and "Coon Lullaby." The most successful of their humorous duets were "Before and After," "The Land for You and Me," "Singers and Talkers," "A Hint," and "The House that Jack Built." This is the last week of the season.

AMUSEMENTS.

CRITERION THEATRE.

Crowded houses marked the continued flight of "The Blue Bird" at the Criterion Theatre on Saturday, when the fable of Tyltyl and Mytyl, the children with the magic diamond releasing the soul of animals, trees, and things, showed successive audiences beautiful and mysterious scenes in a new wonderland. There will be another matinee on Wednesday.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"The House of Temperley," with its picturesque revival of the old Regency days of Waterloo, and its stirring boxing matches with their groups of aristocratic backers, innkeepers, and betting men, will be performed for the last time on Wednesday night. The house will then be closed until the elaborate revival on Saturday next of "Ben Hur." The advance plan for the religio-romantic drama will open at Paling's to-morrow.

PALACE THEATRE.

"Bonnie Mary" drew a crowded audience at the Palace Theatre on Saturday night, when the attempt of the villain to compromise the innocent heroine, and the timely arrival of the foolish dude (Mr. Bert Bailey) with his unerring little gun, caused great excitement. On Saturday next, for the last twelve nights of the season, Mr. Bailey will produce a drama founded on Steele Rudd's "On Our Selection" for the first time in Australia. The plan for the new piece will open at Paling's to-morrow.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

At the Adelphi Theatre another great house on Saturday night greeted with enthusiasm the spectacular situations of "The Sins of Society." The Longchamps racecourse, the escape on the weir on the upper reaches of the Thames, and the sinking of the troopship were especially applauded. Mr. George Willoughby is now rehearsing the George Marlow Company in "The King's Romance," which will be staged for the first time on Saturday, May 11.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

"House full" cards were displayed at both Tivoli performances on Saturday. There were two new turns, but Rinaldo, the wandering musician, got more applause than any other artist. It has often been asserted that the violin cannot be thoroughly mastered, but Rinaldo has gone very close to it. Burnett, character musician, had an excellent reception. He is not only a talented musician, but can change from one costume to another in remarkably quick time. The Sisters Caselli, who made their first appearance, are expert song and dance artists. They soon established themselves in popular favour. The Keeley Brothers, champion ball-punchers of the world, Hyman and Franklin, Hebrew character impersonators, Tiny Arnold, the "miniature Marie Lloyd," Reg. Wentworth, light comedian, the Dartos, and Tom Dawson figured prominently in a first-class programme.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

Laurance Barclay, an English comedian, is sure to become popular at the National Amphitheatre. He had an excellent reception on Saturday. After hearing three of his songs the audience insisted on another. Mr. Barclay may safely be placed among the front rank of vaudeville artists. La Venre Australienne was seen in a series of plastic poses portraying ancient and modern statuary. Val Vousden, Irish comedian, made his first appearance, and delighted Amphitheatre patrons with his funny songs and jokes. Other artists who figured in a programme of all-round excellence were Percy Clifton, Jordane Quartette, Hanley, Marguerite, and Hanley (thrilling athletic entertainment), Jack Straw, Mamie Ellis, Albert and Hilliar, Ada Sadler, J. M. West, and Lottie Watson.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

The star film at the Lyceum Theatre on Saturday was "Shamus O'Brien," one of the pioneers of Home Rule. The production is Irish through and through. It was adapted from a classic Irish poem by an Irishman. The leading performers are Irish, and the producer is also an Irishman. To-day "Zigomar v Nick Carter" will be screened. This is a thrilling story of crime and detection. In addition to these films, a number of humorous, dramatic, and scenic subjects will be shown during the week. There were large attendances at both exhibitions on Saturday.

OLYMPIA AND GLACIARIUM.

The "Sarah Bernhardt" film is the principal attraction at the West's Olympia and Glaciarium, Saturday. drew crowded houses at both exhibitions on Saturday. Madam Bernhardt may be seen as "Camille" for another week. To-day "Zigomar v Nick Carter" will be screened. This is a detective story of sensational possibilities. There is also the usual programme of humorous, scenic, and dramatic items. The Glaciarium season will end on Saturday next, and the Princess Theatre will be reopened on Monday.

LYRIC AND COLONIAL THEATRES.

J. D. Williams' theatres were crowded on Saturday. At the Lyric to-day "Zigomar versus Nick Carter" will be screened. This is a detective story of the most vivid type, in which the craft and energy of the master criminal are matched only by those of Detective Broquet. The episodes are realistic and thrilling.

"The Meeting of the Ways" is the star item at Colonial No. 1. Two brothers in different paths of life meet in after-years, and prove their love for each other.

In "Far From Erin's Isle" the beautiful scenes of the various parts of Ireland are vividly illustrated.

At the Colonial No. 2, in addition to these items, the regular programme is shown at each theatre.

GRAND THEATRE.

Waddington's Grand pictures were shown to crowded houses on Saturday. The films were of the humorous, dramatic, and scenic type, including "Madam Roland," "Lily's Lovers," "An Interrupted Wedding," "One on the Masher," and "Getting His Man."

WIRTH'S CIRCUS.

The remarkably trained animals "of all nations" now performing in the Haymarket, together with the aerial acrobats, the athletic and beautiful Adelia Sisters, the seven-horse picture act, the comedy trampoline experts, the General Roberts' equestrienne turn, the Russian dances, the hurricane hurdle act, the high-jumping horses, Signorita Dolinda's aerial trapeze performance, and the marvellous mid-air leaps and dive of the Flying Jordans, continue to provide a unique entertainment in Sydney. A feature of Saturday night's performance was the savage obstinacy of King Lion, whom it was found necessary for the trainer to cage at a time when the audience was thrilled with exciting suspense.

A big change of programme will take place next Saturday night, when, in addition to the ordinary circus programme and menagerie, the Wirth Brothers will introduce a "Wild Australia" exhibition, consisting of a great number of "outlaw" horses, bucking mules, ponies, donkeys, bullocks, and American buffaloes. There is a standing offer of £50 to anyone who, with an assistant, can bridle, saddle, and then ride for two minutes the renowned outlaw Lightning.

A team of Australian rough-riders have been engaged. £5 will be given to anyone who brings a horse to the arena that they are unable to ride. "Fun in a Stockyard" will find a place in the programme. Buckjumping competitions of all kinds will take place every evening, for which prizes will be awarded.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

There was a very large attendance at the Princess Theatre on Saturday night, when a first-class programme was presented by J. C. Bain's vaudeville entertainers. The principal items on the programme were contributed by the Attillas (athletes showing feats of strength and picturesque posing) and Mdlle. Milly Dagmar (in a charming act of performing pony and dogs). Other artists who appeared with success were Tom Ritson (comedian), Olive Robinson (a versatile lady), the Three Starrs (three ladies in song and dance), Skinner and Ritson (comedy patter merchants), George Sorlie (comedian and endman), Little Willie (midget comedian), Ruby Tointon (serious and toe dancer), Frank Herbert (descriptive vocalist), May Smythe (serio), and Harry Bocks (tanglefoot comedian). The season will be closed at the Princess next Saturday, 4th, and on Friday the Australian Federated Vaudeville Association will give a complimentary performance at each of Mr. Bain's three theatres to Mr. Bain in return for his work in getting all the Australian artists employment.

THE DANDIES.

On Saturday night, at the North Sydney School of Arts, Mr. Edward Branscombe's new costume comedy company gave its first performance to a good house. The company, which has been playing in Melbourne, has been strengthened by the inclusion of Mr. Ford Waltham (basso), and the Misses Lily and Rita Fitzgerald, of the Scarlet Troubadours. The company consists of three ladies and six gentlemen, all being artists of merit. Saturday's performance was such as to suggest renewed popularity, as the audience was appreciative, with the result that many encores were given. The members of the company were:—Miss Rita Fitzgerald (soubrette), Miss Lily Fitzgerald (soprano), Miss Everil Haggie (comedienne), Messrs. Ford Waltham (bass), Robert Agnew (tenor), Frank Peachey (baritone), George Edwards (light comedian), and Athol Tier (dancer). Mr. Sydney Mannering was stage manager, and the accompanist was Mr. F. C. Hardman.

POPLES' PUPILS' CONCERT.

At St. James's Hall on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. W. E. Pople conducted a concert of the pupils of their school at Redfern. Varied examples of juvenile talent and advance attainment were given. Assisting in the entertainment of an appreciative audience were Miss Ada Baker, Miss Trixie Hall, Mrs. Evan Lewis, Master Francis Pople, Mr. A. A. Walker, Mr. Edward Pople, Miss Laurel Briggs, and Mr. J. W. E. Pople in songs, recitations, and violin, harp, 'cello, and piano executions.

"CARMEN" AT THE TOWN HALL.

The second recital in the "grand opera" series was given by the city organist, Mr. Ernest Truman, on Saturday night. Georges Bizet's "Carmen," without the dramatic colour, provided students with much scope for thought, and music-lovers with a couple of hours' expressive harmony, recalling the poignant tragedy of the fascinating cigarette girl and her jealous lover, Don José. Mr. Truman, however, devoted so much time to the initiatory music of the opera that he was obliged later to "cut" some of the later passages. "Lohengrin," "Tanhauser," "Walkure," "La Boheme," "Madame Butterfly," and "Samson and Delilah" are announced for the winter organ recitals.

SUNDAY CONCERTS.

For the coming winter season Captain Bentley, bandmaster of the New South Wales State Military Band, has arranged with George Marlow, Ltd., to conduct a series of weekly sacred concerts in the Adelphi Theatre, commencing from next Sunday evening. Captain Bentley is personally supervising the concert.

ADA WARD AT THE TOWN HALL.

In making her re-appearance on the stage at the Town Hall on Saturday night, May 4, Miss Ada Ward will have the assistance of the city organist, Mr. Ernest Truman, who will render "Poet and Peasant" as an overture and Rubinstein's "Melody in F" and the "Romance" and "Gavotte" from "Mignon." During the scenes from "East Lynne" and "Leah, the Forsaken" Mr. Truman will play as accompanying music "When other hearts," "Angels ever bright and fair," Handel's "Largo," and other favourite selections.

BLUEJACKETS ENTERTAINED.

The members of David Jones, Limited, Musical and Dramatic Society, numbering about 70, gave a concert to the officers and men of the fleet at Garden Island on Friday evening. The band from H.M.S. Drake assisted. The choral numbers included "Blow Ye Gentle Breezes," "Love and Glory," "The Spring's Free Sunshine," "Happy Eyes," and "The Bridal Chorus." Solos were given by Miss V. Abbott, Miss E. Taylor, and Mr. G. Johnson. Mr. A. Conybere and Mr. E. L. Goodwin gave elocutionary items. The evening's entertainment finished with the sketch "Ici on Parle Francais." Those taking part included Messrs. E. Hanrahan, O. D. James, and E. L. Goodwin, Misses D. M'Phail, D. Harrison, H. Bennison, and Rita Owen. There were about 500 officers and men present.

IT IS SIMPLE WISDOM

We find in the axiom that prevention is better than cure; yet how many give it practical attention. This negligence of so clear a truth is as common as it is amazing. For want of a dose of Beecham's Pills serious illness may overtake you. What is to-day merely a symptom, suffered as temporary—a cause of irritation—an unpleasantness—a low-spirited condition—may, if neglected, result in complications requiring much attention, time, and money to set right. COMPETITION CONCLUDED.

UNIVERSITY AND REDFERN LEVEL.

FINAL MATCH TO BE PLAYED.

REDFERN PERFORMED BRILLIANTLY AGAINST NORTH SYDNEY.

The possibilities and probabilities of the first-grade competition have caused no end of discussion and interest during the past fortnight. At the outset, North Sydney, who were leading in the competition, were the favourites, but at the end of the first day's play, during which Redfern, who were two points behind the shoremen, outclassed them, and had gained a lead on the first innings the position was appreciably altered. University, who were occupying second place, were in a very strong position in their match against Central Cumberland, and it was thought that they would win the premiership. The anticipation was not realised, though it may only have been deferred, for the side has still a chance of gaining the honour.

North Sydney only hope—a very remote one—was to win outright against Redfern, who also decided to try for the major points by declaring their innings without resuming. The shoremen forced the run-getting from the start, and did so well that two wickets were down for 80, but the remaining eight collapsed for 33 runs, and Redfern won outright by eight wickets, a result not generally anticipated.

University also tried for a three-points' victory against Central Cumberland, who, however, had nothing to strive for, except against such an occurrence, and their batsmen did not take any risks. Result, a two-points' win only for University. Had the latter held the chances given, and had the fieldsmen been placed closer in on the on-side to Stack's bowling, a three-points' victory might have been achieved. However, 'Varsity performed well.

As Redfern and University have finished level in competition points, a final match will be necessary to decide the destination of the pennant. Last year's winners, Gordon, finished second last this year—an extraordinary reversal of form. University have only been defeated once this season, and Redfern twice; but the latter have gained two more outright victories than the scholars.

The final match should provide a splendid struggle, and the 'googlie,' as manipulated by Messrs. Mailey and Stack, should play an important part in its decision. The competition rules state that each side "must complete at least one innings in the final match." The rules also state that grade matches must start "not later than 2.15." This being so, would it not be wise to commence the final match at 2 o'clock, so as to have as much good light as possible? The rule does not say when play is to actually commence.

Following are the results of Saturday's matches:—

Redfern, three for 187 (declared) and two for 47, defeated North Sydney, 120 and 113, by eight wickets.

University, seven for 248 (declared), defeated Central Cumberland, 146 and seven for 129, by 102 runs on the first innings.

Petersham, six for 407 (declared), defeated Sydney, 73, and two for 101, by 334 runs on the first innings.

Middle Harbour, six for 326, defeated Burwood, 204, by 122 runs on the first innings.

Balmain, 173 and three for 38, defeated Waverley, 87, by 86 runs on the first innings.

Glebe, 242, drew with Paddington, eight for 230.

There was another large attendance—about 6000—at Redfern Oval, to witness the final stages of the North Sydney-Redfern match. They were not kept long in suspense, as the game was finished by 4 o'clock, Redfern, who declared without resuming with three wickets down for 187, winning easily. Play was not normal in character. If North Sydney won outright they would have been premiers, and though their position was almost hopeless they decided to make the effort, but failed badly. Several of the batsmen presented their wickets to the bowlers, Hayes stumping four of them off the slows. S. Hill's 46 was a brilliant effort, which included five fours and two sixes. Middleton, with 24, was the only other batsman to reach 20. Redfern's bowling was too accurate to be hit, hence the downfall of North Sydney. Mailey again bowled finely, taking six for 67, for twelve for 137 in the match. On Saturday he turned the ball appreciably either way. His bosie ball was well disguised. Goddard, although slow, does not bowl the bosie; yet he performed very ably, his record being four for 20. Redfern again fielded brilliantly, and Hayes' wicketkeeping was up to international standard. No finer performance than Redfern's has been accomplished in the competition.

At the end of the first day's play in the University-Central Cumberland match at headquarters, the former, with seven wickets in hand, required only 46 runs to gain a lead on the first innings. This they easily accomplished, but their chief object was to gain an outright victory, and thus practically make certain of the premiership. In this they failed, for the Central Cumberland batsmen played keenly, and, with the exception of W. J. Stack's, did not experience much difficulty in negotiating the bowling. For University N. M. Gregg and Fisher (who scored fast, and were dismissed by Ritchie with successive balls), Tozer, and Lane batted well; and Cumberland's chief run-getters were E. L. Waddy and Humphries. One of the features of the afternoon's cricket was the bowling of Stack, who took five wickets for 44. He bowled the bosie very cleverly. Though M'Elhone and Single made excellent catches, University's fielding was not up to their usual standard, and was badly placed for Stack's bowling. Stumps were drawn, on appeal, at 5.21½ p.m.

At Waverley Oval Balmain's modest total of 173 proved too great for Waverley, who, batting one man short, were routed for 87. It was a good wicket, too. Folkard finished the season by accomplishing a brilliant performance with the ball—six for 42. He has taken more wickets than any other bowler in the competition. None of the Waverley batsmen reached double figures. Apart from Kemmis' 93 on the first day and Folkard's bowling play was not of a high standard.

Petersham, who declared without resuming on Saturday with six wickets down for 407, routed the Sydney batsmen in their first innings for 73—a splendid achievement. However, Sydney performed better when they followed on, losing two wickets for 101. H. L. Collins, who scored 41 not out in the second innings, played a bumping ball from Scott on to his face, and had to retire temporarily. The young Sydney batsman has had a highly successful season. Scott four for 22 and Rough three for 23 carried off Petersham's bowling honours. Scott has proved the champion all-rounder of the side. His record is:—Highest aggregate and batting average, greatest number of wickets, and best bowling average; and he is one of the quartet who have made the greatest number of catches. He is a most promising young cricketer.

Middle Harbour batsmen found the Burwood bowling easy at St. Luke's Park, and they made light of the task set them by the local team—204 runs. At drawing of stumps the villagers had lost six wickets for 326, three batsmen notching over 50. Lowe's 87 was a versatile but not faultless effort that included nine fours. D. A. Gee, as usual, used the "long handle" with effect, executing many powerful drives. Kortlang, who made 63, as usual proved a stumbling block to the bowlers, who, however, "bombarded" him, and gave him a few accidental knocks. Burwood fielded well, but Harvey and Diamond were the only bowlers to secure more than one wicket. Owen's bosies were quite ineffectual.

Glebe, with two players absent, finished its innings for 242 at Hampden Park. Freeman played brightly for 48, whilst Christie stonewalled. Paddington lost their first wicket at 7, but L. A. Cody (78) and Bosward (55), and Dr. J. Hughes (42) put the side in a good position. Subsequently wickets fell rapidly, and, as victory to either side was possible, no appeal was made about the light, which was very bad. However, with eight down for 230, stumps were drawn at 5.40 p.m., as continuance would have been farcical. Christie and Cullen divided the wickets for Glebe.

ROWING.

PROFESSIONAL SCULLERS' CARNIVAL.

There was a fairly good attendance at the scullers' carnival, rowed on Saturday over courses on the Parramatta River. Two large ferry steamers followed the racing, and there were quite a number of boats and launches near the finishing point, while a number of persons were at Gladesville. A. D. Felton rowed a fine race in the handicap, and won by 1ft or 2ft from W. Ripley, who beat S. Kemp by about 10ft. Miss Fern Kemp won the ladies' championship rather easily, Miss Larsen failing towards the finish. The water was smooth, but there were a heavy tide and head wind to contend with, which naturally favoured the back-mark men. Mr. John Spencer was referee, Mr. J. J. M'Gregor and Mr. J. W. Scott starters, Mr. N. J. M'Donald judge, and Mr. J. Blackman timekeeper. The racing was as follows:—

SCULLING HANDICAP, in best boats. Course: From near Uhr's Point to Gladesville. Prizes: £25, £10, £10.

Alfred D. Felton, 13st, 5s	1
Sydney Kemp, 11st 6lb, 10s	3

Other starters: F. Starr, 9s; P. Kemp, 10s; T. H. Kemp, 36s; E. Towns, 40s; N. Hawkless, 35s; C. Matterson, 50s. The start was entirely satisfactory, and throughout the men rowed desperately hard. Matterson soon left Hawkless, and held his own for some distance, but failed after covering about a mile. Felton soon caught S. Kemp, but his brother Tom retained a nice lead, and appeared to have the race well in hand until about a quarter-mile from home, when he was done, after being challenged by Ripley, who rowed with great dash all the way. Starr and Towns did not shape too well, the former cracking up badly. Half a mile from home Tom Kemp held a lead of about four lengths, with Felton next, followed by S. Kemp and Ripley, who were making a great race for it, and after Tom Kemp stopped they went for all they knew to again catch Felton. It was a most exciting finish, and Felton just managed to win in the last couple of strokes. All three placed men were rowed right out, and it appeared as if Felton could not have held out for another couple of hundred yards. Ripley greatly impressed the onlookers by his sprinting powers, and S. Kemp was seen at his best. The winner's time was 15m 17½s, which was very good for the day.

LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, in best boats. Course: From Blaxland's Point to Gladesville, about 1½ mile. Prize: £25.

Miss Fern Kemp, of Abbotsford	1
Miss Alma Larsen, of Woodburn	2

Miss Larsen did not start well, but she soon improved, and obtained a lead of over a length a quarter-mile. She then got off her course, and the result was that nearing Putney she interfered with Miss Kemp, who claimed a foul. Both stopped for a few seconds, then Miss Kemp rowed away two or three lengths, and, although her rival rowed gamely, she was not able to get nearer than four lengths away at the finish. Miss Kemp rowed strongly, but hardly so neatly as Miss Larsen, who is a much smaller woman. The time was 12m 31s. The rowing of the handicap was very successful, and in the heats and the final the finishes were most interesting.

It is understood the prize money will be paid over at Bateman's Hotel on Tuesday evening.

QUEENSLAND CHAMPION EIGHTS.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

The race for the champion eights of Queensland was decided on the Brisbane River on Saturday afternoon. Three crews competed—Brisbane Rowing Club, Commercial, and Toowong. After a good race Commercial won by three lengths, Toowong being about six or seven lengths in front of Brisbane.

THE OLYMPIC CREW.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the reserve eight-oar boat will be shipped to London by the Gothic, which will leave Sydney this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Messrs. M. A. H. Fitzhardinge and A. E. Nash have made arrangements to have the boat, which will take up considerable space on the saloon deck, carefully looked after on the voyage.

COLLEGIATE SCHOOLS' REGATTA.

PERTH (W.A.), Sunday.

The Collegiate Schools' regatta was held on the Swan River yesterday. The Christian Brothers won the four-oar championship easily from Church of England Grammar School, Scotch College, and High School College. The eight-oar was also won by the Christian Brothers.

ANGLING.

CLOSURE OF NARRABEEN LAKE.

In view of the expiry of the closure of Narrabeen Lake against net fishing on the 26th instant, the Chief Secretary has had under consideration the question of closing the lake for a further period in order to conserve its fish supply, and also to safeguard the interests of line fishermen; and several proclamations have been issued having the following effect:—

The tributaries of the lake (Deep, Middle, and South Creeks) have been closed against the use of every class of fishing net for five years from the 29th instant, and the lake itself has been closed against the use of fishing nets of every description from the 27th June to the 31st December, 1912, and during the months of January, February, March, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December of each of the years 1913, 1914, 1915, and 1916, and the months of January, February, and March of the year 1917.

From the 27th instant to the 26th June next, and during the months of April and May of each of the years 1913, 1914, 1915, and 1916, the use of meshing nets and dip or scoop nets of the following dimensions has been made lawful:—viz., meshing nets not longer than one hundred fathoms, of which not more than 30 fathoms shall have a mesh of not less than three inches, and the remainder a mesh of not less than four inches; and dip or scoop nets surrounded by a frame not exceeding six feet in their greatest diameter, and a mesh of not less than one inch. Such dip or scoop nets are to be used exclusively in the capture of prawns.

The lake itself, in the ordinary course, would be open to the use of all classes of fishing nets on the 1st April, 1917; but till then only those answering the descriptions given may be lawfully used during the "open" periods specified.

CELEBRATION OF THE LANDING OF CAPTAIN COOK.

COOK AT KURNELL.

THE MAN AND THE DAY.

A NATIONAL ANNIVERSARY.

One hundred and forty-two years ago!

The celebrations which took place at Kurnell on Saturday afternoon, and which revived once again the solemn memory of the birth of the youngest among the nations, were all the more interesting and impressive because they took place amid surroundings which the course of nearly a century and a half has left almost unchanged. Kurnell is happily too far removed from the restless and merciless processes which have covered the once picturesque environments of Port Jackson with an indiscriminate welter of bricks and macadam. A few insignificant buildings, a pier, a stretch of grass-grown pathway, alone break the ancient harmony of primal sea and bushland; and had the ghosts of the two natives who alone opposed Cook's landing in 1770 suddenly appeared to revisit these glimpses of the moon they would scarcely have occasioned so much surprise as the strange spectacle of Cook's blue boat and powdered tie-wig must have aroused in them.

Botany Bay presented an unusually animated appearance. A small fleet of steamers and launches flitted between the heads, and close inshore the Challenger and the Parramatta flaunted a profusion of many-coloured bunting to the breeze. Along the shore a dense mass of people had congregated, while among the official participants in the day's ceremonies were his Excellency the State Governor and Lady Chelmsford, his Excellency the Vice-Admiral and Lady King-Hall, Sir William and Lady Cullen, the Premier (Mr. M'Gowen) and Mrs. M'Gowen, Captain and Mrs. Rolleston, Sir Joseph and Lady Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Trefle, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Hall, the captains and officers of the Challenger and Parramatta, Mr. and Mrs. W. Houston, Mr. J. C. Gannon, M.L.C., Mr. J. J. Cohen, M.L.A., and Mrs. Cohen, Mr. John Nobbs, M.L.A., Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Chapman, Lieut. Amor, of the Psyche, Mr. Frank Walker (president), and Mr. C. T. Burfitt (secretary), of the Australian Historical Society, Mr. I. Reginald Cohen, president of the A.N.A., Mr. D. Hope Johnston, president of the Pioneers' Club, Mr. F. A. Gallick, Mr. G. M'Rae, Mr. William Atkins, president of the Royal Society, Captain Davis, of the Aurora, Mr. J. W. Holliman, and Mr. E. T. Von Goes, Swedish Consul-in-Chief. A musical programme was rendered during the afternoon by the Metropolitan Police Band, under Captain W. G. Bentley.

On landing at the pier the Governor and party were received by a guard of honour of bluejackets and escorted to the flagstaff. Appropriate addresses were then delivered by Lord Chelmsford, Sir George King-Hall, Mr. M'Gowen, and Sir William Cullen, as president of trustees. Lord Chelmsford thereupon broke the flag, which was greeted by cheers from the entire assembly, together with salutes fired from H.M.S. Challenger and La Perouse Point. Cheers for the King and for Lord Chelmsford concluded the ceremony.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

"Let us now praise famous men and our fathers that begat us. . . . These were honoured in their generations, and were the glory of their times. . . . Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liveth for evermore." No more fitting words, said Lord Chelmsford, than these of the preacher could be chosen to adorn the memory of James Cook, who was possessed of all those qualities which go to make the true hero. A national commemoration was a day set apart in order that the nation might celebrate its bond of blood and nationhood, such, for example, as existed among the Scotch, the Irish, the French, and the great American nation. He would pass over St. Andrew's and St. Patrick's days. We had not yet a national saint, and in the 20th century we were not likely to produce one. There was, however, the day celebrated by the French July 14, the day on which the Bastille was taken, and the old order seemed to be destroyed, and a new era seemed to have set in. Americans celebrated July 4, on which day America cast off its ties with the motherland, and started life as a new nation. What lessons had such anniversaries for us in Australia? In the first place, they were days on which events had occurred without which the history of those nations would have been written in a different way. The coming of these days evoked a responsive echo in the hearts of every Frenchman and every American. If we were to have a National Day on which we should celebrate the nationhood of Australia, it must in the first place be a day which appealed to every Australian, and secondly, it must celebrate an event without which the history of Australia would have been written in different words. The honour might be claimed either for the day of Captain Cook's landing, or for Anniversary Day. But here at all events Captain Cook had first made possible an Australian nation 140 years ago. Few nobler men had lived than James Cook, captain in his Majesty's navy.

The name of Captain Cook, said Admiral Sir George King-Hall, was one that would always appeal to every British seaman, as an example of a man who loved his profession and had a high sense of duty and devotion to his work. At a time when interest was almost indispensable, he had dragged himself unaided up the service to the rank he held. The lasting quality of his work was shown by the fact that in 1879, when the speaker was a lieutenant on the Labrador coast, the only charts they had were those of Captain Cook, and they were absolutely thorough. "For us naval people," he said, "it is most interesting to be here on the spot where he landed. To us, men of the same race, there is the call to develop the same characteristics, and to safeguard the great inheritance entrusted to us."

The Premier, Mr. M'Gowen, said that here in Australia, though we might not always show it, we were very thankful to England, and continually recognised in our thoughts how much we owed to the old country and the men of Cook's stamp; how strongly we were indebted to the profession to which he belonged, and to the courage which spurred him on through all sorts of difficulties. There was not an Australian who did not thank God continually that Captain Cook had lived.

Sir William Cullen said that this day was a day which appealed to the patriotism of us all, not merely to the patriotism of a class or a society, nor to that of our own particular State, nor even to that which we must feel for the Commonwealth, which had a still deeper claim upon us, but to the wider and nobler feeling of patriotism inspired by the great Empire, which embraced us all, and for which, and in whose service, Cook had lived and died.

AT COOK'S STATUE.

AN EVENING GATHERING.

THE VALUE OF SENTIMENT.

In Hyde Park, near the corner of Park and College streets, stands Cook's statue, arm outstretched and face towards the Heads; and there on Saturday night gathered members of the Australian Natives' Association, the Australian Historical Society, the British Empire League, and other bodies, to listen to speeches in memory of the great navigator. There were, too, a few other people present—but only a few. Around the statue were the flag of England and the flag of Australia, intertwined; and it was decorated also with greenery and flowers, whilst Chinese lanterns were festooned about it.

Mr. I. Reginald Cohen, chief president of the A.N.A., was the first to speak. There were those in the community, he said, who scorned and sneered at sentiment, and said they had no time in this age of hustle and bustle for being anything else but practical. But, after all, the world was ruled by sentiment. (Applause.) He prayed that sentiment would never cease with members of the A.N.A., nor with the people of Australia at large. Once a year the A.N.A. in the exercise of a patriotic sentiment, assembled at this statue of our glorious founder, Captain James Cook, whether the weather was wet or fine, and decorated it in memory of the man. Cook could well lay claim to kinsmanship with the world's heroes. "Think to-day of your magnificent steamers, with their tennis courts and golf links, their luxurious state-rooms, and every comfort and luxury provided for passengers, and then turn your thoughts to the little cockle-shell of something over 300 tons, in which our brave and intrepid founder strove against the ocean, and added another jewel to the crown of England, under whose flag we live to-day, and I pray may remain for ever." (Applause.) How came it, he asked, that so few were present? If two great prize-fighters met with the object of maiming each other until victory was proclaimed for one, thousands would rush to see them, only a mere handful of people came to honour this illustrious man. Our foremost citizens should urge the Government to set apart a national day, either on this day or on Anniversary Day, for some comprehensive celebrations accessible to all. (Applause.) There had been a neglect on the part of the Governments to add to the school curriculum occasional lectures on patriotism. Our children would then see how much they owed to Cook, and there would be developed a sentiment which would give them a more comprehensive view of the ties that bound this land to England, and a keener enthusiasm for the defence of this country. Thus would there be aroused in the child mind a passionate devotion, which would lead to a quick response to the cry which emanated from the A.N.A.—"God and Australia for Britain and the Empire." (Applause.)

Mr. G. T. Stead, secretary of the Yorkshire Society, reminded his hearers that Cook was a Yorkshireman. "I do not forget the country of my birth," he said, "nor do I forget that Captain Cook happened to be born in the same county. Had it not been for Cook and his indomitable courage, perhaps the British flag would not be floating over our heads today; and the rising generation should have this instilled into their minds." (Applause.)

Mr. E. S. Smithurst, secretary of the British Empire League, mentioned that he had had the honour of sending a flag from the children of Botany, Cook's landing place in Australia, to the children of Marton, Cook's birthplace in Yorkshire, and he had no doubt that that flag was flying that day at Marton. In return the children of Marton had sent out a flag, together with a photograph of the baptismal register containing Cook's name. The latter contained the words: "November 3, ye son of James Cook, day labourer, baptised." An enlargement of the photograph had been made and placed in the Museum in Sydney, along with the other Cook relics. "In spite of the disadvantages under which he laboured," said Mr. Smithurst, "Cook has written his name in imperishable characters upon the history of the world." (Applause.)

Mr. C. T. Burfitt, secretary of the Australian Historical Association, also addressed the gathering.

THE FLAG OF FREEDOM.

Speaking on Saturday at Beecroft, on the occasion of the hoisting of a flag which had been sent from Cheltenham, England, Mr. J. Cook, M.P., said it was a happy thought which associated the hoisting of the flag with the anniversary of the landing of Captain Cook. One hundred and forty-two years ago the first flag of possession had been planted. The flag that was fluttering out that day for the first time was likewise a flag of possession of untold wealth and opportunity. Their trade, their wealth, their prosperity was the greatest in the world. It would need exactly the same qualities that made it to keep it.

HOSPITAL WORK.

ROYAL PRINCE ALFRED.

A YEAR'S EXPANSION.

The twenty-eighth annual report of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital has been issued, and will be presented this afternoon to the annual meeting, over which the State Governor is to preside.

During 1912 29,317 persons were treated at the institution. Of this number 5888 were admitted as in-patients, and of that total 3739 were accident or urgency, and non-paying cases, while 2149 contributed something towards their maintenance. Of the total number 43 were treated in the Ogilvie and John Fairfax wards. The total amount received from contributing patients during the year was £4137, as compared with £4362 during 1910. The average stay of the in-patients was 23.30 days; of the total deaths in the hospital 80 took place within 24 hours after admission. The daily average number of patients throughout last year was 363.6, but in some of the months it far exceeded this. For instance, in November it ran up to 392, and one day it reached 402, which at that time represented ten more patients than there were beds provided for, but later in the year 35 additional beds were provided; the nursing staff was considerably increased, and the resident medical staff was added to by four officers. The statistics show that in every branch of hospital work there was a marked increase, the number of operations showed a considerable increase over previous years. In fact, for the first time in the history of the hospital, the total operations exceeded 4000. Last year 4080 were operated upon, representing 69.20 of the admissions.

In the work of the out-patient and casualty departments there was a marked increase, and these departments are steadily causing a greater demand upon the resources of the institution.

Changes were also made in the out-patient department. For a great many years the system of admission to the treatment of the out-patient department has been by recommendation on forms specially supplied by the hospital, but it has been decided, on the recommendation of the medical board, to abolish the system, and in future all recommendations will take the form of special letters.

The financial statement shows that the expenditure exceeded the income of the year by £2196. This amount exceeds greatly the deficiency in any previous year in the history of the hospital. It was due to two principal causes—the increased number of beds in occupation, and increased expenditure principally in salaries and wages. The total salaries and wages paid rose from £12,035 in 1910 to £14,265. There was also a marked increase in general expenditure, especially for drugs and chemicals, repairs, and alterations to buildings, etc. But after all, the total deficiency for the year would have been £2300 greater than it was but for the fact that the Government granted a further subsidy of £8000 per annum.

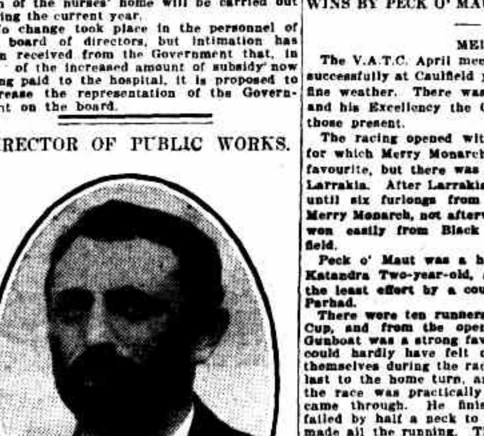

During the year the board decided that, instead of having a bank overdraft to meet its annual deficiences, it would pay off the accumulated deficiency from the endowment fund. The effect will be to deplete the fund of part of its interest-earning power, but it will save the payment of bank interest.

The report deals fully with the question of the necessity for extending the hospital in many directions, so as to provide additional facilities at an estimated cost of £45,000.

The board is also hopeful that the extension of the nurses' home will be carried out during the current year.

No change took place in the personnel of the board of directors, but intimation has been received from the Government that, in view of the increased amount of subsidy now being paid to the hospital, it is proposed to increase the representation of the Government on the board.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS.

MR. WILLIAM BRUCE.

Mr. William Bruce, who has been appointed by the State Government to the position of Director of Public Works, has been superintendent of building and construction in the Harbour Trust since its formation 11 years ago, and controls about 750 men. He first came into prominence in Sydney during the first plague outbreak. At that time he supervised the cleansing operations. In his new position Mr. Bruce is to have a perfectly free hand. He will collect his own staff, and build up his own department, and will be directly responsible to the Minister for Works, Mr. Griffith.

ARTS AND CRAFTS.

PURCHASES BY THE NATIONAL GALLERY.

The last day of the exhibition of the Society of Arts and Crafts was signalised by a general display of native curios, chiefly from Australia and Polynesia. Mr. C. M. Mullens had lent, among other articles, a number of aboriginal weapons, with some primitive pan-pipes, a stone axe, and various charms and female ornaments from New Guinea. Miss Mabel Adams contributed some representative specimens of batik work from Java, while Mrs. Horton exhibited a curious garment from Borneo in the shape of a Dyak woman's skirt. Some carved wooden pigs and clubs from the Solomons were shown by Miss Adams and Mr. Richard Adams respectively. Miss Rose Scott also lent various specimens of aboriginal work.

No fewer than four purchases from the exhibition have been made by the trustees of the National Gallery, the total value of the purchases amounting to nearly £15. A copper bowl, by Mrs. Soderberg, with a bat in repousse, with outspread wings, valued at seven guineas, was first bought. Then came a twine box, in leather, by Miss Edwell (25s), with a striking design of red prawns on a dark sea-coloured ground, and a salad bowl, of beautiful dark-greenish exterior, and an inner design of leaves and buds of the flowering gum, the work of Miss Atkinson, and valued at £3 3s. A panel in enamel on silver, showing a parrot in gorgeous tints of blue and emerald, was purchased from Miss Mildred Creed for £2 10s.

ALLIANCE SUNDAY.

The efforts of the New South Wales Alliance to have a special Sunday set apart for the inculcation and spread of temperance principles met with a cordial response yesterday, when the ministers in the majority of city and suburban churches took occasion either to base their sermons on the question or to allude to it during their discourses.

In many instances special prayers were offered for the success of the New South Wales Alliance and the kindred bodies working the cause. The sermons were eloquent in the appeal for a wider and broader interpretation of the doctrine of rigid abstinence from all forms of intoxicants. Stirring addresses were delivered in the Sunday schools, and a large number of scholars signed the pledge.

Rallies of enthusiasts in the cause were held after the ordinary church services, when the effects of the liquor traffic were denounced as baneful to mankind and a hindrance to progress.

V.A.T.C. MEETING.

GOOD DAY AT CAULFIELD.

WINS BY PECK O' MAUT AND AVENGER.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The V.A.T.C. April meeting was brought off successfully at Caulfield yesterday in dull but fine weather. There was a good attendance, and his Excellency the Governor was among those present.

The racing opened with the Hurdle Race, for which Merry Monarch was always a good favourite, but there was plenty of money for Larrakia. After Larrakia had made the pace until six furlongs from home, he fell, and Merry Monarch, not afterwards being troubled, won easily from Black Native in a weak field.

Peck o' Maut was a hot favourite for the Katandra Two-year-old, and he won without the least effort by a couple of lengths from Parhad.

There were ten runners for the Glenhuntly Cup, and from the opening of the betting Gunboat was a strong favourite. His backers could hardly have felt on good terms with themselves during the race, as he was second last to the home turn, and it was only when the race was practically over that Gunboat came through. He finished very fast, but failed by half a neck to reach Avenger, who made all the running. The stewards held an inquiry into the running of Gunboat, and, after hearing the evidence of the owner, trainer, and jockey, decided to take no action.

Booligal, the favourite for the Steeplechase, fell, and the winner turned up in Brown Path, who is rather a poor stayer, and his rider was hanging on to him all the way.

Burston and Nari were most in demand for the Glenferrie Welter, and backers were well on the mark as the pair fought out the finish. Nari lasted the longer, and won by half a neck.

The Brighton Handicap was won all the way by Habel, who improved on his Moonee Valley form. Coming into the straight Habel ran out, and all the field, with the exception of Wiridgil, followed suit. Habel eventually won by a length, and subsequently survived a protest for interference with Apiarist.

The details are subjoined:—

Brownpath, Booligal, and Squirm made the running until the second of the treble, where Booligal fell. At the second fence out of the straight Wee Mac came to grief, and Brownpath went on clear of Central Green and Squirm. CURIOUS SEPARATION CASE.

A WOMAN'S ALLEGATIONS.

PERTH (W.A.), Thursday.

In the Perth Divorce Court to-day judgment was given in a judicial separation case which has given rise to considerable social notoriety. The petitioner, Anna Williams, formerly a school teacher, sister of Mr. Fraser, engineer-in-chief of the Victorian railways, accused her husband, Matthew Williams, artist, of habitual cruelty. The custody of a child, and the ownership of some house property, were also involved. A lot of petty domestic squabbles were advertised, and the sensational feature of the case was the petitioner's allegation that the respondent, before marriage, broke into her bedroom at night, and with a revolver to her head, compelled her to break her engagement with another man. This allegation was quite unsupported, and absolutely and circumstantially denied by the respondent.

Mr. Justice Burnside, in giving judgment, stated that the circumstances antecedent to the marriage were unnecessarily introduced, and would have no effect upon the decision. He then proceeded to remark that the evidence of neither party was absolutely reliable, and he thought the springs of bitterness had polluted the water of truth. The petition was dismissed, without any order for costs.

NORFOLK ISLAND.

April 15.

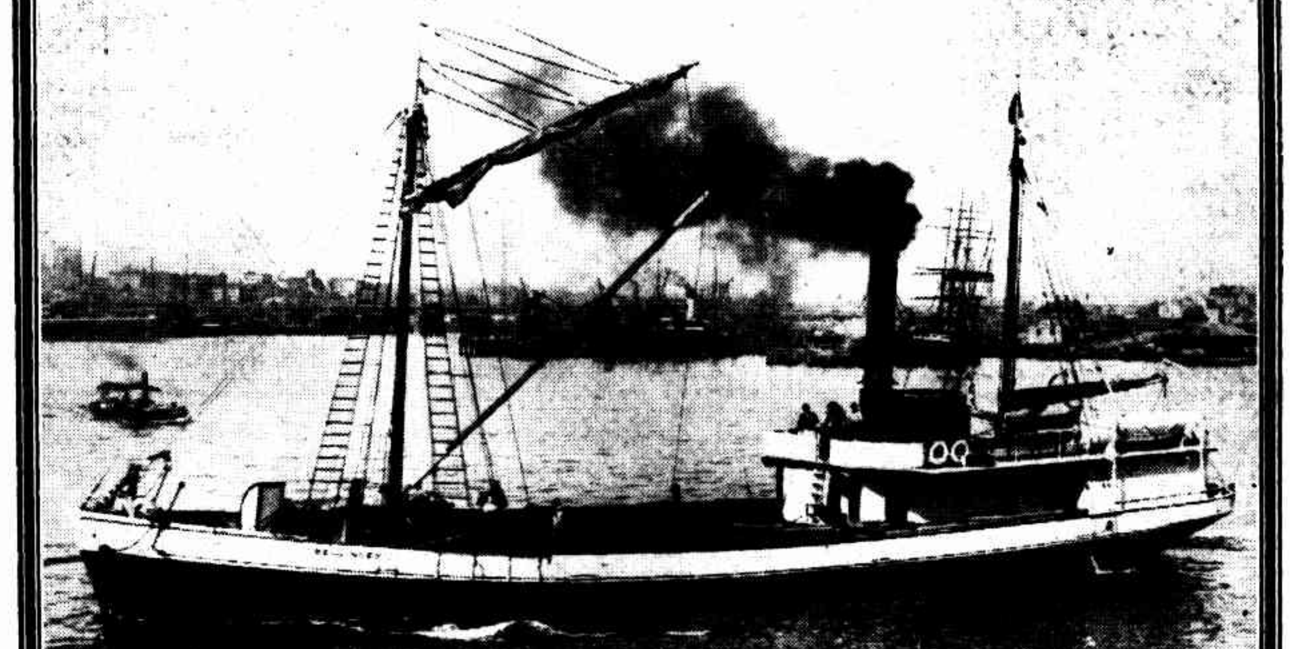

An accident happened on the 21st ult to one of the boys at the mission station, a native of the Solomon Islands, age 13, who was washed off the rocks at Duncombe Bay and drowned. He was one of a party of three, all youngsters, who were fishing at the bay during the prevalence of the late rough weather, when unexpectedly a wave came up and carried the boy off the rock. One of the boys made a gallant attempt to save his mate, jumped into the surf, caught and held him up for nearly half an hour, while the other boy ran for assistance. Becoming exhausted, the drowning boy slipped off his rescuer's back, and sank, and when assistance came the brave little fellow himself was only rescued with difficulty.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

WOOLLEN WORKERS' CLAIMS.

The claims of the Textile Workers' Union have been filed with the chairman of the Wages Board appointed in the industry. The union asks that all juvenile workers, male and female, shall receive not less than £1 per week at 15 years of age, rising to £2 at 20 years of age. No weavers to work more than one loom, or to be under 16 years of age, the adults, male and female, to receive equal pay; pattern weavers, £3 3s per week; rug weavers, 1s 3d per hour. A minimum wage of £2 5s for all weavers is demanded, cleaning the looms to be paid for as extra.

For weaving Government contract blankets, special rates are asked, and a comprehensive scale of piecework rates for other work is set out. For foremen weavers £5 5s is claimed, and for turners or loom overseers £4 10s. Dyeing department: Head dyer, £5 5s; man in charge £4 10s, foreman labourer £3 10s, all other labourers 9s per day. Spinning department: Foreman, £5 5s; spinner, £4 10s (no females or juvenile labour to be employed), warpers, fancy £3 5s, plain £2 15s.

The board consists of Messrs. F. Armstrong (chairman), J. Vicars (employers' representative), and D. M'Kenzie (employees' representative). The union will be represented before the board by Mr. J. B. Moffat, and the employers by Mr. J. S. Thom.

MEAT TRADES' FEDERATION.

It is the intention of the Australasian Meat Industry Employees' Federation to bring a case before the Federal Arbitration Court in order to secure uniform conditions throughout Australia. Mr. T. Furse, the secretary of the New South Wales branch, returned from the conference of the federation held in Hobart last week.

LABOUR COUNCIL RULES.

At the last meeting of the Labour Council the executive was empowered to revise the rules of the council. The revised rules when ready are to be considered at a special meeting of the council.

As there has been for some time a feeling in Trades' Union circles that the Labour Council should have a larger power in regard to the control of unions, especially in reference to industrial troubles, some very important alterations may be suggested.

RAILWAY AND TRAMWAY EMPLOYEES.

The grand council of Railway and Tramway Unions, which consists of representatives of the Railway Employees' Traffic Association, the Tramway Employees' Union, and the Loco. Enginedrivers', Firemen, and Cleaners' Association, recently wrote to the Chief Commissioner for Railways making several requests for the improvement of conditions. The Commissioner points out in his reply the expenses involved and the advantages already enjoyed in the service in the way of leave, holidays, and special privileges.

CUTICURA OINTMENT GAVE INSTANT RELIEF.

"For about two years I suffered with eczema, my whole body and face were smothered with it, consequently I could not eat or sleep, and after trying all kinds of cures and medicines I was just on the point of giving up my case as hopeless, when a friend advised me to try Cuticura Ointment, which I did, and obtained instant relief. There is not now a speck of eczema to be seen on my body, thanks to Cuticura, and I am only too willing and pleased to tell all my friends about it." (Signed) William Brown, Forth and Clyde Hotel, Balmain, Sydney, N.S.W., December 10, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment afford the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp of infants, children, and adults. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Although sold throughout the world, a sample of Cuticura Ointment, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. 30 E, Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

FARM AND STATION.

THE PRICE OF BRAN.

The relatively high price of bran and pollard and, what is more, the scarcity of these products emphasise the great desirability, of less wheat leaving this country and more flour being exported. The present position is hardly satisfactory, quite apart from the high price of flour. Our export flour trade is certainly nothing to be proud of; it was 53,215 tons last year, the bulk of which, of course, goes to the East. It is a wonder that a far greater trade could not be built up with the United Kingdom. The advantage in an increase in the amount of flour manufactured locally is the increase in the amount of the by-products, bran and pollard, that would be available. The present prices must be a heavy strain on many dairymen and pig and poultry farmers. These are all important industries and ones that we can confidently expect to see achieve within the next few years far greater dimensions. Also, we may hope to find more attention being given to regular feeding and less entire dependence being placed upon natural pastures. Until this stage is reached we shall certainly not obtain anything like the production we should from our rural lands, or have them properly settled.

Many crops and fodders will play a part in this future system, of course, but both bran and pollard are concentrated foods of a value that would make it very regrettable if prices continued at anything like the value of not only this, but last year, when they were much lower. Hence the attitude of the millers has an important bearing on certain rural industries, quite apart from the main one, in which they are concerned, of wheat-growing. How much the existence of a strong association has to do with the scarcity and high price of these products, and the position of the export trade is a matter that must be of interest to many people, irrespective of the position as it affects the price of flour and bread. It is common knowledge that the association fixes prices, and it is also no secret that a section of the trade favours limiting the output of the mills, and it is understood abandoning the export trade. It is hard to believe that such crude ideas of commercial principles should be advocated, and at least it is to be hoped that they will never dominate, for the best interests of the country point in an entirely opposite direction.

We certainly do not want a condition that will tend to operate against the better feeding of our livestock. From a dairying standpoint bran is one of the best concentrated feeds, as it contains a large amount of albuminoid matter, and is fairly rich in carbohydrates and fat. Mr. O'Callaghan gives the analysis of dry matter and digestible material in one pound of wheat bran (roller process), as .58 dry matter, .126 protein, .441 carbohydrates, and .029 fat. It contains about 4½ per cent. of bone phosphates (phosphorus is an essential constitution of any ration for dairy cows, hence, given as portion of the food to the cow in full milk, it is profitable feed if the price is reasonable). The digestibility of the husk of the bran is very small, only 13 per cent., which makes it excellent for mixing with "meal" to lighten the mass and help digestion. Bran is deficient in lime, but fed with lucerne hay this is made up, and a valuable combination secured. Excepting in the case of town dairymen, bran is not used to any great exent, but it would be a good thing if conditions allowed it to be more generally availed of.

For pigs bran is not a useful food, except as an occasional laxative, but pollard is especially nutritious, and is largely used for topping off in the dairying districts, being fed with skim milk. The price and quantity of pollard available, therefore, concern the pig-raising industry, and it is an industry from which much is expected. In the poultry industry both bran and pollard are regular foods, and their price is a most serious consideration. The retail buyer is at present paying over one penny a pound for this food for his fowls. The miller may, no doubt, hold that all this does not concern him, but it is of value as showing the inter-dependence of different industries, and there should be consideration as to whether the present position is necessary. There is another economic aspect from a rural standpoint that should not be lost sight of.

These foods have a good manurial value. According to Lawes and Gilbert's analyses, the constituents in 1000 parts of ordinary bran food are 857 dry matter, 23.2 nitrogen, 15.3 potash, and 26.9 phosphoric acid. The retention of, and use in, this country of as much bran and pollard through the greater manufacture of flour locally, has a direct connection, therefore, with the necessary maintenance of the fertility of our soils. As wheat-growing depletes the soil, year after year, we are, in continuing to send away much wheat grain and little wheat flour, practically burning the candle at both ends. This may be largely unavoidable, but it would all work in the right direction if more bran and pollard were available here at cheap rates for the use of stockowners. No doubt at the start it would be found that these by-products were largely a drug on the market, but we must sooner or later realise that we must pay more attention to the feeding of our live stock. We must realise that intelligent feeding not only gives full returns (unobtainable otherwise), but gives back to the soil of the farm a tremendous quantity of valuable fertility which goes to raise better crops the following year. The greater fertility produces heavier crops, which in turn maintain a greater number of stock, and this goes on until the maximum of productivity on the farm is reached and maintained. We are a very long way from such a stage, but it will come, and it is to be hoped that other industries that can largely help by producing concentrated foods cheaply, will do so. It will be to their own interests, and much could probably be done in a pioneering sense at the present time.

ITEMS.

Dapto Agricultural Society is now free of debt.

A Berkshire sow, owned by Mr. M. Behl, of Nethercote, near Eden, lately gave birth to a litter of 18 pigs.

It is proposed to start a eucalyptus oil factory at Bombala to employ 20 hands.

A couple of Albion Park farms are changing hands, the new lessees being from the North Coast.

Buyers of rabbitskins at Cathcart are endeavouring to outbid each other, as high as 1s per lb being paid for the best furs.

At Milton, Mr. A. Ewin leads the way for this district in the installation of milking machines. He expects to have the plant in full working order in a month.

The supply of rabbits at Braidwood freezing works is increasing greatly. The motor lorry for conveyance of rabbits to the railway at Tarago takes away five tons each trip, and still the quantity on hand keeps accumulating.

In connection with the conveyance of milk from the South Coast to Sydney, there is a proposal on foot to get rid of the present can system and substitute bulk tanks. The tinware is considered too expensive and out of date.

Mr. A. J. Gibbs (writes our Queanbeyan correspondent), of Williamsdale, reports an instance of peculiar foster motherhood A young cow lost her newly-born calf, and four or five poddy lambs promptly usurped the cow as their foster mother.

AUSTRALIAN MEAT FOR LONDON.

IMPROVEMENT IN QUALITY DESIRABLE.

With the splendid rains that Queensland has recently experienced, and the indication that the droughty conditions that seemed to threaten large areas of country have disappeared, there appears to be every prospect that for some months to come most of the sheep and cattle runs will be well covered with grass, and that another favourable pastoral season will occur.

But according to "Dalgety's Review" the possible increase in the quantity of beef and mutton raised for export in another good season will not be all that will be necessary to create permanent prosperity to the meat trade, or to enable Queensland stockowners to successfully compete with the Argentine, the most powerful rival Australia has in the field. From the latest returns quoted, in 1911, 2,162,000 quarters of chilled beef and 1,878,000 quarters of frozen beef, equal to about 1,900,000 head of cattle, were exported from the Argentine, when from the whole of Australia only 650,000 quarters of beef were shipped, representing about 140,000 head of cattle. It is stated, too, by those who profess to have a knowledge of the opinions prevalent in the London market, that there is much need for improvement in the quality of the frozen beef sent from Queensland and Australia generally; that while the Argentine stock-owners have improved their breeds, and are supplying high-class meat, the meat from Queensland is often of inferior quality, and fetches only secondary prices. Also, that much of the mutton frequently takes a low place in the trade; that old and scraggy carcases are found amongst the sheep exported, and that the frozen lambs are unequal in size and plumpness, and often show carelessness in breeding. Of course these opinions may only be the result of too careless generalisations, and there are doubtless many shipments which would not deserve such adverse criticism.

Something ought certainly to be done, especially as a propitious season is probable, to give a better standing to the export meat trade in the London market. Quality always tells, and a good reputation for any product is conducive to high prices and heavy sales. Better arrangements have been made in England for cold storage. At the Victoria and West India docks the accommodation is sufficient now for about 700,000 carcases, and there is a supplementary storage building, close to the West Smithfield market, capable of holding many more, though it is said that the cold storage is controlled too much by the American companies, yet for the metropolitan markets there is probably ample accommodation for the shipments that arrive from all parts. And as a rule the meat is well handled, and more regular and quicker means are provided for conveying and distributing it. The inspectors are generally intelligent and capable men, and greater facilities are given for disposing of the meat at current rates, all of which suggests that something more should be done at the Australian end by stock owners, meat works companies, and shippers generally.

DAIRYING.

HINTS FOR THE YOUNG DAIRYMAN.

There are directions to which second and perhaps third class cream may be traced which are capable of rectification. Unsuitable cans, a careless regard for the absolute cleanness of everything in connection with the separator, unclean and improperly constructed dairy, smoking not being strictly prohibited; a want of cleanliness in connection with everyone having business in the dairy, filthy bails, and a lack of regard for the welfare of the cows, are some of the causes of second-class cream.

The separating house should be built upon the lines laid down by the authorities, with special attention devoted to ventilation. Nothing is more liable to pick up germs floating about than milk. The bottom boards all round the dairy should be omitted in the construction, and should be replaced with perforated zinc. On one side, about the centre of the wall, there should be a perforated zinc window, and on this and also on the opposite side similar windows should be placed high. On the side opposite the door perforated zinc should be substituted for the two top boards. It would be all the better if a couple of ventilators were placed in the roof, but that is perhaps barely necessary.

It is a good idea to have a bucket slightly larger than that which holds the cream; place the cream bucket inside, fill the space between the two buckets with cold clean water, and then haul the lot up, so as to hang by a hook on to a rafter or the ceiling, so that it will be well away from the floor and in a line of the ventilation. This process would be well followed out whether the factory receives cream six days a week or less frequently. It will be found that the adoption of this method of dealing with the cream will improve it, and anything that will do so will be a great help towards the factory producing a first-grade or superfine butter.

The beginner in dairying should pay special attention to his cans. The best are those without seams, for they can be the better cleaned. After use they should be washed with cold water and scrubbed, and then scalded, or, if possible, placed over a steam vent for a few minutes. It is not everyone who has a steam vent, so boiling water will answer the purpose. All items in connection with the separator should be treated similarly to the cans. Indentations in the cans are to be avoided, and similarly those that are old-fashioned. The disgust on a manager's face may be easily detected when he handles a can all knocked about. He feels inclined to at once put the cream on one side as second class without looking at it. In taking the cream to the factory or to the train in hot weather place a dampened flannel over it, and put it in the van, as near "midships" as possible. If stood at either end of the van it might be churned by the time its destination is reached.

There should be an ample supply of water handy to the bails, so that milkers may every now and then wash off the inevitable dirt which accumulates on the hands, and a good scrubbing should also take place prior to carrying out any work in the dairy. All droppings should be thoroughly removed from the bails, and also from the yard, and put in a heap at a safe distance from the separating house.

The care of the cow should be a very important consideration. She should be treated gently; ill-usage means loss. If the dairyman just beginning on his own account has a number of heifers on their first calf come in about the same time his patience will be heavily tried, but preserving it will well repay him in the long run.

POTATOES FOR WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

NEW REGULATIONS GAZETTED.

The Under-Secretary for Agriculture has received a telegram from the Western Australian Department of Agriculture, intimating that new regulations have just been gazetted regarding the admission of potatoes into that State. These regulations provide for the segregation of all that portion of the south-western part of the State south of a line drawn from Rockingham through Beverley to the 119th meridian. No potatoes whatever will be admitted into this area, either through the ports or from any other part of the State. With regard to the remainder of the State, no potatoes will be admitted from New South Wales unless a certificate has been given by an officer of the New South Wales department that they were grown on a farm which has been free from Irish blight for a period of at least 12 months, also that they are packed in new bags provided with the letter "P" 6in long, and with the name and address of the grower. Initials will not be accepted. The potatoes will be subjected to a specially thorough investigation at the Western Australian end, and will only be released if found in first-class condition and apparently free from disease. A fee of 1s per bag will be levied, to cover the cost of inspection, pathological examination, and general administration of the regulations. Additional inspectors are to be appointed, and the potato growing areas policed, and rewards offered to railway officers in the west to prevent potatoes from being illicitly introduced into the south-western portion.

RAILWAYS FOR THE WEST.

Mr. M. M. Costello, hon. secretary Western Lessees' Association, Hillston, writes:—In my letter published in your paper some time ago I pointed out and emphasised the vital importance of extending the railways from Condobolin to Broken Hill and from Wyalong to Hillston and to Cudgellico. The grounds of my arguments then were 'that the value of the stock lost in the big drought would pay for these lines several times over. The season this year still emphasises the value of the railway. In most years the west, being in the lower rainfall area, is the first to show the disastrous effects of drought, and the necessity of getting fodder from the east and sending live stock there. A railway only can do these things when the stock are too weak to travel and the routes hopelessly closed. The stock routes are closed now, but now the abundant feed is in the west, and a great area to the east of the Lachlan is suffering severely. But as the railways are still wanting the thousands of pounds' worth of feed in the west will go to waste, and the thousands of pounds' worth of stock in the east will perish for want of it. This position shows the double value of the railways in these parts. Next year the conditions may be reversed—the west may be the sufferer, cut off and isolated, and the east the land of plenty, and feed going to waste. When stock are perishing in one part for want of the superabundant feed in another; when dry stages are impassable, and the feed on the stock routes a vanished factor; when stock in far-out places are fat and fit for market, but there is no getting to that market—then we more than ever realise the vital importance and absolute necessity of the train.

TRACTION ENGINE PLOUGHING.

Wheat-growing is making rapid strides in the Pallamallawa district (writes a correspondent), which until recently was given up to grazing. Last season some excellent yields were obtained, and this has caused a big increase in the area to be sown this season. Large areas have been prepared, and one grower already has nearly 700 acres ready for sowing. Traction engines are being used largely for ploughing, and are proving very successful. A demonstration was given this week of traction engine ploughing by the International Harvester Company on Mr. A. J. Blunt's farm, which was largely attended. Although the soil was dry, excellent work was done. The inspector for agriculture for the district, who was present, in the course of a short address, said that the prospects of wheat-growing were very bright. Last year over £5 worth of wheat per acre was taken off land which, used for wool-growing, would scarcely return 5s per acre. The soil is probably equal to anything in the State for wheat, as it is very fertile and retains moisture to an extraordinary extent. A comparison of the rainfall record over a period of 15 years shows that it is only very slightly lower than that of the Gunedah and Boggabri districts, where wheat is very largely grown. Mr. M'Donald advised farmers to prepare their land properly and to select suitable varieties, and said he believed that, provided this was done, the district average yield would be very high.

REMOVING TIMBER AND TRESPASSING.

The recent prosecution and infliction of a penalty on a young man in a country police court for taking dead wood from another's land serves to draw attention to the illegality attaching to the commission of such an offence. The occupiers of the land had previously warned the accused not to go on their land, and the prosecution was instituted solely for the purpose of warning others that they were not at liberty to go on other people's land and take timber therefrom without first obtaining consent. Under the Crimes Act it constitutes an offence punishable by fine, and payment of the value of the property taken or injury done, for any person to steal or destroy, or damage with intent to steal, the whole or any part of any tree, sapling, shrub, plant, or any unlawful wood, the value of or the injury done to which exceeds one shilling. Further, under the Enclosed Lands Act, 1901, it is provided that any person who without lawful excuse, the proof of which lies with the defendant, enters upon the enclosed lands of any other person, without the consent of the owner or occupier thereof, or the person in charge of the same, shall be liable to a fine, and if this is not paid, then imprisonment. Enclosed lands means any lands, either public or private, which are enclosed or surrounded with any fence, wall, or other erection by which the boundaries thereof are known or recognised.

WINTER FEED.

FODDER EXPERIMENTS.

WINGHAM.—Mr. George Marks, inspector of apiculture, has just finished planting some experimental plots with winter feed on Mr. Singleton's farm at Mondrook. He regards the winter fodder experiments as the most valuable of his work. Although the North Coast is specially favoured as regards rainfall, the winter months usually result in diminished dairy returns, owing to the scarcity of natural fodder. These experiments are intended not only to demonstrate what variety or varieties are best suited for growing in the district, but also to encourage the growing of mixtures specially suited for the supplementing of the milk supply. In the past the principal winter feed grown was oats, of which the Algerian variety has proved the most rust-resistant. Even with this variety, however, it was found that most seasons resulted in it taking rust so badly that even hungry stock would not eat it. From the result of experiments which have been conducted on the North Coast for the past two seasons, it would appear that better results can be obtained from the growing of rust-proof wheats. In this respect the Huguenot variety has given the best results, producing a large amount of fodder, and free from disease. Three varieties of wheats adapted to coastal conditions have been planted on Mr. Singleton's property: Medeah, Thew, and Huguenot. Thew is a very early variety, and makes splendid hay, but is inclined to take rust.

Algerian oats are also being tested, and two varieties of rye. The inclusion of a leguminous plant—such as peas or vetches—with wheat or oats, will provide a food of a very high feeding value. These leguminous plants have also been sown with Algerian oats. In addition, plots have been planted to test the efficacy of chemical fertilisers, where superphosphate has been used at the rate of 2cwt per acre. With regard to the amount of seed used, wheat and oats by themselves have been sown at 2cwt per acre. When the combination is adopted (that is, wheat and peas, or wheat and oats) a bushel and a half of wheat or oats and 45lb of peas or vetches were used.

MEAT EXPORTING.

THE CLAIMS OF THE NORTH.

PERTH, Saturday.

Interviewed on Friday Mr. F. Connor, M.L.C., who recently returned from Manila, where he arranged for importing cattle from Australia, drew attention to an important and interesting point in the proposal to establish freezing works at Wyndham (W.A.) and Port Darwin. He said:—"The Federal Government is building yards for the shipment of cattle to Manila and any other Eastern ports with which trade may be opened up. I am informed that they are offering every possible inducement to obtain cattle for shipment from Port Darwin. So far they have succeeded in securing two lots from the Victoria River, which in the ordinary course of events should have gone to Wyndham for shipment. The first lot of 1000 head, I understand, will leave Darwin on May 20. Before I left Manila I was informed by Mr. Taylor, Director of Agriculture, that it is against the American policy to have cattle shipped alive, because of the cruelty entailed, which, of course, we endeavour to avoid in every possible way. Mr. Taylor was very keen on having the cattle killed in Australia and the meat sent to Manila, partly chilled and partly frozen. Until the freezing works are established the Manila authorities may perhaps stop the Western Australian trade altogether."

Continuing, Mr. Connor said that when in Manila Mr. Batchelor told him it was the intention of the Federal Government to erect freezing works straight away. Wyndham was in his (Mr. Connor's) opinion the proper place for the freezing works, and not Port Darwin; and unless the Western Australian Government made a move in that direction they would probably find their claims been jumped. The trade properly belonged to Western Australia. Asked in what other directions trade could be opened with Manila, Mr. Connor said the people there were hungry for timber for any purposes, and there was also a huge market for fruits, and generally for all Australian products. The American army is fed on Australian beef and mutton, butter, and fruit; and there was also an enormous market for flour, which was displacing rice. He suggested subsidising the steamers trading between Australia and Manila, and believed if the Commonwealth Government or the State Government would reciprocate a mail subsidy could easily be arranged. There was no doubt that the trade with not only the Philippine Islands, but with the Dutch Archipelago, Java, and Singapore must increase. He added:—"We produce what they require, and it will be our own fault if we don't place our supplies on these markets."

STOCK TRANSPORT.

UNDER 10 MILES AN HOUR.

BLACKTOWN.—Three thousand sheep, trucked at Germanton, arrived here on Friday with 150 dead, after only 40 hours' travelling; an average of less than 10 miles per hour.

A DRY SEASON.

SERIOUS OUTLOOK IN THE WEST.

BOURKE.—Since the beginning of March last year only 8.64 points of rain have fallen, about 4in below the average, and it has fallen in such small quantities as to be of little benefit. In February last year magnificent rains fell, to all 425 points. The dry grass, which is at present the grazier's fall back, sprung up as a result of this fall. The downpour carried all stock in excellent condition until a few months ago, when some stations began to be pinched for water and others for feed. This feed was freshened up by a nice fall last May, and a further fall of nearly two inches in December. Since the 1st of January this year only 45 points of rain have fallen. Several stations have lately removed their stock to agistment country in more favoured parts. A few stations, evidently as a direct result of understocking, are now in a position to snap up some of the bargains that are offering, hoping thereby if rain falls within four to six months to reap the reward of their moderation in stocking while the country was well grassed. Many stations are now busily engaged scrub cutting. This forms excellent feed, especially when it is commenced while the stock are in good condition. It is necessary to give the stock abundance of salt, also they need an adequate supply of good water. This is assured on many places by artesian bores. Mr. C. E. Lang, of Messrs. Lang and Ware, expresses the opinion that the present outlook is very serious, and unless rain falls at an early date the west is in for a particularly bad time. Mr. Bowman, secretary of the A.W. Union, says the present outlook reminds him of the beginning of the 1902 drought. The clouds work up here now, and pass away in exactly the same manner as they did then. He says a severe drought would not affect the membership of the A.W.U., but would probably increase it, on account of extra men in the district being employed at scrub cutting, etc. Many carriers are at present spelling their bullock teams; there are very few horse teams in use here. The Darling River is now lower than it has been for 10 years. Lambing will be general throughout this district in a few weeks. On account of the absence of green feed heavy mortality may be expected amongst the lambs and ewes.

SHOW ABANDONED.

COLLARENEBRI.—A meeting of the P. and A. Society held on Saturday decided to abandon the show this year, in consequence of the dry season.

MORPETH.—During the past fortnight 117 truckloads of hay have been despatched from Morpeth, principally to the Riverina district. They contained about 800 tons.

YOUNG.—Present weather conditions are causing considerable uneasiness in regard to the outlook for the coming winter. Rain holds off most persistently, and grass in many places is conspicuous by its absence, though in many paddocks there is still dry feed. In some paddocks dead sheep are to be seen, but the mortality is not very great so far. On the other hand, when rain does come it will probably be followed by very cold weather, which will be disastrous to weak stock. Water is fairly plentiful. In a season like the present prominence is given to the value of conservation of fodder, moderate stocking and strenuous war against pests, especially rabbits. On Clifton estate, which is fairly stocked up, but free of rabbits, the stock are in very fair order, but the manager, Mr Max. Wilson, is just cutting into a large supply of lucerne ensilage in order to keep his sheep in good heart for winter. This season has also given prominence to the value of fallowing. Where this practice has been followed seeding operations are well in hand, in fact some paddocks show a slight green tinge.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Representatives from New South Wales, South Australia, Western Australia, and Queensland will meet in conference at the Public Works Department to-morrow to consider matters in connection with artesian bores. The principal question for discussion will be the corrosion of casing, etc. For some time past it has been found that artesian pipes have become corroded, and much of the water has gone to waste.

FARMERS AND SETTLERS.

YOUNG.—At the Farmers and Settlers' Association meeting a motion by the president to have the matter of the abolition of the pastures protection boards referred to the annual conference of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, was defeated.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BROKEN HILL.—Entries for the Silver City Show, to be held on May 8, constitute a record in the history of the society. Horses, pigs, sheep, and birds all show marked increases. If the quality proves equal to the quantity the show will be a memorable one.

COOMA.—Fine weather has been experienced in the Cooma district during the week, the days warm and the nights cold, with frosty mornings. Pasturage is reported fair, much better than many other parts of the State. The railway authorities state that they cannot comply with the request of the Cooma Pastures Protection Board to supply railway trucking yards with which to load large numbers of live stock are trucked at Cooma, and suggested the yards be connected with the Cooma town supply. The Monaro Co-operative Freezing Company applied for a siding, a little over a mile from the Cooma railway station. The application has been approved.

COWRA.—The drought period remains unbroken. The present season is one of the driest experienced for a number of years. Since the year began only 179 points of rain have been registered in Cowra, but the rainfall was considerably heavier in the various parts of the district. The river rose and fell several times during the past quarter as the result of good rains in localities south and west from Cowra. The farmers have already large areas sown for wheat, so as to have the advantage of the first rainfall, but except on well-worked, fallowed land tillage has been difficult. The river is a great standby in such seasons as the present. Stock are brought considerable distances for water. The district has been practically denuded of grass consequent on the high scorching winds of January and February. The hay and straw stacks conserved are reported to be few. Feed has risen, and is still rising in price. Such a time as this may perhaps prove an object lesson to the stockowners who have hitherto omitted making provision to augment their fodder supply by means of ensilage in good seasons, when, as a rule, grass and herbage are knee-deep throughout the district.

DUBBO.—Recently Mr. Jarvis, of Gilgandra, lost a stallion, and could ascribe no cause for the animal's death. A post-mortem examination was made by Mr G. T. Hawson, who forwarded to Mr. R. G. Dulhunty some peculiar congealments found in the heart. Mr. Dulhunty, who in turn forwarded the specimens to the Chief Inspector of Stock for examination, is now in receipt of the following report from the Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture:—"In reply to your communication concerning the death of a horse, the property of Mr. Jarvis, accompanying a specimen taken from his heart and arteries, I have to inform you that examination shows it to be what is known as an ante-mortem clot. It frequently happens that horses which suffer badly from influenza and other febrile diseases are affected in the heart, and, as a result of the inflammation, a clot forms in the heart or blood vessels, which increases as time goes on, and may lead to the death of the animal. Bits of this clot may break away, and block up the arteries leading to the intestines and other parts, and thus cause death from what would appear to be colic. In other cases, after some wound, part of the clot formed at the cut end of the vessel breaks away, and, becoming lodged in some organ, causes serious trouble; while, again, the presence of worms in the arteries of the intestines often leads to this condition. Which of these causes may have been the active one in this case it is impossible to say, but, in any case, the result was the formation of this clot in the heart and blood vessels, leading to death. There is, unfortunately, no chance of treatment."

HARGRAVES.—Since the late rain, heavy frosts have set in, followed by bright clear days. All prospect of more rain has completely disappeared. Stock is feeling the effects of the advent of cold weather, and many are dying, being too weak to hold out. The mortality amongst sheep is increasing. In their efforts to secure the grass growing round waterholes and along the banks of creeks many fall in, and are smothered before they are discovered. Quantities of dead wool are being gathered. Trappers are making very good money rabbit catching, large bundles of skins being conveyed weekly to the Sydney markets. Foxes also are being trapped in a fair price, as skins are beginning to increase in value with the coming of winter.

NOWRA.—Mr. Hugh McKenzie has been elected president of the Shoalhaven Agricultural Association for the ensuing term. Mr. P. Hayles was re-elected treasurer and H. Ranch secretary. A special Government grant of £100 has been paid to the society's credit.

QUEANBEYAN.—A large number of residents in and around Gininderra are engaged netting in and digging out rabbit burrows on their holdings. This work is providing employment for a good number of hands, while a still larger number are engaged in poisoning, trapping, and all other known methods of destruction. Owing to the low prices offered by buyers the carcase trade has now apparently given place to skinning.

The farmers have made good progress since the rainfall of some three weeks ago. However, the ground is becoming so hard as to make the work of preparation both difficult and tedious. A good soaking rainfall would be very acceptable. The potato crops this year have proved a failure. The early crops, which were the only ones that came to anything, were in most cases eaten out of the ground with grubs before they were half ripe.

SINGLETON.—At a meeting of the committee of the Northern Agricultural Association it was resolved to have a sports meeting and stallion parade on August 31, to take the place of the spring show, which will not be held this year, in view of the autumn show to be held in 1913. The sum of £100 was allotted for the prize-money, irrespective of any special prizes that might be offered. A sub-committee was appointed to prepare a programme and carry out the sports. It was decided to invite applications for the position of secretary, at a salary of £125 per annum and 5 per cent. on members' subscriptions.

UNDER THE GUM-TREES.

MR. CONROY CAMPAIGNING.

TALKS TO FARMERS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.)

GOULBURN, Saturday.

The Liberal candidate, Mr. Conroy, after holding a meeting at Burrowa on Friday night, left to reach Dalton the following night. It is hard travelling for the Parliamentary candidate these days, as the increased speed with which he is able to cover the ground by motor only means that two, and sometimes three, meetings must be addressed every day at small centres, long distances apart.

Mr. Conroy on the way to Dalton stopped at Jerrewa for an afternoon speech to the farmers, who turned up in fair numbers to hear him in a small wooden building on the hillside among the gum trees. Jerrewa is not a town, it is nothing more than a railway station, with a store close by, and to find an audience you have to get the farmers to leave their work and travel to the appointed place. However, they appear to be taking quite a lively interest in politics, and numbers of horses stood tied up under the trees while their owners heard the story of misdirected Labour efforts.

On Saturday night Mr. Conroy was at Dalton, a township a few miles from Gunning, on the main southern line. It is one of the few Liberal strongholds in the district, for even in the defeat of 1910, Liberalism had there its majority, the figures being 287 to 201. The people in the vicinity are mostly small farmers, upon whom the increase in the cost of living has a marked pressure. Mr. Conroy told them of the Commonwealth note issue, and spoke on matters of finance generally. Referring incidentally to the State Government's Daceyville scheme, he struck a vibratory chord when he informed the farmers that it was going to absorb half a million. "Who's got to pay it?" he asked. The farmers generally reply to such questions as one man—"The man on the land," and Dalton expressed its emphatic opinion in that way. Mr. Conroy's argument was, of course, that the half million might, more in consonance with sound economics, be spent on grain elevators, wheat sheds, railway duplications, etc., which would add to the prosperity of the country and city alike. He said he had been blamed for not having spent any time in the constituency when he was in Parliament. His explanation of that was that the first years of the Federal Parliament were so strenuous that there was little time to travel about the country, and during the drought his spare days were taken up in trying to save his own starving stock. There were 120 places in the electorate where a man might address audiences, and it was impossible to get to them all. Matters were different now. The Labour party had in their two years and 10 months of office spent about nine months only in session. They had shorter sessions and longer recesses. Some of the Labour party in the earlier days used to sit back and say, "Give us work," and those were the men who hardly ever had a sensible suggestion to throw into the debate.

MEETING AT BINALONG.

Mr. Conroy addressed a well-attended meeting at Bowning on Thursday afternoon, and then went on to Binalong. In the local hall he had a good meeting. He addressed himself to his favourite theme of finances—the Labour party's taxation. "You may hear it said," he observed, "that I am talking this way, because of the wealthy men, but it's not the wealthy man's vote that will put me in. There are probably not more than a couple of hundred wealthy men in the whole electorate. It's the vote of the great body of workers and farmers, whose interests are to be secured, and I appeal to the good sense of the community. Is it any wonder that the people are beginning to say that the pressure of prices has been so great that there is really no increase in wages at all. At the present time the amount of taxation is about five pounds per person, so that a family of five is taxed to the extent of £25 pounds a year—ten shillings a week. These men are inflicting a serious injury on the community as a whole."

MR. FLOWERS AT NEWCASTLE.

PROPOSED NEW TRAMWAY.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

Messrs. F. Flowers and S. W. Conyers, members of the Tramway Construction Advisory Board, sat at the Wickham Council-chambers yesterday, and took evidence regarding the proposed construction of a tramline from Wickham to Smedmore and Maryville, a distance of about one mile. A number of witnesses gave evidence regarding the population and the increase in the number of houses constructed at Maryville.

Mr. Flowers said the committee would consider the matter and report to the Minister during the week.

Mr. W. C. Grahame, M.P., afterwards introduced a deputation, consisting of the Mayor and aldermen of Wickham, to Mr. Flowers, Vice-President of the Executive Council. The deputation asked for a grant to enable them to put the main drain running through the municipality into a more sanitary condition.

Mr. Flowers, who had inspected the drain previously, said he had been positively alarmed, and thought the nuisance should be abated. He would, together with Mr. Grahame, make representations to Mr. Griffith, the Minister for Works, on the subject.

ALIENS AS CITIZENS.

PERTH, Sunday.

Replying to a charge that the Government had granted a lease of the foreshore at Broome to a Japanese for fishing purposes, Mr. Bath, Minister for Lands, says the lease was recommended by the resident magistrate and the Broome Municipal Council, and the Government had no power to refuse. When the Minister in 1904 refused a license to an Afghan the latter appealed to the Supreme Court, which held that the Minister had no right to refuse applications because the applicants were coloured aliens.

MILITARY.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN INSPECTION.

PERTH, Sunday.

The annual inspection of the metropolitan military forces was made on Saturday by Major-General Kirkpatrick, the troops being put through a scheme of attack and repulse.

The Imperial veterans and returned South African soldiers paraded at the St. George's demonstration, held near the Fallen Soldiers' Monument this afternoon, the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, being present. Bishop Riley subsequently conducted a service at St. George's Cathedral.

NEWCASTLE.

COAL AND OTHER EXPORTS.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The following vessels were cleared at the Newcastle Customs-house to-day:—Bauenfels, s, for Tobang, with 7180 tons coal and 1100 tons bunkers; Wear, s, for Melbourne, with 2500 tons coal and 150 tons bunkers; Erato, s, for Talcohuano, with 2635 tons coal and 13 tons ship's use; Magdeburg, s, for Hamburg, via Port Pirie, with 1100 tons coal; Inga, s, for Kaipara, with 1100 tons coal and 180 tons bunkers.

JURY DISAGREE.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY CASE.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

The case in which Charles Brown Kellow and Raymond Ewart Kemsley were charged with having conspired to obtain from the Melbourne Taxi-Cab Company certain large sums of money resulted to-day in the disagreement on the part of the jury after 13 hours' consideration.

The two defendants were remanded till the next sitting of the Criminal Court on bail of £500 each.

The annual meeting of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital will be held at the hospital this afternoon at 3 o'clock. His Excellency the Governor will preside.

CASUALTIES.

TRAM ACCIDENT.

Newtown Bridge was the scene of a tram accident at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday. George Wright, 45, a labourer, of Taylor-street, Annandale, being knocked down. He sustained a crushed foot, and was considerably affected by the shock. Dr. Wallace, at Prince Alfred Hospital, received Wright from the Civil Ambulance, and admitted him for treatment.

SEAMAN'S FATAL FALL.

Dr. Carruthers, of Balmain, and the Civil Ambulance were urgently summoned to the Government dock at Cockatoo Island early on Saturday afternoon. There it was found that a seaman named Patrick Doyle, 36 years, had fallen from the deck of H.M.S. Fantome to the base of the stone dock below. The poor fellow fell on to his head, a distance of about 20ft, and received a fracture of the skull, from which he died in the Balmain Hospital shortly afterwards.

MINER INJURED.

WOLLONGONG, Sunday.

A miner named Colin Cooper was knocked down by a skip loaded with coal in the Mount Pleasant mine, and received severe injuries to his back. He was subsequently removed to his home by members of the St. John Ambulance.

MOTOR CYCLE ACCIDENT.

PERTH, Sunday.

Clarence Jacobson, of Woodlupine, while riding a motor bicycle from Fremantle to Perth last night, dashed into a motor car driven by H. C. Fearn. Jacobson had both legs and several ribs broken, and has not regained consciousness. Fearn asserts there was no light on the motor cycle.

A DRINKING BOUT.

WAGGA, Sunday.

John Collins Ayres is at present in Wagga Hospital with a wound in his throat, which he says was self-inflicted whilst suffering from the effects of a drinking bout. He was brought to Wagga from Tarcutta, where he had been found by Constable Pye leaning against a tree in a paddock.

COOLER WEATHER.

Excepting for a few light seaboard showers, fine and clear weather ruled over New South Wales during the past two days. Byron Bay had 11 points, Seal Rocks 5, Cape Hawke 4, Ballina 2, and Sydney 1 point, made up of a few spots of rain on Friday morning, and a heavy dew during the night. Frosts are still prevalent along the highlands, and the nights generally are cold, with the majority of the minimums under 50 degrees, and a good number under 40 degrees.

The lowest readings were 31 degrees at Bingara, Coonabarabran, Armidale, Mudgee, and Rockley. The midday registrations were all in the sixties or seventies (degrees), except for a few at scattered places in the western districts, which reached as high as the eighties (degrees). The highest was 87 degrees, at Cudgellico.

The cooler weather is due to the gradual spread of high-pressure conditions, which show a slight intensification, as also a movement eastward to our western districts. There is also a steepening of the isobars in the south-east corner of New South Wales, due to an expansion of the very energetic disturbance over the South Tasman Sea. This should result in freshening west-south-west winds on the South Coast.

NO LICENSE.

SECOND NATIONAL CONFERENCE.

The 29th annual convention of the N.S.W. Alliance and the second national no-license conference will be held from April 28 to May 2.

The first national conference was held last year before the annual convention, but this year it has been thought wise to combine the two events.

The alliance is practically a federation of the churches for temperance work, and churches of all denominations have been requested to observe Sunday, April 28 as "Alliance Sunday," by temperance sermons (or special reference to the temperance question); special prayer for the N.S.W. Alliance and all temperance bodies, temperance addresses in the Sunday schools, pledge-signing by Sunday scholars, temperance subjects at brotherhoods, and after church temperance rallies in local centres. On Monday, April 29, the annual business meeting of members of the alliance will be held in the Bathurst-street Baptist Church. It is a matter of considerable regret to the alliance that their venerated president, Archdeacon Boyce, will be prevented through a nervous breakdown from occupying his customary place as chairman of the meetings. In his absence the acting-president, the Rev. Professor T. E. Clouston, D.D., will occupy the chair.

The annual report and financial statement will be presented, and the personnel of the new State council declared. The conference proper will commence on Tuesday, 30th inst., in the same place, and the annual public meeting, which will bring the conference to an end, will be held in the Protestant Hall on May 2.

The speaker of the evening will be Rev. John Dawson, general secretary N.Z. Alliance, who has for many years been in the very centre of the N.Z. anti-liquor fight, and knows every phase of the question.

WORK AT COLLIERIES.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

The fortnight just ended has proved a very busy one for the colliery industry. Out of 38 pits in the two districts no fewer than 26 enjoyed full time, three were less than one day short of the total, two others lost only one day's work, and only three worked less than eight days—a period which the miners consider a satisfactory fortnight's work. Details are as follows:—Co-operative, Rhondda, Northern Extended, Neath, Newcastle A, Whitburn, Hebburn, Lambert B, Burwood, Abermain, Wallsend Pit and Tunnel, Ellermore Vale, Back Creek, Duckenfield, Pelaw Main, Aberdare, Dudley, New Lambton, Pacific, Northumberland, South Greta, Borehole, Lymington, Broxburn, Burwood Extended, 11 days each; Stanford Merthyr, 10½ days; Hetton, 10½ days; East Greta, 10½ days; Aberdare Extended and Shortland, 10 days each; West Wallsend and Lambton, nine days each; Killingworth, Sea Pit, and Marylands, eight days each; Seaham No. 1, 5½ days; Seaham No. 2, five days; Waratah, three days.

TOTALISATOR RELIABILITY.

PERTH, Saturday.

The question of the reliability of the totalisator records at the proprietary race club's meeting was before the Perth Police Court on Thursday, when J. M'Farlane and A. W. Glover, employed as totalisator clerks by the Canning Park Club, were charged with falsifying the club's totalisator records.

Evidence was given to the effect that the secretary's suspicions were aroused in respect to the v[illegible]lation "fractions," and that on an investigation being made, £2 was found short in one race, and the posting record of the dividend had been destroyed. Accused were the officials concerned, the one receiving and the other certifying.

The hearing was adjourned.

BOXING.

FLYNN OUTPOINTS BARRY.

The return match between Dan Flynn and Jim Barry was decided at the Stadium on Saturday night, Flynn won on points after the full journey had been completed.

Barry, although looking in good condition, was slower than ever, and he showed no improvement whatever in his methods. This, of course, made Flynn's task all the lighter, and, as he has previously had a lot of experience in regard to Barry's style, he had little or no difficulty in anticipating his moves.

The most noticeable feature of the contest was Flynn's coolness, and the matter-of-fact way in which he went about his business. He was never there when danger threatened, but always came back immediately. There was plenty of power behind his punches, and as they landed with surprising frequency Barry grew very tired at the end of the contest, and in the final round was hard pressed.

UNHOLZ DEFEATS MURRAY.

George Unholz, the American lightweight, convincingly defeated Peter Murray, of Marrickville, at the Gaiety Athletic Club on Saturday night. The towel was thrown in from Murray's corner at the end of the sixth round.

SULLIVAN OUTPOINTS ELLIOTT.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

Sid. Sullivan secured a points decision over Billy Elliott, at the Olympic Stadium on Saturday night, after a good contest of 20 rounds.

MACFARLAND BEATS WELLS.

NEW YORK, April 27.

Packy MacFarland defeated Matt. Wells, the English lightweight champion, in 10 rounds last night. There were 8000 people present.

Wells lost his head, and sought to inflict a knock-out, but MacFarland side-stepped all his heavy blows. MacFarland led in every round.

WARREN GAINS DECISION OVER FLEMING.

WOLLONGONG, Sunday.

Yesterday, at the Star Stadium, a boxing contest took place between Billy Warren, of America, and Maurice Fleming, of South Africa. The contest had gone almost four rounds, when Fleming broke one of his arms through coming into contact with his opponent's arm. Warren was declared the winner.

—A PHENOMENAL SALE—

OF SLIGHTLY USED AND SECOND-HAND

PIANOLAS AND PIANOLA PIANOS.

TAKEN IN PART-PAYMENT ON

STEINWAY AND STECK PIANOLA PIANOS.

You know something of the world-wide success of the STEINWAY and STECK PIANOLA PIANO. You know that it is being purchased by the class of people who are accustomed to own the LATEST AND BEST OF EVERYTHING.

BUT—have you ever considered that many of the people who have owned the Pianola in cabinet form (attachable to any Piano) for the last three or four years, have now decided to purchase the 1912 PIANOLA PIANO. What becomes of their instruments when the 1912 type of instrument is installed?

You will find the answer in this special sale at Pianola Hall. Here are Pianolas, and also a few Pianola Pianos, which 3 or 4 years ago were entirely satisfactory to their owners up to the moment when they decided they would rather have the latest instrument.

That circumstance alone is enough to fix, unmistakably, the character of the instruments we are now offering. If the Combination Piano had never been invented, the chances are, these exchanged Pianolas would still be in some of the finest homes in Sydney, AND THIS OPPORTUNITY WOULD NEVER HAVE OCCURRED.

You cannot go directly to some prominent person who owns a 60-Guinea Pianola and offer to buy it. But the Manufacturers of the PIANOLA Piano (THE PIANOLA COMPANY) are constantly dealing with this class of people, thus a special sale at Pianola Hall has greater significance—that is why the individual instruments exhibit such splendid condition, and why they attract people who would ordinarily be interested only in strictly new Pianolas.

Below we describe several excellent PIANOLA BARGAINS. The great demand during this month for this year's Pianola Piano resulted in our receiving some exceptionally fine Pianolas in part exchange, besides several other well-known Piano players:—

These are still earlier Models, but are genuine Pianolas, cost new, £60. They have been put into perfect condition by our own workmen, in four different woods. Sale Price £20
Terms as low as 12/6 monthly. They can be exchanged any time within 6 months at their full value, in part payment on a more modern instrument.

Including 24 rolls of Claviola Music, well-assorted. This is not one of the most modern instruments, but it is a genuine Claviola, and cost £60 new. Sale Price £24
Three years' terms can be arranged.

WHEELOCK PIANOLA PIANO.
This is an exceedingly handsome large Upright Grand Model, in Burr Walnut. It was purchased from us during 1909 at 170 Guineas. This instrument has been so carefully preserved that in tone, touch, and appearance it still looks perfect. It was exchanged for the 1912 Model Steck Pianola Piano. We allowed.......... £125 for this Instrument, and are prepared to sell it at that figure.

WHEELOCK PIANOLA PIANO (1908 Model).

POINTS TO REMEMBER.

The Genuine PIANOLA or PIANOLA PIANO is the ONLY player-piano which COMBINES THESE TWO:—
1. PLAYING ABILITY of the World's Greatest Pianists.
2. PIANO QUALITY of the World's Greatest Pianos.

Among all Piano-playing instruments, the title of the PIANOLA to absolute supremacy is never seriously questioned.
It is the one player endorsed by the foremost musical authorities, including Paderewski and Rosenthal; adopted for teaching by leading educational institutions; and recognised abroad by decorations and Royal Warrants of appointment.
Do not think, however, because of its superiority in BOTH PLAYING ABILITY and PIANO QUALITY that the Pianola Piano is necessarily higher in price than other instruments or beyond your means.
You can purchase Genuine Pianola Pianos from 110 Guineas on easy monthly terms, or you can purchase 1912 Model Pianolas to fit any Piano from 42 Guineas.

EVERY INSTRUMENT GUARANTEED.
There is no chance of making a mistake in buying at this Sale. Suppose, after you get the instrument home, try it at your leisure, submit it to the criticism of your musical friends, you make up your mind it is not exactly what you want—then you have the privilege of returning it. We do not want any dissatisfied customer. The instrument must please you absolutely, or you need not keep it.

SPECIAL TERMS OFFERED IN THIS SALE.
Not only are the prices remarkably low, but we are prepared to sell the Instruments in this sale on unprecedented easy monthly payments. We are prepared to meet any reasonable idea as to terms.

Instruments selected are delivered immediately, and the payments can be distributed over a series of months, at your convenience.

AUSTRALIAN RULES.

OPENING OF THE SEASON.

The senior season opened on Saturday afternoon with fine weather, though a fairly strong breeze swept across the playing area. North Sydney, not altogether unexpectedly, defeated Y.M.C.A. by 56 points to 32; Sydney easily vanquished South Sydney by 62 points to 21; Paddington, after a keen struggle with Newtown, came out winners with 62 points to 48, whilst East Sydney had a forfeit from the Training College.

NORTH SYDNEY v Y.M.C.A.

This match was played on North Sydney Oval, No. 2. Much interest was taken in the fixture, as the former club was expected to put a much-improved team in the field. There was a good attendance of spectators. R. Robertson captained the locals, and Y.M.C.A., who had Bennison, Tasmania's late wing champion, in their ranks, was in charge of Ellis. With the wind in their favour, Y.M.C.A. kept the suburban team largely on the defensive during the first quarter, though North Sydney with the ball in Y.M.C.A.'s territory lost more than one chance to score with the wind against them. At the end of the first quarter the scores were:—Y.M.C.A., 1 goal 3 behinds; North Sydney, 1 behind.

The "cross over" brought North Sydney's opportunity. Some fine play by Hughes O'Brien, Robertson, and Clarke gave them their first goal. A second was added, and several hasty shots deservedly went wide of the mark. Half-time registered:—North Sydney, 2 goals 7 behinds; Y.M.C.A., 2 goals 4 behinds.

On resumption the wind had lulled somewhat, but was still an advantage. The third quarter was keenly fought, marred, however, by two or three ugly clings round the neck, which were rightly penalised; but on both sides strong individual play was indulged in, and there was an almost complete absence of hand-passing and stab-kicking, which is now the chief feature of the game. North Sydney closed the third quarter with a deficiency of eight points.

The final change over saw Y.M.C.A. go all to pieces. North Sydney made the pace, and their opponents, apparently short of condition, were almost wholly on the defensive. Final scores were:—North Sydney, 6 goals 20 behinds; Y.M.C.A., 4 goals 8 behinds—56 points to 32.

The outstanding feature of the match was the indifferent play by Bennison, and the fine form shown by the two captains, Robertson and Ellis. North Sydney's goal-kickers were Clarke, O'Brien (2), Keen, Robertson, and Wilson; and for Y.M.C.A., M'Farlane, Swan, Ferguson, and Lethbridge. Mr. W. Grayson gave satisfaction as central umpire.

NEWTOWN v PADDINGTON.

These two teams met on Erskineville Oval before an enthusiastic gathering. Newtown's team had undergone some changes since last season. But Laver, Adams, Foster, H. Blackburn, and Hortin stripped, and the new men, Munro, Wilton, Law, Fair, and Beard, who, with the juniors, Reed, Ellis, and R. Blackburn, gave their supporters hope that their first game would be recorded a victory. The result proved otherwise; but the game was stubbornly fought from bell to bell, and was only lost in the last few minutes of the final quarter. Hortin was the first to score for Newtown, his kick just keeping out of reach as it passed between the goal posts. Reed added a second goal, and a give-and-take game followed till half-time was announced, the score standing—Newtown, 2 goals 4 behinds; Paddington, 12 behinds.

The second quarter was remarkable for Strang's high marking, and the fine form of Robinson, an ex-Victorian, who with Watts and Chapman (an ex-Young Australian) quickly added four goals to Paddington's credit, Newtown's solitary goal goin[illegible] to Witton. Three-quarter time the score were:—Paddington, 5 goals 12 behinds; Newtown, 3 goals 7 behinds.

The final quarter saw both teams at their best, though condition was now telling on Newtown, and though they got within three points of victory, Paddington, chiefly by the efforts of Strang and Beaver, turned possible defeat into victory at the last moment. Full scores were:—Paddington, 8 goals 14 behinds; Newtown, 6 goals 12 behinds—62 points to 48.

SYDNEY v SOUTH SYDNEY.

These teams met on the Australian Football Ground, the attendance being much below that of the two matches played at North Sydney and Erskineville ovals. South Sydney, composed largely of new men, were no match for the runners-up of last year, who led from start to finish, and were at no time hard pressed by their opponents. The full scores were:—Sydney, 8 goals 13 behinds; South Sydney, 3 goals 6 behinds—61 points to 21.

EAST SYDNEY v TRAINING COLLEGE.

This match was set down for Moore Park, but only the former team put in an appearance, and at call of time claimed a forfeit.

SECOND-GRADE ASSOCIATION.

The draw for the competition games, which start on Saturday next, will take place at the Sports Club this evening.

SWIMMING.

MANLY CLUB.

HONOURING A CHAMPION.

The members of the Manly Club gathered at the local baths, and presented Mr. Len. Murray, the champion of the club, with the prizes and medals won by him during the season, and also bade him farewell prior to his departure for Papua on Wednesday next. Mr. Murray has had a remarkable local swimming career, winning the championship five years out of seven since the club's formation. During the season just closed he succeeded in winning the principal events on the programme. Mr. Murray competed in the test for the selection of swimmers to represent Australia at the Olympic Games at Sweden, and came fifth, just being beaten by a touch by Boardman, who was selected.

Mr. Murray is leaving for Papua to take up the position of secretary to the Governor of Papua (Colonel Murray).

SYDNEY BOYS' BRIGADE.

The Sydney Boys' Brigade should benefit considerably as the result of a floral fete held on Saturday at Roslyn, Beach-road, Coogee. The object was to raise money to augment the funds for the proposed new building. Mrs. M'Cauley, the hon. secretary, was aided by Miss Una Ackman. The grounds were illuminated at night by lanterns, and Japanese sunshades displayed everywhere made a pretty effect. Sixty girls, dressed to represent different flowers, made a tableau which was very effective. Altogether £180 was taken.

The fete was opened by Lady Harris.

Mr. J. R. Love proposed a vote of thanks to Lady Harris, and Mr. D. Story expressed the thanks of the brigade to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent M'Cauley, who had lent their grounds for the fete.

THE QUEENSLAND ELECTIONS.

The final returns in the Queensland elections have yet to be received, and there is still an element of doubt in the situation. Yet while the seats concerned may prove an additional gain to the Ministry, even at the very worst, upon the exceedingly improbable hypothesis that Labour is successful with each of them, Mr. Denham should still be left with a sufficient majority. He anticipates a majority of 17 in a House of 72. As things are now the position of parties in the House promises to greatly strengthen the Government's hands, a fact which shows that the prophesies of sanguine Ministerialists were by no means without foundation. Rarely has a State election aroused such wide-spread interest beyond its own borders. Indeed, the eyes of the whole of the Commonwealth have been fixed upon it, and the results awaited with the utmost eagerness. The reason of this is not far to seek. The Queensland elections were something in the nature of a test case. An opinion has steadily been gaining ground that there has been a revulsion in popular feeling of late, and that the Labour party would receive a check. This opinion was borne out in South Australia, where a Labour Ministry was defeated, but the one instance was hardly conclusive, and the Queensland elections were expected to afford a confirmation of this view, which they have done in sufficiently striking fashion. Both parties were hopeful, but it was thought that the redistribution, which has come into operation since the previous elections, might prejudice the Liberal chances in certain quarters. This fear was not ungrounded, as in the case of the metropolitan constituencies; but despite this the general result has been a vindication of the Premier and his followers.

The causes which have led to the failure of the Labour party in Queensland are simple enough. The election was fought on a clear-cut issue. The people were asked to choose between Liberalism, with its respect for the rights of the individual, and Labour-socialism. While the community has no quarrel with unionism as such, and recognises it as an established feature of modern industrial organisation, the bulk of it views with distrust that aspect of unionism which professes socialism and regards the State as a field for all sorts of hazardous experiments, whose failure would mean disaster, and whose success is, to say the least of it, extremely problematical. The methods of Labour as a whole have not hitherto been such as to inspire confidence. Queensland had a peculiarly bitter experience of them in the shape of the Brisbane strike, which had the support, active or passive, of the members of the Opposition in the House, and now that she has been asked to entrust the Government to those very men who, so short a time ago, endeavoured to subvert it, she has refused with no uncertain voice. Indeed, rarely has any party had such a rallying cry, and such a wealth of fighting material, as the strike has afforded the Liberals. It was clear to all that Queensland had come to the parting of the ways, and that this election marked an exceedingly critical period in the political history of the State. The situation called for united effort, and one of the most pleasing features of the result has been the solidarity shown by the Liberals. Individual jealousies were sunk; Mr. Blair, with his Independents, abandoned his isolation, and fought under the flag of the Premier; while throughout the country Liberals came to the polls in record numbers. In the city there was still much apathy, and the three principal seats have been lost to Labour by narrow majorities. But generally there has been keen interest and solid voting. Hitherto the apathy of the Liberal voter has been a source of weakness to his party; whereas Labour leaves no stone of organisation unturned, and the actual figures represent its full voting strength.

THE AMERICAN PRESIDENCY.

It already seems tolerably safe to predict that at the coming election for the Presidency of the United States there will be an even greater difference than usual between the real and nominal issues before the people. The Republican party, which has had so large a share of power for so many years, seems bound to suffer a process of disintegration similar to that which weakened the Democratic forces in the time of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan, with his gospel of free silver, brought into existence a class of men who, while claiming to be Democrats, always voted Republican. There seems every probability that at the next election there will be an equally large class who, while claiming to be the only true Republicans, will vote for the Democratic candidate. Whether the seceders will be the friends of Mr. Roosevelt or of President Taft depends, of course, on the result of the next Republican Convention. At present, as the "Times" points out, there is a far greater difference between the two sections of the Republicans than there is between them and their traditional enemies. The personal controversy between the two rival candidates is in full accordance with American methods, and is likely to edify the public until the end of the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt's accusations of disloyalty and treachery are the natural retort of an ex-President who has to explain away his pledge not to stand for a third term. The President seems to have the better of the argument on this point, since he can quote both the pledge and the guarantee by his rival of his own nobility of character. Probably the recriminations on both sides will be discussed by the electors as common form in view of the tremendous political differences between the candidates, differences of vital importance to the future of the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt's policy is an attack on the system of government which has come into being as a result of the working of the American Constitution, and which, in his opinion, cannot be destroyed unless the Constitution is radically altered. Put shortly, his thesis is that certain social reforms are necessary, and are hindered by the working of a number of vested interests. His aim is to overcome these vested interests by transferring the control of legislation and to a limited extent of judicial decision from smaller bodies to the whole people. As regards legislation he proposes to surround the State Parliament with the referendum, the popular veto, and the popular initiative. As regards the judiciary, he would make the State Judges liable to recall by a popular vote. He would make the Senate less easily accessible to the great corporations by handing over the election of senators to the people of each State, and would make both Senate and Congress far less independent of the President than they are considered to be at present. Mr. Roosevelt would allow the President to exercise all the powers not taken away by the Constitution or by statute. President Taft would exercise those powers only which are conceded in express terms. The difference between the two policies is explained by the differences between the two candidates in character and in training. Mr. Roosevelt is the popular hero of crude ideas, who sees the evil and thinks only of the first remedy suggested. President Taft is the lawyer of conservative instincts, who thinks most of the difficulties of change, and leans in favour of the existing order. The friends of the President appear to be confident at present that he will be successful. They rely on the conservative instincts of the American people, and they have, of course, the support of the undoubtedly powerful vested interests, with a few exceptions.

MEAT FOR GERMANY.

Sir George Reid continues his energetic campaign for the extension of our trade with the Continental countries. In the course of a fortnight's visit to Berlin, to be made at the invitation of a group of merchants interested in bringing about closer trade relations between Australia and Germany, the High Commissioner will lecture before the Berlin Chamber of Commerce, and there can be no doubt that altogether apart from those lectures he will, by official interviews, as far as is humanly possible press for the breaking down of the barriers which restrict trade with Germany in those foodstuffs of which we have a superabundance. In 1909 our exports to Germany were of the value of £6,394,634. The greater part consisted of wool, the value of that export being £5,006,623. Fresh fruit had a respectable showing, £26,835, but grain was little, wheat being only £9000, and mill offals £3487. But it may be said that, beyond wool and hides and skins, the chief exports were metals, ores, and bark. In the same year the imports from Germany were of the value of £4,538,612. Of the details there is no need to speak, for German goods are writ large in all our commercial houses. The following year our exports to Germany had increased to £7,340,455, and our imports from that Empire to £5,215,140. This trade, though considerable as the figures show, could very well be improved, and at present the chief opening is for meat, although an increase in our wheat trade with Germany would also be welcomed.

The agrarian interests of Germany, and especially Prussia, have so far succeeded in keeping out any except trial importations of meat, and the agrarian interests have behind them the ruling class, so the High Commissioner has a hard row to hoe. Customs duties are not the effectual barriers in this case. Those barriers are the slaughtering regulations, which, ostensibly framed for hygienic reasons, have for their principal object the prohibition of imports. Last year frozen meat gained a slight footing in Austria-Hungary and in Switzerland, and improved on what it has gained in previous years in Italy, but both Germany and France proved obdurate to the demands of their multitudes for a relaxing of the prohibitory regulations. Whether the immense increase of the Socialist party in the Reichstag, an increase which competent observers attribute to the dearness of food, caused in great part by tariff and regulation, will have any effect on the German rulers remains to be seen, but this much is certain, that the demand from the masses for cheaper food will grow in intensity, and if no concession is allowed that demand will show its strength in food riots, such as disorganised Northern France, in the autumn of last year. Sir George Reid goes to Berlin at a most favourable time. A trial shipment of mutton, which managed to conform with the German requirements, was at the opening of the year admitted to German ports and sold at from 8d to 9d per lb, the German authorities have been informed wherein Australian slaughtering methods by some modification may be made to fulfil their requirements, and, above all, there is likely to be more than the usual scarcity of cattle, because breeders, after depletion caused by the ravages of foot-and-mouth disease, will market fewer beasts, as they want to increase their stock.

AMERICAN IRRIGATIONISTS.

The party of American farmers just now en route for Victoria represent an interesting development, and one which may come to have far-reaching effects. These persons are out to investigate the irrigation areas of the southern State with a view to settling a small colony of Americans upon them. They may thus be regarded as the first fruits of the activity of the Victorian Government to turn their irrigation scheme to profitable use in the direction of inducement to settlers from outside. It will be remembered that a good deal of effort has been expended on this matter, and a considerable amount of money besides. Victoria has had, of course, in Mr. Elwood Mead, an irrigation expert of authority, and the visit which he and one of the Ministers paid to the United States a couple of years ago was doubtless of considerable advantage in bringing Victorian conditions prominently before the farmers. The difficulty of such propaganda work is in the fact that it is not always possible to offer such inducements as will tempt the right sort of people. In America irrigation and its results are at a high level of success, and California in particular blossoms like the rose under its great water schemes. The task of an Australian State is thus to provide such conditions as will appeal to people well versed in the subject, and with every chance of being comfortably circumstanced in their own country. However, it appears that some, at any rate, have been impelled to sound the proposal, and the advance guard of inquiry will soon be here.

There can be little doubt that they will be surprised at what they see. Irrigation settlement in Australia may only be crude and insignificant as compared with the prosperous agricultural life America has evolved from it, but Australia itself, and the possibilities lying open here to the man of the right stamp, can never fail of their appeal to the expert visitor. Nearly always he comes among us with only the vaguest idea of this country. The American especially, accustomed to the thought of spaciousness of territory, to whom, indeed, hugeness of bulk in almost everything is by way of being a normal and quite familiar accessory of his life, is not to be impressed as, say, an Englishman might be, by rumours of our vastness of area. But even the American, when he does come to it, is unprepared for Australia as it is. He has but small knowledge of its progress, and he knows scarcely anything at all of its ambitions. Nor is he much clearer on the subject of its agricultural chances. But in respect of Victoria, at least, he has been well canvassed of late. Hence, no doubt, this first batch of prospective settlers. They will start their new homes, apparently, with one considerable advantage—that of a cheaper water charge than is available to them in America. That is an element in their coming which our own Government should bear in mind. The country they are to farm will, no doubt, do them justice, and they in their turn will be of advantage to Victoria, in that they are experienced and substantial men, who will bring with their native American energy American modern methods and American new ideas. They should be well worth while to Victorian agriculture.

PROSPECTS OF THE SEASON.

Of the primary industries which lend themselves chiefly to export, dairying, wheat-growing, and pastoral pursuits, the condition of two gives some cause for anxiety. We are still wholly dependent on these primary industries for a continuance of our prosperity, our whole future is bound up in them, so that what is of vital concern to them is of vital concern to the whole community. Just now two of those industries—wheat-growing and pastoral—are vitally concerned in the weather. The coast where dairying reigns supreme has been favoured with bountiful rains. The milk is in splendid supply in the north, though not so good in the south, which is only to be expected with the cold weather coming on, and from south to north the land is in such heart as gives prospects of a continuance of good yields in the spring. But with the wheatgrower and the pastoralist it is different. Riverina and the Western Plains, as our special representatives on tour with Ministers have been at pains to emphasise, have not been blessed with the abundant rains which have favoured the coast. They have received hardly any rain for three months, and herbage is feeling the effects. Good rainfalls in November and December brought to a close a year with precipitation distinctly above the average in the greater part of the State. A hot and dry January followed; light falls experienced in February, though much below the average, raised hopes for a continuance of good seasons, and a further swelling of credit balances, but March went by with only one storm that had general distribution over the State, and that storm was light where the rain was most needed. At the end of April there is no better tale to tell. Out west and in Riverina hand-feeding of stock has been resorted to. Lucerne from the Hunter River flats, and chaff, is sent inland in large quantities. All this is reflected in business in the city. There has been a heavy falling off in the demand for farming implements, and for fencing material. The storekeeper, too, in the provision and clothing lines, orders only necessaries; luxuries he neglects until he can judge whether his customers will have the money to demand luxuries.

The situation, though it is bad, has not yet become acute. The position causes anxiety, but it has not yet become grave. That the lambing will give poor results is patent, for milk cannot be made on the food which many of the ewes now pick up. Still, if rain comes within the next two or three weeks, though it may not give much spring to the grass in the colder districts, many sheep which would otherwise be lost where hand-feeding has not been tried, will be saved, and the people on the land will have received fresh encouragement. The wheatgrower has yet a longer lease than the pastoralist. If rain comes within six weeks the farmer will be safe. At any rate, a fall of rain at the end of May or the first few days of June would enable sowing to be accomplished in many wheat districts. Indeed, it may do more good than earlier rains, were those earlier rains followed by a dry spell, for a good downpour at the end of May would place sufficient moisture in the soil to carry the crop well into the spring. In spite of dry weather, ploughing has been possible in many districts, leaving the ground ready for sowing when the rain does come. Thus the outlook, while unpromising, is by no means irremediable. There have been years when the country has been in a far worse state, and when it has been in a far worse position to meet reverses. Nine fat years have lifted a load of debt from the land, and have provided the means to take the sharp edge off the inflictions of fortune, so that if it does strike us the blow will not cut so deeply. The lesson for us is to continue those habits of thrift and saving which the first years of fatness found us practising, but which there is some reason to believe we have now forgotten.

New South Wales Commandant.—The appointment of Brigadier-General Gordon, C.B., to the position of Chief of the General Staff, in succession to the late Sir John Hoad, left the post of Commandant of New South Wales vacant. Accordingly the Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) requested the promotion board to make a recommendation as to who should take General Gordon's place. On Saturday the Minister received a memorandum from the board intimating that their choice had fallen on Colonel Wallack, C.B., District Commandant of Victoria. The Minister has approved the recommendation. Colonel Wallack is 54 years of age. He began his military career in the 4th battalion Middlesex Regiment as lieutenant in 1880. Five years later he was appointed adjutant of the Tasmanian reserve forces. His promotion was rapid in Tasmania, and in 1902 he became acting-commandant. His subsequent appointments were:—D.A.A.G., Victoria, Commandant of South Australia, and member of the Military Board, adjutant-general, acting-commandant of New South Wales, and commandant of Victoria. He saw service in South Africa as special officer, and was mentioned in despatches. He was made Commander of the Bath for work done in the field. The Minister has asked the promotion board to make further recommendations for filling the vacancies which will be caused by the promotion of Colonel Wallack.

Unattended Lights.—Commander Brewis, the Commonwealth lighthouse expert, has communicated with the Minister for Customs, Mr. Tudor, with reference to the criticism passed by shipmasters of the recommendations in his report to the Minister, that unattended lihts should be installed at various points. "I have personally inspected several unattended lights of the type I recommend," says Commander Brewis, "and have no hesitation in confirming my report. If proper precautions are taken with lights of this type they may be considered thoroughly reliable. No case of failure has occurred with them, though 1716 of them have been installed in various parts of the world. It is true that statements have been made about unattended lights of other types which have failed; but it appears that the failures were due to the absence of proper precautions." Referring to Commander Brewis's communication, Mr. Tudor said that it had been complained that a light in Spencer Gulf had gone out. That was the only failure that he could trace, and the light appeared to have been extinguished by insects. To guard against the insects the authorities had provided the unattended lights with special nets. Nine hundred miles of the rugged Swedish coast had unattended lights, and the United States Government was installing them in Alaska. He had received a photograph of a lighthouse near the entrance to New York Harbour which had been turned into an unattended beacon. He was as firm as ever in his support of Commander Brewis's recommendation. It was not altogether a question of cost that they had to consider, but they had to consider the hardships endured by the lighthouse-keepers and their families.

Influence of Picture Shows.—It appears that among the police there are some officers who consider that picture shows have a good effect on both adults and children. The Victorian Attorney-General was waited upon last week by a deputation of special magistrates from the Children's Courts in and around Melbourne in connection with reports that had been prepared by the police as to the influence of picture shows upon children. The Minister, in reply, said that he had read the police reports, and the views of constables were of diverse character. Some of them went so far as to say that these shows had improved the general conduct, and had prevented children from roaming the streets, and also kept men from patronising hotels. The great problem before them was to devise some system to deal with the abuse of careless parental control. He did not think any attempt to legislate against picture shows would meet with sufficient public support nor pass through Parliament. He could not give any hope that special legislation would be introduced to deal with the question, beyond saying that legislation would be introduced to prevent children of tender years from being in the streets.

COUNTRY CADETS.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher) arrived in Sydney by the Brisbane express yesterday, and was met by Sir Allen Taylor, and subsequently drove off with him. Mr. Fisher left for Melbourne by the express last night in company with Senator McGregor (Vice-President of the Federal Executive Council).

The Minister for Lands (Mr. Beeby) arrived back by the Melbourne express yesterday.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Holman) returned to Sydney from Melbourne on Saturday.

The Premier of South Australia (Mr. Peake) is a member of the Education Commission of that State, which is at present in Sydney en route to Brisbane. The other members of the commission are Messrs. T. Ryan (chairman), Connibeere, McDonald, Thompson Green, A. W. Styles, and J. Sincock, all, excepting Messrs. Ryan and Sincock being members of Parliament. They leave this evening for Queensland, where a number of schools will be inspected and evidence taken.

Sir Kenneth Anderson, chairman of directors of the Orient Line, will return to England by the Vancouver route, leaving Sydney on May 6 by the Makura.

Sir Robert Anderson, of Belfast, Ireland, chairman of Anderson and M'Auley, Ltd., Arnott and Co., Ltd., Vulcanite, Ltd., and the Milfort Weaving Company, and an alderman of the City of Belfast, is, with Lady Anderson, on a holiday visit to Sydney, after having spent several weeks in New Zealand.

Sir Joseph Ward, who is at present in Melbourne, is expected to visit Sydney during the week, en route to Brisbane. It is probable that he will be entertained by the New Zealanders in Sydney.

Sir Allen Taylor will resign the Lord Mayoralty to-day, and at noon there will be a function at the Town Hall, at which the heads of the various departments will take the opportunity of expressing their regret at his resignation and their appreciation of his considerate treatment of them during his long term of office. Sir Allen Taylor's successor will not be elected till Wednesday.

The Victorian Attorney-General (Mr. Drysdale Brown) arrived in Sydney on Saturday.

Sir William Lyne is rapidly recovering from his long spell of illness, and though still in a hospital, is now able to sit out of doors.

Mr. D. L. R. Bevan, a barrister-at-law in Victoria, has been appointed Chief Judicial Officer in the Northern Territory by the Federal Government. Mr. Bevan is a Master of Arts and a Bachelor of Law. He was called to the Bar in the southern State about 12 years ago, since which he has earned an excellent reputation. In the militia he is a major. He will leave by the Empire on the 11th of next month to begin his work in the north.

Alderman Owen Ridge, of the Annandale Council, and several times Mayor of the borough, has gone on a six months' holiday trip to Europe. Prior to leaving he was entertained by Mayor Robertson and his brother-aldermen, and presented with a pair of Zeiss binoculars.

Mr. J. T. Lipscombe, for seven years manager of the Newcastle branch of the Bank of Australasia, is leaving for Napier (N.Z.) in a few days to take charge of the bank's branch there. He was presented with a silver cigar-box by the members of the Newcastle Golf Club on Saturday afternoon.

Two presentations were made on Saturday at the Great Synagogue to Mr. G. J. Cohen, on the occasion of his 70th birthday. Mr. L. Phillips, senior member of the board of management of the Synagogue, presented, on behalf of the congregation, an illuminated address, and, on behalf of the board, a beautifully worked talith, worn by members of the priestly order to which the recipient belongs.

Captain E. N. Johnston, the American expert on construction of locks and weirs, who has been engaged to advise the South Australian Government in regard to the construction of works on the River Murray, arrived in Adelaide from London on Saturday.

Mr. G. D. Delprat, manager of the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, returned to Adelaide on Saturday from London.

THE BORDER.

RAILWAYS AGREEMENT.

"TRUE OUTLET."

Discussing the border railway proposals, the Attorney-General (Mr. Holman), who returned from Melbourne on Saturday, said there was an extremely rich tract of land along the northern bank of the Murray River entirely undeveloped. Land of a similar quality on the Victorian bank was at present in a flourishing condition. That was on account of the full railway communication with Melbourne the southern bank enjoyed. "The soil on this side of the river is quite equal to that of the south, but to connect it with Sydney we would have to build a railway 400 miles long, which would mean an immense expenditure. It would, if constructed, also be a permanent handicap to the producer, because of the heavy freights he would be required to pay. The true port of outlet for that country is Melbourne, and the scheme Mr. Beeby has now discussed with the Victorian Minister for Works is to extend the existing Victorian railways on to the New South Wales side of the country, thus making the land around there capable of supporting a large body of producers.

"What we propose to do in the way of expenditure is to bear all the cost from the moment that the railway lines cross our borders. But we have made a very satisfactory arrangement with the Victorian Government. They will bear half the expenditure on bridges and terminal connections."

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

In a speech at Mildura on Thursday, Mr. Deakin said it was necessary to terminate the State boundaries as far as railways were concerned, and he commended the attitude adopted by Mr. Beeby regarding the Victorian and New South Wales boundaries.

LATE SIR EDMUND F. HAYES.

NEW SOUTH WALES ESTATE.

Sir Edmund Francis Hayes, of Drumboe, Stranorlar (Ireland), and formerly of Potts Point, Sydney, who died on January 27, 1912, by his will, which is dated September 2, 1910, appointed his widow, Alice Isabella Hayes, Frederick Bushby Wilkinson, solicitor, of Sydney, and J. R. Baillie, of Strabarn, Donegal (Ireland), his executors and trustees. He charged his estate with the payment of £1000 per annum to his wife during her lifetime. He also bequeathed £2000 to her, and he left £2000 to such of his unmarried sisters as were alive at the date of his death, to be equally divided between them. He left all his furniture and household effects, heirlooms, silver plate, vehicles, motor cars, etc., to his wife absolutely. As to all his real and the residue of his personal estate, he empowered his trustees to convert it into money, invest the same in British Government, Commonwealth, and other securities, and pay the income to his wife during her lifetime, for her sole and separate use. After her death the income from such investments was to be distributed as she, by her will, might appoint; but if no such appointment was made, he directed certain provision to be made for any unmarried sisters who might survive his wife, and also for other relatives. The value of the New South Wales estate of testator was sworn for probate purposes at £5568.

THE WINTER GAME.

FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS ON SATURDAY.

LEAGUE MAY VISIT NEW ZEALAND.

UNION TEAM FOR AMERICA.

Interesting developments will take place during the football season which opens on Saturday next. The visit of a British team is not expected, but New Zealand and America will be brought into the vortex of international competition; and the interstate and local programmes of the League, the Union, the British Association, and the Australian League (the last-mentioned already having made a move with their fixtures), should further impress football on the popular mind as the national winter pastime.

After all, football is not a modern game. Its rules are modern, but enthusiasts who deal with broad principles, maintain that the game is as old as the Roman invasion of England. Upon this point the authority is doubtful. However, Fitzstephen alludes to it in 1175, and football is mentioned as a game in the proclamation of Edward III., 1365, it being found necessary to legislate against it, "because it interfered with the practice of archery." Since then the game has been played, first in large numbers, then in small. To-day we have the eighteen of the Australian code, fifteen of Rugby, thirteen of Northern Union, and eleven of British Association. In the olden days the ball had to be "carried" several miles from a point in one village to another—sometimes into the middle of a stream. Then the game was rough, and lacking in science; to-day it is sometimes rough and lacking in science, but, on the whole, a scientific pastime, which, if played in the proper spirit, is neither rough nor dangerous.

RUGBY UNION.

A few years ago the Rugby Union code held sway in Sydney. It represented amateur sport. To-day it is still true to "the cause," but in 1908 a new game—an offshoot of Rugby, called the Northern Union—came into existence, and, its rules being framed so as to make the game more open and spectacular, and the number of players in a match reduced by four, so as to give them more room to "spectacularise," the public, who are not prone to bestow their patronage on any spectacle unworthy of their attention, were at once attracted to the new game—possibly by reason of the fact that nearly all the "stars" of the older game had decided to play under the new rules.

In the circumstances, the Rugby Union game, which had held sway for 40 years, was shaken to its foundations, and it has not yet recovered from the shock. However, after starting last season in gloom, its horizon gradually brightened, till towards the end of the season the standard of play in the first grade matches was little, if any, inferior to that of the Northern Union game, as played by more celebrated players.

The incoming season promises to be much more successful from the playing view-point, though it has thus early been made evident that the newer game will attract the multitude. Apart from the grade matches, which are played under the auspices of the Metropolitan Rugby Union, there will be the visit to America, as outlined in Saturday's "Herald," and which will, no doubt, give an added interest and impetus to the local competition matches. Then there will be the usual interstate games against Queensland at Sydney and Brisbane. During the northern trip the New South Wales team will play at Mount Morgan and Rockhampton. The union officials are hopeful regarding the future.

RUGBY LEAGUE.

One of the most surprising events in the annals of Australian sport has been the growth in popularity of the Northern Union code, as played under the New South Wales Rugby League. Five years ago the game was unknown in Sydney, yet to-day it is easily Sydney's most popular winter pastime. Whilst other codes of football claim hundreds of adherents, the new one is watched by thousands. Its growth in sturdiness has been synchronous with its popularity. Already two visits have been made to England (from the last of which the players arrived back some weeks ago), and several New Zealand teams have visited Australia, though the Dominion has not yet been visited—a league team may be sent there this year.

Whilst the two trips to England have not proved successful financially, the games played in Sydney have reaped golden harvests for the parent body, whose takings last year amounted to over £13,000. Furthermore, the season proper, which will commence on Saturday next, is regarded by the governing body as likely to surpass any previous season. They consider that the standard of play will be higher, because the experience and new tactics gained by the players during the late English trip will be imparted to the local players.

Now that the game has been so firmly established in Sydney, and also at Newcastle and adjacent towns, the Rugby League is making ambitious efforts to establish it in other centres, and so far has made satisfactory progress.

The prospects of the various clubs have been dealt with in our sporting review, but in addition to these matches one will be played against Queensland, and it is probable that a New Zealand team will come across and that a New South Wales team will make a pioneering tour of the Dominion.

AUSTRALIAN.

The "Australian" game, although it has been played in Sydney at intervals since the "seventies," until recent years made little or no headway. However, at present the prospects are brighter than at any previous time in the history of the game in this State.

Since the closing of last season the governing body has acquired the freehold of the old Rosebery Racecourse, and the official opening, which took place on Saturday last, marked a new era in the history of the game. Indeed, the Australian is the only football body in Sydney which has a ground of its own. This fact bears eloquent testimony to the success which is being met with by those enthusiasts who think that this game should be the national one of Australia.

The governing body is working assiduously in the direction of putting the game on a more permanent footing by teaching the young idea at the schools—the nursery ground of all our manly outdoor games. It will be only a matter of a few years when the players of the mother State will be able to meet those of the southern and western with at least an equal chance of success.

At the end of last season a batch of 80 Western Australian boys left Australia for America, Canada, and England on a missionary tour, to teach the youngsters of those countries the rudiments of the Australian rules game. Their doings have created favourable impressions abroad.

It is expected that several interstate contests will take place. The members of the new branch of the league—second grade—will visit Adelaide and Melbourne in July, and the experience gained therefrom will undoubtedly have a benefiting influence on the future play of our city and suburban youths. In addition, the Sturt (Adelaide) Club will play here on July 13, and East Fremantle (W.A.) on August 3. The Fitzroy Club may also come over from Melbourne. The Canadian Cadets are expected to visit Sydney in July. Already 11,000 dollars have been subscribed in Canada towards the expenses of the tour.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

Whilst the British Association is easily the most popular form of football in England, Rugby has far more adherents in Australasia. However, the game is fast becoming more popular out here, and is likely to become more so, because it is getting a footing in the schools, and also by reason of the fact that large numbers of immigrants are arriving almost weekly from the motherland. It is quite possible, too, that before long visits by an English or a foreign team will take place. Quite recently a French club wrote to the New South Wales governing body regarding a trip to Australia. However, the time is not yet ripe for international visits.

The local competitions will be commenced on Saturday next, and a successful season is already assured. In addition a Queensland team will visit Sydney in June, and it is suggested that the New South Wales team should go north in August. It is also practically certain that teams from Victoria and Tasmania will visit Sydney, but the dates have not yet been decided upon. The South Coast Challenge Cup, the matches for which must be played in South Coast, is creating interest.

There is no doubt that British Association football is becoming more popular in Australia. In the recent international match between England and Scotland, which was played at Hampden Park, there were 120,000 spectators. The record Association gate is £7784 19s, taken at the English Cup final of 1905 between Aston Villa and Newcastle United.

All that is now required to make the football season an unqualified success is fine weather at week-ends.

IMMIGRANTS.

HOW THEY ARE TREATED.

CONGREGATIONAL UNION'S ATTACK.

REPLY BY THE PREMIER.

Exception is taken by the Premier to the statements made at the conference of the Congregational Union at Newcastle regarding the reception and provision for immigrants who are being brought out by the Government.

"No doubt the gentlemen who passed such a sweeping criticism on the immigration system," said Mr. M'Gowen, "were actuated by the best of motives; but it is most unfortunate that they should have made such assertions without first making sure of their facts. Misleading statements of that nature are frequently repeated abroad where there is no opportunity of correcting them and putting forward the true facts. The principal assertions made are that 'there is a lack of proper welcome;' that 'many immigrants tramped up and down Sydney streets vainly endeavouring to find lodgings;' and that 'the State arrangements for receiving them were miserable and disgraceful.' To show how wide of the mark these rash statements are it is only necessary to quote the case of the Pakeha, the boat which arrived on Wednesday last with over 1000 immigrants.

"An officer of the Immigration Bureau was sent to Melbourne, and he boarded the ship from the pilot steamer in Bass Straits. Travelling to Sydney he was enabled to interview all the immigrants, and to give them such advice and assistance as they needed. Other officers met the ship on arrival, and everything possible was done for the passengers. As usual, a large proportion were nominated immigrants, who were met by their friends and taken straight to their new homes. Those who were looking to the Government for work were immediately sent to employment, and in the comparatively few cases where temporary lodgings in Sydney were required, these were found for them. Within a few hours of the arrival of the ship the whole of the immigrants, numbering nearly 1100, were fully provided for. This is a typical case, and there are no grounds whatever for the reckless statements made of the lack of arrangements by the Government for receiving the immigrants. It is not an unusual occurrence for immigrants to sleep on board the night after the arrival of the ship; but this involves no hardship, and on the contrary, is a great convenience to the men, who, in almost every instance, leave for the country at the latest the day after their arrival. The arrangements made by the Immigration Bureau are most complete, and letters of thanks and appreciation are being continually received from immigrants, who frequently express surprise at the completeness of the arrangements made for them.

"The statements as to the conditions on shipboard are equally wide of the mark, and cast an absolutely unwarranted slur on the shipping companies and captains, as well as the Government. Similar statements have been made before; but the closest investigation has failed to find any warrant for them. Every possible precaution is taken to safeguard the female immigrants, and matrons—and in the case of large numbers, nurses also—are appointed to supervise them. The Pakeha, for instance, had a matron and two nurses on board. In view of the fact that the immigrants are now arriving in larger batches, arrangements have been made by the Agent-General for a chaplain to accompany each ship, and the Zealandic, now on the water, has a chaplain on board.

"The Government has always been glad to welcome the co-operation of the Churches in the welcoming of immigrants, and excellent work has been done in this respect by the Church of England, the Methodists, and others. The officials of those Churches who have been closely identified with the work for a considerable time are able to appreciate the arrangements made by the Immigration Bureau. It remains for the representatives of the Congregational Church, who have so far done practically nothing in this direction, and who are therefore in ignorance of what is being done, to come into line with the other Churches named and the Government."

IRRIGATIONISTS.

PARTY BOUND FOR VICTORIA.

IN SEARCH OF LAND.

HOW COLORADO BLOSSOMED.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The party of landseekers now on the Tahiti, which left Wellington on Saturday night for Sydney, comprises, approximately, 40 persons. They are accompanied by Mr. D. Dowrick, the Victorian Government agent. Mr. Dowrick spent a month in America advertising the inducements offered to settlers in the irrigated districts of Victoria, and it is as a result of Mr. Dowrick's representations that this party visiting Australia.

In the course of interviews, the members explained that they were not an organised party. They were simply drawn together by common interests in response to Mr. Dowrick's announcements, and through the fact that a special trip was arranged for by the Tahiti. They practically all go to Victoria, however, with the idea of taking up land and settling there. Many are prepared to remain now if the conditions prove suitable. Others will return to America to report to friends. It is estimated, if such reports are favourable, some hundreds more will join these pioneers. The present visitors come from California, Oregon, Washington, and parts of Canada. An important point is that they are all, or nearly all, experienced irrigation farmers. One who has his wife with him, and is prepared to stay, is an irrigation engineer, who had been employed by a prosperous irrigation company in California. Another was in charge of the Government irrigation experiment in Wyoming State for several years, and he is spending a holiday and utilising it to investigate Victorian prospects. Yet another is an expert irrigator, who has had experience in various parts of the United States, British Columbia, and the Argentine. If he is favourably impressed he expects to induce many persons possessing considerable capital to go to Victoria.

AMERICA'S DRAWBACKS.

Why are these people leaving their own land for a far-off country?

For various reasons. First, they understand that water rights are much cheaper in Victoria, while land also is cheaper, and equal in quality, if not superior, to American irrigated areas. An important consideration is that the Victorian Government controls the artificial water supply. Another inducement counting for a good deal is that the Government is standing at the back of the water supply, as well as of the land, and is prepared to advance capital to beginners. Still another factor influencing members of the party is the belief that the surroundings of home life and social conditions will prove more congenial in Victoria than in the United States, where some irrigated districts are far removed from centres of civilisation. Mainly, however, it is the high charge for water in the United States that makes these people migrate. Where the Government has developed the irrigation system, water costs from 40 to 50 dollars per acre foot, but where the development has been by private enterprise, the charges are much higher, in some cases as much as 150 dollars per acre foot. Even at this rate, farmers are very prosperous. As an instance of what may be achieved under irrigation, it was stated that there is an area of 400,000 acres in the Colorado Desert, California. Ten years ago it was an uninhabited waste. To-day, under irrigation, it produces annually 500,000 dollars' worth of dairy produce, 1,000,000 dollars' worth of hogs, and of cotton, 125,000 dollars' worth of fat cattle, and also 125,000 dollars' worth of the United exports musk melons all over the United States.

The party contemplate taking up land in Victoria in areas of 50 to 200 acres, going in for extensive farming, producing principally dairy produce and fruit.

Those aboard the Tahiti represent considerable capital. They appear to be highly intelligent, progressive men, who should be a decided acquisition to any country requiring rural settlers.

TITANIC SIGNALS.

WERE THEY IGNORED?

SOME REMARKABLE EVIDENCE.

BEFORE SENATE INQUIRY.

DEBATE IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

OLYMPIC CANNOT SAIL.

WASHINGTON, April 27.

The Senate inquiry into the Titanic disaster was continued yesterday.

A sensation was caused when a donkeyengineman of the Californian, named Gill, stated in course of his evidence that he saw the Titanic's white rockets 10 miles away at midnight. He did not notify the officers on the bridge because they could plainly see the rockets for themselves. An apprentice officer, however, he said, informed the captain, but the latter disregarded the signals of distress.

Witness added that he tried to organise a deputation from the crew to go to the captain and protest, but the men were "afraid of losing their jobs."

THE CAPTAIN'S DENIAL.

Captain Lord, of the Californian, denied Gill's allegations. He said that when he got into the icefield he sent a wireless message to the Titanic, which was then 19½ miles away, but the Titanic replied "Shut up!" and "Get out!" He saw none of the Titanic's signals. If he had received her distress signals by wireless he could have reached her in two hours.

Another ship—he thought it was the steamer Max—lay within four or five miles of the Californian all night. She sent up several white rockets, which were not distress signals. The Californian replied with Morse lamp signals.

Witness told the wireless operator to ascertain the vessel's name, but she did not reply to his inquiries, so he (witness) went to bed. He was told that the vessel steamed away about 4 o'clock in the morning. He was quite sure she was not the Titanic.

THE CHAIRMAN AGAIN.

Witness said that the icefield was 25 miles long and several miles wide. He doubled the watch owing to the ice.

When the witness stated that he stopped the Californian owing to the ice, the chairman, Senator Smith, asked him whether he cast anchor. He was apparently ignorant of the fact that at that spot the ocean was two miles deep!

"THOUGHT IT WAS HELP COMING."

Buley, one of the Titanic's seamen, stated that a steamer with two lights at the masthead was visible when the Titanic struck.

"She passed by us," he said. "We thought that she was coming to help us, and we told the passengers so in order to quieten them. She must have seen our rockets, as we actually saw the ship itself."

"SHUT UP."

Evans, the wireless operator on the Californian, stated that he went to bed at 11.25 p.m. Previously, on the captain's orders, he had warned the Titanic of the icebergs, but the Titanic's operator replied, "Shut up. You have jammed me while I am working with Cape Race."

The chief officer awoke witness at 3.40 a.m. saying that he had seen rockets, and wanted information concerning them. Witness called up the steamer Frankfurt, and he then learnt that the Titanic was sinking.

Witness added that it was generally believed on board the Californian that the rockets were from the Titanic.

Witness declared that Gill had said that he expected the newspapers to give him 500 dollars (£100) for the story in reward to seeing the Titanic's rockets.

"HALF AN HOUR TO LIVE."

Hemming, a seaman, said that he was asleep when the Titanic collided with the iceberg. He and other members of the crew returned to bed, but later on the boatswain called them, saying, "Turn out, you fellows; you haven't half an hour to live. That's from Mr. Andrews, but keep it to yourself." Mr. Andrews represented the builders of the Titanic, and had inspected the vessel below after she struck.

"BROKE IN TWO."

Crowe, a steward, said that before sinking the Titanic stood almost perpendicularly, then broke clean in two. The aft section floated back, then there was an explosion, and the aft section turned and sank.

Osman, a seaman, said that after the Titanic had lifted to a certain angle she broke in halves, and the aft section, before finally disappearing, sank a certain distance, and the passengers climbed on to the poop, which became black with people.

NO REINSURANCE.

Mr. Franklin, vice-president of the White Star Company, recalled, denied that there had been any attempt to reinsure the Titanic or her cargo prior to the receipt of definite news as to the sinking of the vessel.

"A FARCICAL INQUIRY."

NEW YORK, April 27.

The American Merchant Marine Association has issued a manifesto protesting against what it describes as the Senate's "farcical inquiry."

REFERENCES IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, April 26.

In the House of Lords yesterday, Lord St. Davids, referring to the United States Senate inquiry in regard to the Titanic disaster, remarked that the Titanic was technically a British ship, but the owners were absolutely controlled by an American corporation.

Replying to a question asked in the House of Commons by Mr. Munro-Ferguson, Liberal member for Leith Burghs, Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that when the Paris was stranded in Cornwall no investigation was held in Britain. The captain declined to give evidence which might prejudice himself. An investigation was afterwards held in America, and the captain's certificate was suspended.

BRITISH INQUIRY.

LONDON, April 27.

Rear-Admiral Gough-Calthorpe, Captain A. W. Clarke, Commander Lyon, and Professor Biles, vice-president of the Institution of Naval Architects, are to act as Lord Mersey's assessors in connection with the forthcoming inquiry.

RECOVERY OF BODIES.

The bodies of Colonel J. J. Astor, Mr. Isidor Strauss, Mr. Allison, and Mr. G. Hayes, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, have been recovered.

ARRIVED TOO LATE.

MONTREAL, April 26.

An official report has been made that the steamer Mount Temple went to the assistance of the Titanic, arriving after the Carpathia had picked up the survivors. The mistake made by the passengers on the Mount Temple, who reported that the vessel had disregarded signals of distress, was due to their thinking the captain saw such signals. Instead, he had received a wireless call to the Titanic.

A GREAT TOTAL.

UNDERWRITERS' LOSSES.

LONDON, April 27.

Owing to seven vessels being hopelessly overdue, the underwriters' losses during the past four months amount to about £5,000,000.

It is feared that the losses in connection with the Titanic, including the cargo and passengers' claims, will amount to £2,000,000.

RELIEF FUNDS.

LONDON, April 26.

Subscription lists have been opened in Paris, Vienna, and many other cities for the relief of the victims through the wreck of the Titanic.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN IN ICEFIELD.

A wireless message has been received at Liverpool which states that the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain (14,189 tons), while crossing the Grandbanks in a dense fog, 240 miles to the eastward of the spot where the Titanic disaster occurred, suddenly found icebergs ahead.

The engines were reversed, and the ship swung off, but she barely escaped a collision.

There were icebergs in all directions.

The steamer then proceeded to Halifax instead of to Montreal.

CHANNEL STEAMERS.

A SERIOUS ADMISSION.

Mr. Sidney Buxton, president of the Board of Trade, speaking in the House of Commons, informed Mr. W. W. Ashley, Unionist member for Blackpool, that the Dover-Calais steamers were certified to carry 1318 passengers, and a crew of 56. They were only compelled to provide boat accommodation for 256 persons, and accommodation for 24 (?) persons on buoyant seats.

THE OLYMPIC STRIKE.

VESSEL STILL HUNG UP.

LONDON, April 26.

The remainder of the firemen hitherto loyal, have declined to sail in the Olympic, owing to the trouble over the seaworthiness of the collapsible boats. The deserters jumped into the tug which had brought out the non-union firemen, whereupon the Olympic signalled to the cruiser Cochrane. Captain Goodenough proceeded in a pinnace to the Olympic, and remonstrated with the deserters, who were in the tug, declaring that their action was tantamount to mutiny. The deserters remained obdurate.

In the meantime a steamer was sent to take the saloon passengers off the liner.

The White Star Company has appealed to the Postmaster-General to support the company's efforts to secure the punishment of those who are guilty in connection with the strike, as unless firmness is shown the company will be unable to restore discipline and maintain its sailings.

April 27.

The ringleaders of the members of the Olympic's crew who left the ship were brought before the Court yesterday and remanded on bail till Tuesday.

The Sailors and Firemen's Union repudiates the action of the men, and states that it was due to the local Seafarer's Union, which seceded from the original union.

LIVERPOOL, April 28.

The Seamen's and Firemen's Union demands the right for union representatives to inspect all lifeboat accommodation.

A demand is also being made to increase the seamen's wages to 90s per month, and the firemen's to 100s per month.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

"THE GRAVEST ISSUES."

COMMENT BY THE "TIMES."

LONDON, April 27.

The "Times," commenting on the United States Presidential campaign states: "There is no difference between the Republican and Democrats so sharply marked as between the Republican party's two wings. Will the Republican party appeal to the country as a radical or conservative force?

"Mr. Roosevelt's nomination would imply a radical Republican platform, and its almost certain consequence would be a conservative Democratic candidate.

"Mr. Taft's nomination would almost as certainly produce a radical as his Democratic antagonist.

"The difference between Roosevelt and Taft is manifested most acutely in connection with the powers of the State Courts. The discussion raises the gravest issues. If the political power which the State Courts derive from the present interpretations of the law be an offence to democracy, will not the time come when the political power conferred on the Supreme Court by the Federal Constitution will also seem an offence?

"Mr. Roosevelt's policy is calculated to raise these speculations—hence the horror with which it has been met."

A PERSONAL RETORT.

WORCESTER (MASS.), April 27.

Mr. Roosevelt, replying to Mr. Taft, declared that the latter was giving way to the "bosses" and other privileged interests.

He declared that Mr. Taft had been disloyal to his past friendship, and also disloyal to ordinary decency and fair dealing, such as should obtain between fair-minded opponents.

Mr. Roosevelt alleged that Mr. Taft had been guilty of a "crooked deal," because of his misrepresentations in regard to Mr. Roosevelt's attitude on the trust question.

MEXICO.

A SEVERE BATTLE.

HEAVY CASUALTY LIST.

MEXICO CITY, April 27.

The most severe battle of the present insurrection is now proceeding in the Tepic district, where 2000 rebel followers of Zapata are desperately attempting to capture the town.

Heavy fighting is taking place in the streets.

The big cathedral has collapsed under the artillery fire.

There has been heavy loss of life and much looting of stores.

April 28.

The rebels are reported to have captured and sacked Tepic after severe fighting.

Looting is going on throughout the district.

BRITISH WARSHIPS DESPATCHED.

A British warship is en route to the Mexican coast in order to protect the lives of Britons there. A second warship is also expected to arrive shortly.

RUSSIA AND THE POWERS.

SPEECH BY M. SAZONOFF.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.

M. Sazonoff, Minister for Foreign Affairs, in his maiden speech in the Duma yesterday, cordially affirmed the alliance with France and the entente with Britain.

He welcomed the projected reconciliation between Britain and Germany, and eulogised the effect of the Anglo-Russian agreement in regard to Persia.

Referring to the United States' representations in regard to the treatment of Jews, he declared that Russia would not tolerate any interference in her internal affairs.

AUSTRALIA AND GERMANY.

LONDON, April 27.

Sir George Reid is to leave for Berlin on May 7. He is to spend a fortnight there, at the invitation of the German group which is interested in promoting closer trade relations between Australia and Germany. In the course of his visit he will lecture before the Berlin Chamber of Commerce.

REMARKABLE ACCIDENT.

STEAMER WRECKS DOCK.

SEATTLE, April 26.

A remarkable shipping accident has occurred here.

The steamship Alameda ploughed through the Coleman Dock, the finest of its kind on the Pacific coast, carrying 100ft of the structure off bodily across her decks. She hit a small steamer on the other side, sinking it instantly.

The accident was due to the captain's orders to the engine-room being misunderstood while the vessel was docking, with the result that she went full speed ahead. The captain then tied down his whistle, blowing a continuous warning. A crowd of people at the dock end ran to save their lives, but several were injured.

The crew of the small steamer were all thrown into the water, but were rescued.

A DARING BANDIT.

WEARS SOLDIER'S UNIFORM.

PARIS, April 26.

Bonnot, the motor bandit, who is being sought for by the police in connection with several crimes, including the shooting of M. Jouin, the Deputy Chief Detective, entered a Paris chemist's shop yesterday, and had his arm bandaged. He was then wearing a corporal's uniform. Bonnot was afterwards recognised in the vicinity.

The detectives have been ordered to shoot Bonnot on sight.

ARNST V. BARRY.

BIG EXPENSES DEMAND.

LONDON, April 27.

Richard Arnst, the champion sculler, arrived at Plymouth yesterday. He stated that he had had a slight attack of gastritis during the voyage, and he had spent some time in the stokehold, hoping to reduce his weight.

Barry states that he will not sign articles for the match with Arnst unless £700 is subscribed for his expenses.

Sportsmen in Sydney have long since expressed opinions that there would not be a race between Barry and Arnst, because nothing had been done to properly make a match. Arnst cabled £100 as first deposit, which amount was handed to the "London Sportsman." What is known in London as the Barry-Arnst fund, had, according to the latest English sporting files, only reached £118 8s.

BURGLAR GANG.

MASKED AND ARMED

DRAWN REVOLVERS.

POTTS POINT HOUSE ROBBED.

A GRAPHIC STORY.

At an early hour on Saturday morning a daring robbery was committed at Potts Point.

Shortly before 4 o'clock the residence of Mr. W. H. Couldery, St. Anne's, Elizabeth Bay-road, was entered by masked burglars, who for an hour deliberately searched the premises for jewellery and articles of value, while one of the gang stood at the bedside of Mr. Couldery, who is an elderly gentleman, with a loaded revolver levelled at his head.

The men were evidently experienced criminals, and they conducted the robbery in a systematic and quiet manner until the alarm was given. Then they made good their escape in a remarkably short time.

The scene of the robbery is a large two-storied mansion at the extremity of Elizabeth Bay-road, where it forms a cul-de-sac on the promontory of land between Elizabeth Bay and Rushcutter Bay. The house stands within its own grounds, which run down to the water's edge, and on either side are similar residences, occupied respectively by Mr. W. F. Hixson and Captain J. P. Rolleston.

WINDOW FORCED.

An entrance to the premises was effected by forcibly levering up the dining-room window. The thieves must have carefully laid their plans, and there are indications that elaborate preparations had been made for a big haul. They were, however, disappointed in this through entirely unforeseen circumstances. The burglars did not gain an entrance to the house until a few minutes before 4 o'clock. The lateness of the hour at first seemed strange, but there was a reason underlying this. It appears that shortly before 2 o'clock Mrs. Victor Couldery's baby was restless, and was crying, and this apparently prevented the thieves attempting to force an entrance till they were satisfied that the inmates were once more asleep.

A BOAT USED.

The men came in a boat, and made their escape by the same means of conveyance. When the alarm was given the morning was just beginning to break. Mr. F. W. Hixson, who came to the assistance of the inmates, saw the burglars make their escape, but was not in time to prevent them getting away in the boat. The light was too dim at the time to distinguish clearly, but Mr. Hixson is certain that there were more than three men in the boat. They rowed rapidly across the harbour, and were soon lost sight of.

A subsequent examination revealed the fact that the boat sculls belonging to Captain Rolleston had been taken, and there were indications that a rowing boat of Mr. Hixson's had been tampered with.

BLACK MASKS.

Mr. Couldery's first intimation that the house had been broken into was to see the men in his bedroom, covering him with revolvers. They wore heavy black linen masks, which completely hid their faces. Holes had been cut for the eyes and nose, but the rest of the face was entirely hidden. Every means of identity was carefully guarded against, as the men each carried dark lanterns, which when turned on their victim effectually dazzled him.

Seen yesterday, Mr. Couldery gave a very graphic account of his trying experience. During the whole of his encounter with the men, which lasted for nearly an hour, he displayed great coolness and presence of mind.

"NOW, YOU KEEP QUIET."

"Early on Saturday morning, about 4 o'clock I think the hour would be," said Mr. W. H. Couldery, "I was awakened by a noise in my room. I listened, and shortly afterwards I saw a light gleam. I thought I could distinguish a man. I called out, 'Who's that?' and a gruff voice replied, 'Burglars!' Then suddenly two men jumped to the bed, turned their lanterns on me, and presented revolvers at my head. One of them, who acted as spokesman, said, with obvious effort to disguise his voice, 'Now, you keep quiet; there are two of us to one. We don't intend to do you any harm, as long as you keep quiet. Don't make any noise, and no injury will be done to you.' I asked them what they wanted, and the reply was, 'Money.' I explained that I did not keep much in the house. I was not at all nervous after the first shock of being suddenly awakened and finding them in the room. One of the men began to look about the room for money. He opened the drawers and ransacked them. They again warned me to be quiet, and impressed on me the fact that as long as I did not attempt to give the alarm no injury would be done me. They made a thorough search, but all the time a revolver was presented at me. No chance was given me to move if I had wished to, which I did not, as I knew it was quite useless to attempt anything with such odds against me. Then I thought the longer I could keep them in the room the better it would be. Morning was approaching, and I knew it would be best to keep them occupied. My anxiety was that no harm would come to my son and daughter-in-law, who were sleeping in a room not very far away.

GLOVED HANDS.

"Have you any rings?" demanded one of the men. I replied in the negative; but he was not satisfied, and told me to put my hands out. I did so, and he carefully felt my fingers. I then discovered that they were wearing white gloves. As far as I could make out in the dim light the gloves were cotton. After being satisfied that I was wearing no rings they resumed their search of the room for valuables. They wanted my watch, but as this was away at the jewellers being cleaned I could not produce it. One of the men, to satisfy himself that I did not have it, felt under my pillow. They felt in my clothes, and found my watchchain and sovereign purse. There happened to be only one sovereign in it, and in my pockets were half a sovereign and some silver. I told them they could not get anything of very much value in the way of money or jewellery. They evidently thought otherwise, and continued to search.

"'Don't be frightened,' said one of the men. I told him that I was not. 'We won't do you any harm. At this game we never do anybody any injury,' he added, 'unless we are forced to.' After again searching for some time they came to my bedside. I noticed that one of the men had a refined voice. He tried to disguise it as much as he could, but it was easy to distinguish that the voice was totally different to what one would expect from a burglar. 'When the police come here tomorrow tell them that the man they got did not commit those burglaries they think he did. We did it; you tell them that.'

"After this they continued to search the room. They went about the work in a systematic and thorough way. They displayed great patience and perseverance, and went carefully through draws, boxes, and everything. They left nothing to chance. Being perfectly satisfied at last that there was nothing they could take they told me that they were going to the other rooms. I asked them if they had yet been in any, and they said that they had not. I told them not to go, as somebody was sick. 'It's all right,' said one of the men; 'if the lady gets frightened we will go away.' At this juncture a third man entered the room; he had evidently been outside on guard. They were all in their stockinged-feet, and did not make any noise. They told me that they were going to leave the man in charge of me, and as long as I did not move no injury would be done me. The two men went out, leaving the third, and some time afterwards I heard my son's voice calling for assistance. The man who was left in charge immediately rushed to the door. I seized the opportunity, and jumped to the window, which I threw up, and gave the alarm, yelling 'Police, police,' as hard as I could to attract the attention of the neighbours."

ATTACK ON THE DOOR.

When the two men left Mr. Couldery's room they went to that of Mr. Victor Couldery and his wife. They tried the door, but it was fortunately locked. "The first intimation I had that anything was wrong," said Mr. Victor Couldery, "was when my wife awoke me, and told me that there was somebody in the house. At the time I took very little notice, but hearing somebody at the door I immediately thought my father was ill, and wanted me. I called out, 'Wait a minute, and I'll be there.' I then saw a light through the fanlight. I asked if it was my father, and a voice replied 'Yes.' I asked threetimes, and got the same reply. My wife said, 'That is not father's voice; it's burglars.' They then tried to burst the door. I called in a loud voice to my wife, 'Give me my revolver out of the drawer'—as a matter of fact I did not possess one. A voice outside then said, 'Somebody's got a revolver, Jack.' I then knew there were two of them, and thought it best to keep on the safe side of the door. They again tried repeatedly to burst the door by rushing against it with their weight. They then lighted the hall gas, and I lighted that in my room. I went to the window and called as loud as I could to Mr. Hixson, who lives in the adjoining house. Fortunately, he heard me almost immediately. He promptly telephoned for the police, and then came to our assistance. But the men immediately made their escape.

THE ESCAPE.

"'Come, let's clear, Jack,' said one of the men. They then rushed down stairs and out of the house. I heard heavy footsteps on the path outside, so it is evident there was another man stationed outside, because the men in the house were in their stockinged-feet. They ran down the garden, and got into a boat and rowed out before we could reach them. Mr. Hixson then telephoned to the Water Police, and gave the direction that the boat had taken, but the Water Police did not make a capture. There seemed to be plenty of time to intercept them. The police from the Woolloomooloo station were on the scene in a remarkably short time after receiving Mr. Hixson's message."

SOVEREIGN RIGHTS.

NEW PROPOSAL.

KEPT A PROFOUND SECRET.

An important conference of Federal and State Ministers took place in the Commonwealth offices yesterday afternoon.

Those who attended were the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), the Federal Attorney-General (Mr. Hughes), the Vice-President of the Federal Executive Council (Senator M'Gregor), Attorney-General for New South Wales (Mr. Holman), New South Wales Minister for Lands (Mr. Beeby), and the Victorian Attorney-General (Mr. Drysdale Brown).

The subject of the conference was the vexed problem of whether the Commonwealth should be given sovereign rights over the coveted area of State territory at Jervis Bay, or whether it should merely hold it in fee simple like any ordinary owner of land.

Ministers were an hour and a half in consultation, and at times there were warm passages between them.

Mr. Fisher finally placed before the conference an entirely new proposition in regard to Jervis Bay. What the proposal was Ministers would not disclose. But whatever it is, special consideration is to be given to it at a meeting of the State Cabinet on Tuesday. This much was vouchsafed by Mr. Holman, and he added that he thought some advance had been made towards a settlement.

Mr. Beeby did not think that the time was ripe for publicly discussing Mr. Fisher's new proposal either. "It is likely, however," he said, "that there will be a satisfactory arrangement."

MR. FISHER RETICENT.

Mr. Fisher was disinclined to take the press into his confidence in regard to anything yesterday. He would discuss nothing in the shape of Federal on State politics, and turned the subject when the Commonwealth Bank proposals were mentioned.

HOSPITAL FUNDS.

MIS-USE OF GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY.

MINISTERIAL REMINDER.

NEWCASTLE, Saturday.

A deputation from Kurri Kurri waited upon Mr. F. Flowers, Vice-President of the Executive Council, at the Newcastle Chambers tonight, with a request for an amendment of the Act to allow of the representation of miners' lodges on the committee of the Kurri Kurri Hospital, and also for a grant for the erection of nurses' quarters.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. Kearsley, M.L.A., who stated that the nurses were at present sleeping in a portion of the hospital building, and they were now asking for £2000 to build a suitable nurses' home. Mr. T. L. Johns, secretary of the hospital committee, said the committee had done much to improve the hospital, and had provided a laundry and X Ray room at a cost of over £500.

Mr. Flowers: "Where did you get the money?"

Mr. Johns: "Out of the surplus fund, some of which was subsidy."

Mr. Flowers: "Have you been using the Government subsidy for building purposes?"

Mr. Johns: "We have no other means, and we thought we were acting wisely in spending it in that way."

Mr. Flowers: "Does that mean you had such an income that you practically had a surplus, which you spent in this way? I notice by your report that you had over £900 cash in the bank."

Mr. Johns: "That is earmarked by the contract referred to."

Mr. Flowers: "Yes; but these improvements are being made with money given to you for maintenance."

Mr. Johns: "We understood that the money was put into our hands to do the best we could with it."

Mr. Flowers: "No; don't you make that mistake. You cannot do what you like with that money."

Mr. Johns: "We are not asking for money to maintain the hospital."

Mr. Flowers: "I should think not. After having had £1104; the whole of the maintenance for a year hardly came to that. I do not say you have done wrong. I was only pointing out how much money you have had."

In replying, Mr. Flowers said it was quite the proper thing that they should make provision for the nurses. The only difference was that they had been using moneys collected, and subsidised, and granted for a purpose altogether different from what they were subscribed for. He was not blaming them in the matter, but it was against the principles of the Government. If buildings were required the Government would rather give the money in the shape of special grants. He had very little doubt that provision would be made to meet their wishes in this matter. With regard to the appointment of the committee, he could inform them that sooner or later hospital administration would have to be met by some alteration. He thought they might wait until the Government came to some determination in this respect.

CAUGHT IN WIRES.

A PAINTER'S PREDICAMENT.

An extraordinary accident happened on Saturday afternoon to Robert Hanratty, 20, an employee of the Balmain Electric Light and Power Supply Corporation, Limited. Hanratty was engaged about 2 o'clock in painting posts in Curtis-road. He partly finished one post, and came down, and then made a second ascent to complete the work, when by some mischance he caught hold of the only two wires that were "live" at that time of the day, the others all being what are technically termed "dead." Fortunately there was only a low tension current running, but, even as it was, he received a great shock, and was left dangling in the air, as it was impossible for him to relax his hold.

Soon a crowd gathered, but everybody was helpless to save him. The Civil Ambulance and Transport Brigade were then summoned, and were promptly in attendance, but they were unable to release the man, and it was not until the local branch of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade came with a ladder that he was extricated from his unpleasant predicament, and conveyed to the Balmain and District Hospital.

There he was found to be suffering greatly from shock, while his hands were scorched. No fears are entertained as to his complete recovery.

A CUNNING CHINAMAN.

FREMANTLE, Saturday.

Surprise was manifested locally when it became known that the Customs had arranged for the deportation of the Chinese Lee Ah Keong, who was a witness in the late Customs case, and who was recently arrested by Officer Gabriel in the country on a charge of misrepresentation in connection with a domicile certificate. Keong was sent away by the Armand Behic, which sailed for Colombo at an early hour on Thursday. He was to have been tried at the police court on the misrepresentation charge, but the case was withdrawn.

The Customs Department explain that owing to the cunning manner in which Keong had slipped ashore from steamers at ports along the coast when shipped away by Singapore liners, the Chinese was sent home by the French mail boat, which does not call at any port till reaching Colombo, from where he will be transhipped to a boat going to China.

WRECKED.

ON NORTH COAST.

STEAMER BELLINGER.

VESSEL A TOTAL LOSS.

CREW RESCUED FROM THE RIGGING.

The coastal steamer Bellinger, of Allen Taylor and Co.'s fleet, ran aground on the bar at the Nambucca Heads when crossing out with a cargo of timber on Friday night, and is now a total wreck on the South Spit.

The trouble was caused through the tug which was towing the Bellinger to sea taking the ground. As she did so the tow-line fouled her propellor, with the result that the Bellinger was unable to swing clear, and also grounded broadside on, close to the retaining wall.

At first the vessel was not thought to be in danger, and hopes were entertained of getting her off with the rising tide. With that end in view, a hawser was made fast to the retaining wall, but it failed to hold, and let the vessel slip back. While in this position she was repeatedly swept by heavy seas, which extinguished the fires.

Under the incessant battering, the little vessel commenced to break up. The crew and the captain then took to the rigging, where they remained all night. At daybreak, a dinghy manned by Messrs. C. Pickett, W. Power, and A. Bell, three local residents, put off to the wreck, and after making one trip to and from the vessel, and rescuing the cook and his wife, they were assisted by the lifeboat, manned by volunteers, and succeeded in rescuing the whole of the crew. The volunteers who composed the lifeboat crew were:—Messrs. B. Hamilton, M. Spence, D. Pallman, J. Stewart, and C. Parnell.

While the work of rescue was going on two men, Rock Davis and George Ashworth, swam out to the vessel with lifelines. All the crew were suffering severely from exposure when rescued, but Dr. Steele, of Bowraville, is in attendance, and accommodation has been secured for them at the local hotel. The crew lost all their belongings in the wreck. The tug remained aground all night, but floated off in the morning.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.

BOWRAVILLE, Sunday.

Captain Rosten, the master of the wrecked vessel, when interviewed with reference to the cause of the disaster, said: "The Bellinger left Sydney on Wednesday morning, reaching Nambucca Heads on Thursday afternoon. She loaded with timber, and left the wharf on Friday afternoon at half-past 4, and was being towed by tug, when the tow-line fouled with the propeller of the tug, which stuck on the bar. The Bellinger was eased off, but also stuck, each vessel being in the way of the other. The head of the Bellinger was brought round by the force of the waves, and she was carried towards the retaining wall. The vessel then commenced to drift. Attempts were made to make fast to the wall by a wire hawser. When the tide commenced to ebb, everything pulled away, and the vessel drifted back, soon filling with water.

Huge waves kept sweeping over her, and the water, entering the engine-room, extinguished the fires, and caused her to settle down. Every effort was made to save her, but she drifted on to the south beach, where the waves speedily washed away the houses, decks, and funnels. Everything was smashed.

"The boat filled in about twenty minutes.

"Several rockets were fired, and responded to by the pilot and others on the beach, but they did not reach the vessel. About 11 o'clock I and the crew left the bridge, because it was being carried away, and took shelter in the rigging. Here we remained until after 8 o'clock this morning, when we were rescued by the boats from the shore."

THE RESCUE.

At daybreak Pilot Spearpoint was on the beach and the lifeboat in readiness to launch. A heavy sea was running at the time, and the pilot, fearing that loss of life might result from any attempt being made at the rescue of the captain and crew of the wrecked steamer, decided to postpone the attempt. Finally a dingy was obtained, and, manned by C. Pickett, W. Power, and A. Bell, after a hazardous row they reached the wreck, and succeeded in taking the cook and his wife to the shore. They returned to the vessel, and after taking off six others of the crew started on the return journey to the shore, but while some distance from the shore they were caught in the trough of an enormous wave and capsized. Their case was indeed perilous, and all were in imminent danger of drowning. Still help was at hand. As soon as the accident occurred a number of volunteers, among whom were B. Hamilton, M. Spence, Dick Pallmann, J. Stewart, and J. Parnell, with the approval of the pilot and the police, manned the lifeboat, and went to the rescue of the drowning men. After picking them up they proceeded to the wrecked vessel, and removed the captain and others of the crew who were still in the rigging.

During these efforts at rescue two men, Rock Davis and George Ashworth, swam out to the wreck with lifelines. Davis let one of the crew have his lifebelt, and in returning to shore got into difficulties. He was rescued by his brother, Keith Davis, and is now in a critical condition. Fireman Joseph Lee is also suffering severely from exposure.

Immediately the wrecked mariners were landed, they were hurried to the hotel, where preparations had been made to receive them, and where they received medical attention from Dr. Steele, of Bowraville.

VISIT OF MARINE SURVEYOR.

Immediately upon the receipt of the news in Sydney Captain Cuthbert, chief marine surveyor of the Sydney Marine Underwriters' Association, left for Newcastle, where he will join the North Coast S.N. Company's steamer Cavanba.

Captain Cuthbert will make a thorough inspection of the wreck, with a view to ascertaining whether any portion of the vessel or her cargo can be salved.

CAPTAIN AND CREW.

Captain John Rosten, of the Bellinger, is a man of about 50 years. He is considered a careful master, he having been in charge of the Bellinger for many years. A decade ago he served on various vessels belonging to the late George De Fraine, since when he has piloted on several boats of the Allen Taylor fleet, and has often crossed over the bar when the seas were much worse than those which were running at the time the accident occurred.

He had just returned from a short holiday, most of which he spent in attending a conference of nonconformist churchmen in Melbourne.

The first mate was Mr. H. D. Carason, and the first engineer Mr. W. Dobinson, who was making his first trip to the Nambucca. In addition to the officers the crew consisted of two firemen, four sailors, the ship's cook, and his wife.

THE CARGO.

The lost vessel carried a full cargo of from 65,000 to 70,000 feet of hardwood timber, consigned to Sydney. The Bellinger was a good timber boat, and held a passenger certificate, although she did not carry passengers.

THE LOST VESSEL.

The Bellinger was 10 years old, having been built by Mr. J. Wright, at his shipbuilding yards at Tuncurry, Cape Hawke, in 1902. She was constructed of wood, her principal dimensions being:—Length 126ft, breadth 29ft, and depth 6ft. Her gross tonnage was 299, and her net tonnage 141.

She was a twin-screw steamer, and her machinery, which was supplied by Messrs. M'Kie and Baxter, of Glasgow, consisted of a set of compound engines, the diameters of the cylinders being 9in and 18in respectively, with a stroke of 14in. The nominal horsepower of the engines was 40.

OVERDUE DREDGE.

GRAVE ANXIETY.

WARSHIPS TAKE UP THE SEARCH.

The cruiser Challenger left port yesterday to engage in a search for the dredge Manchester, now seriously overdue from Wellington. The cruisers Encounter and Pioneer have also left Wellington on a similar mission.

The Challenger will search the western side of the route between Wellington and Sydney, while the Encounter and Pioneer will search the eastern side of the route for traces of the overdue vessel.

The despatch of the warships has been brought about by reason of an application made to the Admiralty by the Sydney Harbour Trust Commissioners, whose property the missing dredge is.

Last night Mr. H. J. Norrie, the secretary of the Harbour Trust board, stated that the commissioners were not greatly perturbed at the non-appearance of the Manchester, and still expected that she would turn up all right. He furthermore pointed out that it is possible, in view of the weather conditions which prevailed during the early part of last week, that the dredge had been blown a long way to the north of her course, and may even now be in the vicinity of Lord Howe Island.

As to the course to be taken by the warships on their search, Mr. Norrie expressed his complete ignorance, but added that when the request was made to the Admiralty that a warship should be despatched on the search, the fullest particulars available were forwarded them.

The Manchester left Wellington on her journey to Sydney at midday on April 6. She is therefore 23 days out to-day. Under ordinary circumstances she should have completed the journey in about 10 days. Still, in view of the boisterous weather conditions, and the strong southerly and south-westerly gales which have been raging during the past month, it was not anticipated that the little vessel would put in an appearance under a fortnight.

That time having passed without any tidings of the dredge, ever increasing anxiety has continued to be felt for her safety. What makes her case appear more ominous still is the fact that she has not been sighted since leaving New Zealand. That fact, of course, may mean nothing, as the weather has been very thick, but still the dredge would follow the usual passenger route between the two ports, and as a number of vessels have passed over the route recently it is reasonable to suppose that some of them would have spoken her.

Then again the masters of all the vessels which have arrived in port speak of the recent blow as the worst they have ever experienced, and express the gravest doubts as to the ability of the Manchester to pull through. Dredges are notoriously bad sea boats, their build making them very sluggish in their movements. Still it must be remembered that the dredge Triton weathered the storm which proved fatal to the illfated Waratah.

THE OFFICERS AND CREW.

Captain Downie, who up till some little time ago was wharfinger of the Union Steamship Company, Limited, at Lyttelton, is in command of the Manchester, and had with him a crew of 20. Mr. Schultz is chief mate and Mr. John Siddell chief engineer.

The Manchester was built over 22 years ago by Messrs. Simon and Co. at Renfrew. She is a self-propelling ladder dredge of 883 tons gross, and when she left Wellington had close on 400 tons of coal on board.

LANGSHAN OR ROOSTER.

FEDERAL CHOICE.

MR. O'MALLEY AND THE BANKERS.

ZEEHAN (Tas.), Friday.

Mr. King O'Malley addressed a large gathering in the Gaiety Theatre, Zeehan, to-night, and had a good reception. The Minister for Home Affairs said that while he would not say there was conspiracy among the bankers to prevent the Commonwealth Government from obtaining a prominent man from any of the banks to manage the Commonwealth National Bank, circumstances had arisen which had rendered the Government unable to secure a suitable one so far. Still, if they could not get a big langshan from a city bank they would get a rooster from the country. Anyway, the bank would be in full swing before the next Federal elections.

He spoke strongly against the Union Steamship Company and the Emu Bay railway monopolies, and said if the referendum were carried the Federal Government would put a line of steamers on between Tasmania and the mainland. He touched lightly on the preference to unionists question, and then only in an academical way.

A FOOLISH STATEMENT.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The statement made at Zeehan (Tas.) on Friday by the Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. King O'Malley, that circumstances had arisen that prevented the Commonwealth Government securing a manager for his proposed bank, has perturbed the rank and file of the Labour party, which had become restless through fear that Mr. Fisher would fail in his banking scheme, and thus prejudice the party's chances of success at the elections next year. It is admitted generally by men of authority in the party that Mr. O'Malley was foolish to make his statement that Mr. Fisher would have to go to a country branch bank for his manager.

Mr. Fisher made it plain when commending the Commonwealth Bank Bill to Parliament that he wanted only a first-class man as governor. One manager of a city bank was offered a salary of £3000 a year if he would accept the position of governor, but he declined. One reason why bankers will not listen to Mr. Fisher's persuasion is that his pecuniary inducements are not enticing. Men of the stamp desired by the Prime Minister already receive salaries ranging from £2500 to £4000 a year, and on retirement they are entitled to a substantial pension. Mr. Fisher can offer no pension rights, and it is understood that he is hesitating to offer a higher salary than £3000 a year. It is not likely, moreover, that bankers who have earned a reputation will risk losing it by becoming allied with Mr. Fisher's scheme.

AN ALDERMAN'S STATUS.

IS HE A RATEPAYER?

BLAYNEY, Saturday.

An extraordinary point was raised by Alderman Stinson at the meeting of the Blayney Municipal Council. After acquainting the council that he had paid for advice on the point, Alderman Stinson stated that he considered Alderman Black was sitting illegally, and was subject to a fine every time he sat. Alderman Black, he said, was a ratepayer by virtue of an official secretaryship to a local society, but was not now the secretary to that society. Alderman Stinson asked that the question be referred to the Municipal Association.

The Mayor (Alderman Bridgman) directed the town clerk to ask the question and explain the circumstances of the election.

THE OLD HOME.

PIONEER'S HOUSE DEMOLISHED.

NARRABRI, Saturday.

An old residence, lately occupied by the Misses Blaney, about one and a half mile from Narrabri, on the Boggabri-road, was destroyed by fire at about midnight of Wednesday. This cottage was built by the late John Blaney, in 1861, on land selected under Sir John Robertson's Land Act, and his descendants have lived on the premises until lately. The place was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

THE VERDICT.

FOR LIBERALISM.

QUEENSLAND VOTES FOR LAW AND ORDER.

SOCIALISM DEFEATED.

MR. DENHAM'S STRONG PARTY

AN ORDERLY POLL.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

A great victory for Liberalism was achieved at the Queensland State elections. The electors were faced with a clear-cut issue, Liberalism v Socialism, and they spoke with no uncertain voice at the ballot-boxes. In the last Parliament the Liberal majority was seven. In the new Parliament it will be between 17 and 20. The Premier, Mr. Denham, expresses himself highly delighted with the result. A feature of the elections was the Liberal successes on the goldfields.

The circumstances under which the elections were held, and the strenuous efforts put forward by both parties, made polling day one of excitement and suspense. There was no disorder. The wishes and fervid expectations of the socialists, kept before their eyes the prospects of office and power. That party boasted from every platform and street corner that it was certain to get there. Keen party men and women laboured as they had not done for many elections, to arouse the less alert body of electors to the performance of their duty. To a great extent they were successful, for in many constituencies polling was very heavy, and the attitude of the electors consistently earnest and resolute. Seldom, indeed, have they gone about their voting in a more calm and businesslike way, or exhibited more keen and sustained interest in the contest. In many constituencies visits were paid every house, and every elector who could be found, or who could be persuaded to go to the poll was brought to the nearest booth.

LIBERAL APATHY.

In Brisbane North the committees failed to reach nearly 2000 voters. That was perhaps the most glaring instance of invincible apathy which the day afforded. Indeed, it may be mentioned that three electorates—Brisbane South, Brisbane, and Merthyr—lost only by 150 votes. In many electorates the percentages polled were very high. The Liberal vote which exists, but persistently avoids the polling booth was touched, but its icy indifference only partially melted. The number of those Liberals who did not bother to go to the poll is still lamentably great. The socialists polled all the votes they could command. It was perfectly obvious in some booths that scores of those who presented themselves as voters, and wearing the obtrusive red, were not 21 years of age, but it appears there is nothing in the act justifying the returning officers questioning voters on this point. What will be done in the matter remains to be seen. A factor which increased the general feeling of suspense—at times most acute—was the alteration of the boundaries of the electorates. Large numbers voted early. Cases of personation were noticed, and doubtless these will be followed up.

RED AND BLUE.

The socialistic red ribbon and Liberal blue were very conspicuous. One socialistic candidate sent out two ponies decked with red ribbon, and ridden by boys wearing red, and employed in ringing cow-bells. There is no doubt that the massing of red ribboners around some polling booths gave a false idea of the strength and prospects of socialism. Except sentimentally, it did no harm, for the reds and the blues carried on their work side by side with great good humour. Indeed, orderliness and the absence of ill-feeling were very pleasant features of the day. There was good feeling amongst the candidates and their supporters everywhere. It seemed to be realised that a great party fight was in progress, and that personalities and personal bitterness were neither necessary nor helpful.

PREMIER SATISFIED.

CLEAR-CUT ISSUE.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

During the course of an interview this evening the Premier, Mr. Denham, said, "The issue was clear cut, and the electors, by the heaviest poll ever recorded in this State, have declared for Parliamentary Government. The exponents of advanced Labour thought in the southern States are at variance with the socialistic party of Queensland in that they have declared against the general strike, and about the only prominent Parliamentarian who has countenanced syndicalism is the Right Hon. A. Fisher, P.C. It is difficult to understand Mr. Fisher in Parliament. He is an advocate of arbitration and conciliation, but on the public platform he is an apologist for the general strike. His constituency, Wide Bay, has, however, given him his answer, an answer that will surely make him fall down with fright.

"But all this aside; Queensland has declared for industrial peace. It will now be our business to protect the workers against needless and wanton interruption of work. Stability in employment, and security in investment, spells all-round prosperity, and no effort will be wanting to translate into legislation and administration the voice of the people. The policy of developing the resources of the State, the construction of railways, the improvement of ports, and the opening of our lands to selection, and the introduction of suitable immigrants, has been endorsed, and the educational and humanitarian policy, followed by the Government in recent years, have been approved.

"My chief concern at the moment is with respect to rain, which is needed throughout the State. Given good autumn rains, business will not only speedily return, but the suspense and turmoil being now relieved, I anticipate increased activity in all industries. By the latest available returns I note that the Government candidates returned number 44, Opposition 26, Independent 2.

"It is worthy of note that the two Independents, Messrs. Murphy and Mann, were opposed by Socialist candidates. No doubt the Government may count on reasonable support from them. Of course, the state of parties may be changed, and probably will be, when the final figures are available, but it is beyond all doubt that in any case we have a much larger majority than in last Parliament. It may be remembered then there were 40 Ministerialists, 26 Opposition, and 6 Independents, and, be it remembered, the Independents sat on the Opposition cross-benches, so that in a full House the Government majority was only 7. As the figures now show, we shall in a full House have a majority of 17. If the Independents vote with us there will be a majority of 19. It is interesting to note that all the Ministers have been returned, one of them unopposed; whilst others secured majorities ranging from 600 to 1400. It is also worthy of note that East and West Moreton and South Coast districts all returned Liberals. Wide Bay and the North Coast, excepting only Bundaberg, also returned Government supporters, and Darling Downs, so far as we can judge, returned all Government candidates. The Government gained in the mining districts of Charters Towers, Mount Morgan, Gympie, and the principal coal-mining centres have returned Government men. In the Cook electorate, where considerable mining is now being carried on, it looks as if Mr. Douglas will be returned, and at the present showing Mr. Murphy, standing as an Independent against the Socialists, is likely to be returned for Burke, where mining is also done. I might add, further, that the details of the polling by the Government and Socialist candidates in the metropolitan area show that a substantial majority of electors are on the side of constitutional government. I cannot feel other than highly delighted."

MR. BOWMAN DELIGHTED.

BUT REGRETS THE MINERS' DEFECTION.

Mr. Bowman, leader of the Labour party, interviewed to-day, said it was rather early to speak on the position of parties, as there were several seats in doubt. He could say, however, that he was delighted at the success of the Labour representatives in the metropolitan constituencies. He took it as evidence that the strike had aroused greater political interest in the minds of the workers than had ever been displayed before. He deeply regretted, however, the loss the party had sustained in the defeat of the candidates for Ipswich, Charters Towers, Bowen, and Gympie. They were all men who had been valuable members of the party.

"On the latest figures available," added Mr. Bowman, "Labour has secured 26 representatives, but I am still hopeful that when the complete returns are in we will have some others in addition to that number."

On the result of the poll being made known in the Valley a great crowd assembled outside the booth and greeted the announcement with a tumult of applause. Mr. Bowman, who was enthusiastically cheered, thanked the electors for having placed him in such a proud position. Without prophesying, he thought he might venture to say there would be similar successes throughout the State.

Mr. Fowles, the Liberal candidate, briefly thanked those who had worked for him.

AMUSING INFORMALITIES.

There were some curious mistakes amongst the inexperienced voters. One lady tore a ballot paper in halves, put one half in the ballot box, and took the other to the returning officer. Some crossed out the Christian names of the candidates they voted for, others both names, others, again, used the Commonwealth cross instead of the State line. One at least lost a vote by adding the words "No good" after a candidate's name, crossed out.

The polling generally was heavy, but not so heavy as might legitimately have been expected, seeing the national and personal magnitude of the issue. But in many constituencies it was far greater than the average. Its actual outcome was to vindicate the policy and position of the Liberal Government, and to demonstrate the premature optimism of the socialists who declared that "on Monday Mr. Bowman will be Premier."

SOCIALISTS DISAPPOINTED.

It is not too much to say that socialists generally feel keenly disappointed at the result. Public interest was strongly evidenced at night. The streets and public places were thronged with people, keenly alert for the least scrap of news from the booths. This year the "Courier" did not post the returns, but issued specials at short intervals. As each edition appeared it was simply rushed. Queen-street was simply alive with people.

Before the majority of people went home the returns were sufficiently complete to indicate that there would be no need to fear a sudden descent into socialism.

NO DEBACLE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce), who is the senior member of the Federal Ministry in Melbourne at present, was to-day informed of the results of the elections as far as is known.

"There is no debacle, then," exclaimed Senator Pearce, "what has become of the debacle?" he asked triumphantly. "I think, in the circumstances, that the elections have resulted very satisfactorily to the Labour party. We have always done better in Queensland in the Federal arena than in the State, and I think the results of these elections are very reassuring, so far as our prospects next April are concerned.

MR. FISHER SATISFIED.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), in a brief reference to the Queensland elections yesterday, said that he thought the Labour party, under all the circumstances, had done very well.

MR. HOLMAN CAUTIOUS.

Mr. Holman (Attorney-General) said:—"In view of the immature results, I don't care to say very much. All I wish to say is that an appeal was made on the issue as between Liberalism and Labourism in Queensland. The net result is that Labour has not only held its own in the face of big difficulties, but slightly improved its position."

BARRISTER KILLED.

ACCIDENT AT ST. LEONARDS.

While riding with a party of friends at St. Leonards yesterday afternoon, Mr. Horace de Lissa, the well-known Sydney barrister, was thrown from his horse and killed. Immediately after the accident Mr. de Lissa was conveyed to the St. Leonards Hospital in an unconscious condition, but died shortly after admission.

The deceased, who was a native of Sydney, was the son of Mr. Alfred de Lissa. He was educated at the Sydney University, and after graduating in Arts, having taken his B.A. degree, he studied law, and was admitted to the Bar ten years ago. For some time he acted as associate to Judge Cohen, but latterly was actively engaged in practice. He was only 36 years of age at the time of his death.

We deal in nothing but Tea, so the leaf can't come in contact with anything not nice in our warehouse, and when "Robur" is weighed it isn't scooped up by hand or dribbled through somebody's fingers into the scales. It passes down polished metal shoots into automatic weighing machines, which are regulated to give full weight, and to tip the Tea right into the wrapper or tin. After that the package is sealed up, and remains airtight until it is needed for use.

THE RECENT REVOLT.

SHEREEFIAN TROOPS DISBANDED.

FEZ, April 26.

During the recent mutiny two French lieutenants and two veterinary surgeons barricaded themselves in a hotel room, which contained no windows. When the door yielded to the mob they escaped into a sewer leading to the river. For forty-eight hours they were without food or water, but emerged safely.

The French losses included sixty-five killed.

The Shereefian troops at Fez have been disbanded, and replaced by occupation troops. The new Pasha is arresting those who were guilty of crimes in connection with the revolt, and is restoring order.

A squadron of 175 Shereefian cavalry stationed at Suk-el-Arba, the headquarters of the civil and military jurisdiction in North Tunis, deserted with their horses, arms, and baggage.

P. AND O. SHARES.

CAUSE OF THE RISE.

LONDON, April 27.

Deferred shares in the Peninsular and Oriental Company stood at £405 yesterday.

The rise in the shares is attributed to heavy purchases by shipping interests which desire to force the Peninsular and Oriental Company to accept a scheme of consolidation.

The "Daily Telegraph" states that their efforts are "on the verge of a satisfactory termination."

The "Financial Times" states that many are selling who have held this stock for many years, and it is anticipated that further large amounts will be dislodged next week.

Another tornado is reported from Mexico, which is said to have heavily damaged farmhouses. Seven persons are known to have been killed.

This tornado is said to have cut a swathe half a mile wide and twenty miles long across country, destroying everything in its path.

The Australian cricketers arrived yesterday. Sir George Reid welcomed them at the Howard Hotel.

The Australians will have a week in which to recover their land legs and indulge in practice. They will commence their tour on Monday next. It is a coincidence that the first match played by the pioneer Australian Eleven of 1878 was against Notts, that D. W. Gregory acted as captain, and that 34 years later his nephew, S. E. Gregory, should lead an Australian Eleven against Notts in the first match of the tour. The 1878 fixture was played under very trying conditions. The weather was wet and extremely cold, and the Australians, whose practice had been restricted, were soundly beaten by an innings. The feature of the Australians' batting was Midwinter's feat of carrying his bat through the second innings for 16, in a total of 76. He was batting no fewer than 180 minutes, and took 63 minutes to make his last three runs.

CAR TESTING.

TWO DAYS' RUN.

CLIMBING THE MOUNTAINS.

DANGERS OF THE WINDING ROADS.

Again the immense value of the motor-driven vehicle for transport purposes has been proved. In the exacting contest arranged by the Automobile Club of Australia on Friday and Saturday the man at the wheel acquitted himself well.

Everyone was thoroughly aware that it was not a race, but a trial for reliability under hilly conditions, and everyone was ready to show what he and his motor could do. It was a test of the motors when travelling on the mountain roads and the dangers attending rapid traffic on these winding, narrow roadways cannot be exaggerated. The road surface right through from the foot of Lapstone to Oberon, and from thereon for that matter, was as near perfection as possible. Still, there was always the grade to face on the rise, with the possibility of someone coming around a bend unexpectedly, and then the rapid descent. The cars had to face this problem both ways, and, so far as this feature is concerned, they were all under perfect control, and answered well to the touch of the experienced drivers.

Major Philip Charley, who had decided to go over the route in his 40-h.p. Rolls-Royce car, found little difficulty in covering both the out and home journey. On the hill leading from the Jenolan Caves to Oberon, although his car was powerful enough to race the grade, the long wheel base proved awkward for turning round the sharp curves in the last two or three miles; but still, by slow degrees and the using of judgment, the car safely negotiated the incline. Some motorists met at the foot of the hill expressed the opinion that the length of the car would necessitate a return journey. The result proves what the motor car can do in proper hands. The other cars, although in one or two cases they were troubled by the grade, did not have so much difficulty owing to the shorter wheel base.

The motorists had good weather on both days, especially on Saturday, when the Mayor of Bathurst (Mr. Arnold Rigby), assisted by Mr. C. C. Sherwood, sent the contestants away, and of the number of competitors who left Sydney only one was missing. It was an inspiring sight to see the motors, which left at five minutes intervals, speeding around the winding roads amidst clouds of dust, but the most sensational item was the hill-climb up the Mount Victoria Pass. The cars had a compulsory stop at this point. L. W. Pye, in his Vauxhall, tore up the hill, but the most imposing sight was when the big Delaunay-Belleville raced up with Mr. R. A. Carter at the wheel.

The cars stated from Bathurst on Saturday morning in the following order:—

Mr. J. Maillard, Braiser.
Mr. H. Knight-Eaton, Arrol-Johnston.
Mr. R. G. Todman, Minerva.
Mr. P. L. Gowing, Vauxhall.
Mr. G. F. Hill, Talbot.
Mr. A. A. Hunter, Minerva.
Mr. J. A. Kerr, Fiat.
Mr. A. P. Wright, Armstrong-Whitworth.
Mr. W. H. Preston, Maxwell.
Mr. G. P. Innes, Vauxhall.
Mr. L. W. Pye, Vauxhall.
Mr. G. R. Gaff, Vauxhall.
Mr. H. A. Hunter, Minerva.
Mr. R. A. Carter, Delaunay-Belleville.
Mr. J. C. Walker, Daimler.
Mr. H. L. Spring, Vauxhall.

The cars finished at the club house, Martin-place up to 6 o'clock on Saturday night as follows:—

The arriving times at the clubhouse were supplied by Mr. W. C. H. Lippmann, hon. treasurer of the club, who acted as starter on the opening day, and was assisted by Messrs. R. S. Gillett and J. C. Mingay at the finish. Mr. H. R. Hill received the cars at the weighbridge. A notice posted in the clubrooms, signed by Mr. H. R. Hill, stated: "Reliability trial—results will be announced on Wednesday evening, May 1, at 9 o'clock." The final decision of the roads and tours committee of the club, who arranged the touring contest, will be awaited with interest; but as a number of complicated calculations have to be made and checked to decide the winners, not only for the sealed bonnet touring contest, but for the non-stop engine run, the petrol consumption test, and the times hill climbs, the decision of the committee must be commended. It is probable that the roads and tours committee will merge the results of the two days' trials into one competition, and award the first place in the various competitions to the cars which have lost least points in their respective contests. This is not definite, but it appears to be the general idea.

From reports to hand, Mr. R. A. Carter, in his Delaunay-Belleville, when within a mile from home, endeavoured to avoid a cloud of dust, and struck a culvert, both side tyres blowing out. The matter was easily adjusted, and the car was duly reported to the finishing place.

Mr. F. R. Crouch, who had to retire near Springwood, owing to a small break in his petrol pipe, pluckily rejoined on Saturday for the hill climb up Mount Victoria Pass, and his little Metz car took the stiff grades in fine style. Another competitor on a Vauxhall on the home journey, who had put up a good run, was prevented from finishing by a spring breaking when somewhere near Springwood. Mr. J. C. Walker, on his Daimler, was within five miles from Blackheath when he had to stand down, owing to the universal joint on the main shaft coming loose. The troubles were trifling, and in the ordinary way would not have caused much concern, but under the stringent conditions of the contest every delay was fatal. The main idea behind the scheme was to prove the utility of the motor car over mountainous country, and those members who have come through have run the gauntlet of a trial beset with difficulties.

DENOMINATIONAL TEACHING.

A BILL WITHDRAWN.

LONDON, April 26.

Owing to strong opposition, Mr. C. G. Marks (Liberal) has withdrawn his bill dealing with the transfer of non-provided schools to the local authorities.

The House of Commons on March 8 read the second time a bill introduced by Mr. C. G. Marks (Liberal), empowering the owners of non-provided schools in single school areas to transfer their schools to the local authorities, if the owners desired, denominational teaching to be given twice weekly at the expense of the denomination. The bill also provided that the denominations shall be allowed the use of the schools on Saturdays and Sundays. Mr. J. A. Pease, President of the Board of Education, described Mr. Mark's bill as a practical step which would affect one-fourth of the children attending the voluntary schools. The Government in 1913 would bring down a comprehensive scheme on a national basis, but in the meanwhile he was prepared to give the present bill his hearty support, reserving some suggestions for the committee stage. He urged the sectarians to accept what was common to the great body of Christians, or the country would adopt a secular system.

NO ROOM.

MESSAGE FROM MINERS.

LONDON, April 26.

Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., has received a cablegram from Mr. Brennan, secretary of the New South Wales Miners' Association, as follows:—"Publish that there is no room for miners here; ours unemployed."

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

The dead body of Thomas Armstrong, 45, was found on the railway line at Woombye, on the north coast line, early on Saturday morning. He had evidently been struck by the cowcatcher on the down train, death being instantaneous. A large wound was found on the scalp.

LOST KOOMBANA.

THE INQUIRY.

VESSEL SMASHED UP BY A CYCLONE.

IMPOSSIBLE TO TURN TURTLE

FREMANTLE, Saturday.

At the Fremantle Police Court yesterday a Court of Marine Inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the total loss at sea of the Koombana, on or about March 20 last, between Port Hedland and Broome, was held, and a large number of witnesses examined.

Captain Upjohn, master of the Bullara, said his vessel arrived at Port Hedland on 18th March, and the Koombana on the 19th. Both steamers left on the 20th. The Koombana left between 10 and 11 a.m., 20 minutes before the Bullara. He followed in the wake of the Koombana for half an hour, and had her in sight for about two hours. He noticed how well the Koombana behaved as she went out. She did not roll at all crossing the bar. He had been chief officer of the Koombana for about 12 months, and during that time had experienced some very heavy weather. When she was lightly laden she was a magnificent ship, and a splendid sea boat. He had searched for the Koombana, and found portion of a motor launch, which he was certain belonged to her. All his own boats had been damaged. With regard to the loss of the vessel, the only explanation he could offer, judging from his experience with her, was that she was smashed up by the force of the cyclone. It was impossible for her to have turned turtle.

Evidence was given by Captain R. E. Arundel, surveyor to Lloyds, who was asked: Would you say, from what you saw of the Koombana, that she was top-heavy or overburdened with top weight, or just an ordinary safe ship?

Witness: I have formed the opinion that she was a tender vessel when light, but perfectly safe. There is a popular fallacy that a ship having top hamper is unsafe. If you have great weight in the bottom of the ship, that gives stiffness, and if you have not that great weight there is what you call tenderness.

You do not think that top hamper properly stowed would interfere with her stability at all?

Witness: No. The question in every case is the proper distribution of weight.

Mr. Moxon, manager of the Adelaide S.S. Company in Western Australia, drew attention to the signalling at the ports, especially along the north-west coast, to warn shipping when hurricanes are in the vicinity. He suggested that local postmasters should exchange weather reports so that one might form forecasts, especially as it had been found in the past that as soon as heavy weather prevailed, the north-western telegraph lines were interrupted. By the exchange of reports and posting of the same, information would be obtainable of great value.

Further proceedings were adjourned to Monday.

LORD DENMAN AT POLO.

AN INTERESTING GAME.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HOUSE V. SYDNEY CLUB.

In anticipation of an interesting game of polo between his Excellency the Governor-General's team and representatives of the Sydney Club, a large number of spectators were attracted to Kensington Racecourse on Saturday. Mr. D. Garvan led the Sydney men, and after a fast and exciting game defeated the Government House team by 6 goals to 5.

Her Excellency Lady Denman and a party from Federal Government House were amongst the visitors.

The weather was glorious, with just a "nip" in the air. Added to this, the playing ground was in excellent order, and the general surroundings were in perfect keeping with the requirements of the game. A picturesque figure in the setting was Miss Kathleen Osborne, who, superbly mounted, acted as "chucker in," and carried out her duties effectively.

The game was played in halves of three periods each, with an interval between. This was necessary, owing to the Government House team being short of ponies sufficiently forward in their training to play right through. The following were the teams:—

Federal Government House.—His Excellency the Governor-General, Major Quilter, Captain Burnham, and Captain Nutting.

Sydney Polo Club.—Messrs. D. Garvan, Colin C. Stephen, Dr. J. Morton, and B. H. Richards.

FIRST PERIOD.

There was very little to choose between the teams in the first period. Play for a time was confined to the centre of the ground; then Captain Nutting got away with a good drive, and looked like getting the ball through, but his pony appeared to stumble, which spoilt his shot for goal. In play again, Dr. Morton had a good chance, but did not make use of it, and allowed Major Quilter to centre, where Captain Nutting, with a nice bit of play, worked down to the posts, and scored the first goal of the match. Stephen dashed out from some ruck play, but missed; then Garvan, riding "all out," and hitting brilliantly, made the score even. Lord Denman was conspicuous, and was cheered as he came down the ground well clear. He was getting cleanly on to the ball, and a score looked certain, but, mistiming a hit, the opportunity was lost. Richards, with a fine, lofty hit, sent the ball well towards the other goal, and Stephen, from a melee, where sticks were loudly cracking, got away, and made the score 2-1.

SECOND PERIOD.

Play in the second period was very fast, and the ball was continually up and down the ground. Lord Denman and Captain Burnham were foremost for their side in a great rush, which culminated in the latter scoring. Garvan was the first away, and got in some splendid hard hits, but he was intercepted by Major Quilter, and after a sharp rally near the boundary Garvan centred to Richards, who did the rest. Sydney, 3 goals; Government House, 2.

THIRD PERIOD.

The Governor-General's team had all the best of the third period. Getting in at once, Lord Denman with a sharp, well-directed hit down the ground, opened the way for a close attack on Sydney's goal, but Stephen was handy, and with a fine back stroke got the ball temporarily out of the danger zone. Major Quilter at this juncture centred to Captain Nutting, who beat the opposition and scored. With the ball in play again, Garvan and Richards were the first to break through; the latter missed badly, and here a melee ensued, when, in endeavouring to bring the ball into the open, Major Quilter was crossed by Garvan, and had a nasty fall. The major was quickly on his feet, however, but being severely shaken retired from the field. Government House team, playing only three men, made determined attacks on their adversaries' goal. It was not long before they increased the score. Garvan's men came with a "rattle" within a minute or so from "bell time," and owing to the weakened opposition Garvan beat Lord Denman after a capital sprint, and the ball went high goalwards, and, following on, the Sydney captain made the score 4 all.

After the interval J. J. Garvan took Major Quilter's place in the Government House team.

FOURTH PERIOD.

The fourth period was mostly confined to the boundaries. D. Garvan penalised his side by crossing Captain Burnham, and after the "free" sharp give-and-take play ensued. The ball went out near the motor car reserve, but when "chucked in" was taken by Captain Nutting well in front of goal, and, following up, he made the score 5-4.

FIFTH PERIOD.

The fifth period was responsible for some first-class play, and the brothers Garvan put in clever shots for their respective sides. Lord Denman gave his men a good lead round the boundary, and Captain Nutting coming along fresh, amidst cries of "All your own" from his comrades, missed, and Richards back hit, where Dr. Morton cleverly worked the ball across to D. Garvan, who hit well down the centre. Stephen here appeared, and, after some short exchanges, he was within 15 yards of the goal, but missed a hit. D. Garvan cleverly registered 5 all.

SIXTH PERIOD.

The final play saw the Government House team almost wholly on the defensive, although there were exciting flashes in the vicinity of Sydney's goal, near the boundary. Dr. Morton, D. Garvan, and Stephen pressed continually, but the latter missed badly on a clear run. Richards, however, rectified the mistake, and brought the ball across centrewards. D. Garvan then joined in, but encountered Lord Denman, who spoilt the hit, and J. Garvan relieved with a good backhander. Stephen made a series of good hits, and tried to find the posts with a long shot, and Richards, coming along with a rush, scored the winning goal. There was no further score.

During the interval a practice match was played between Mr. T. Watson's and Mr. K. Richard's teams, and was won by the former by 7 goals to 5.

A PERILOUS FALL.

ARMIDALE, Sunday.

While at work on the tower of St. Mary's new cathedral building a lad named Ford overbalanced and fell to the ground, a distance of about 40 feet, between the winze and a stack of timber. Fortunately he did not strike either, but his shirt caught in the winze handle and helped to break the fall. The lad was removed to the hospital, where his shoulder was found to be dislocated and his ankle sprained, besides suffering from shock.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The high pressure or fine weather system still covers the continent, and has expanded both east and westward. The centre, which still stands at 30.5in, covers a slightly larger area than on the previous day, that is, from Cape Borda to Wilcannia. The disturbance over New Zealand has gained a considerable amount of energy during the past 24 hours, the barometer at the Bluff being as low as 29.in. This means that there are 10 isobars between that station and Auckland, a very steep gradient, and conditions that should result in strong gales from west to south-west over New Zealand and the Tasman Sea. The expansion of the high pressure has forced the disturbance, which was near the Leeuwin, further west and southward.

Ocean Forecast.—Fresh southerly winds between Tasmania and Sydney, rough sea on the North Queensland coast.

TREASURE TROVE.

WHARF MAN'S POSSESSIONS.

PERTH, Saturday.

The Customs and police officers are investigating a matter which recently came to light at East Fremantle. A lumper died some time back without leaving any relatives in this State, and the police on proceeding to take an inventory of the contents of his three-roomed house were astonished to find a wonderful collection of goods, the list of which occupied four sheets of typewritten paper. In view of Mr. Tudor's recent statement that £50,000 worth of goods was pillaged on the wharfs of Australia annually the matter is regarded as highly interesting.

A DANGEROUS CRIMINAL.

HEAVILY SENTENCED.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Seven years' imprisonment was the sentence imposed yesterday by Judge Johnston on Edward Parker, who was convicted on finger-print evidence of having broken into the warehouse of Messrs. Webster and Cohen, in Little Collins-street, and stolen jewellery of the value of £500. On the expiration of his sentence Parker will be detained in a reformatory prison during the pleasure of the Governor in Council. Parker was described as a dangerous type of criminal, according to the police records submitted yesterday. He is indentical with the criminal who, under the name of Patrick Hine, escaped from Coolgardie gaol 16 years ago.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

For a Saturday a fair amount of business was done on 'Change at very firm prices. Steamship shares again showed a hardening tendency. Union of New Zealand advanced to 36/. A slight weakening in Goldsbrough, Mort was no doubt due to the weather conditions. Variations in late rates were:—

FINANCIAL.

AERATED BREAD COMPANY.

The fourth half-yearly report of the Aerated Bread Company, Ltd., for the period ended March 31, states that business at headquarters and all branches has been well maintained. Two new branches, 391 George-street, and at Darlinghurst-road, have been opened, and from both the returns are very satisfactory. Plans are now completed for a new factory to be erected at Camperdown, and when finished it will bring all manufacturing departments, store, catering shop, etc., under one roof, tending to increased economy. The profit, after paying all expenses, including maintenance, repairs, and renewals, is £3461. Depreciation on leasehold £439, reduces the balance to £3021, which with £167 brought forward from last half-year makes £3189 available. From this sum the directors propose to transfer £1000 to the reserve fund, thus increasing the amount to £4000, and recommend the payment of a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, which will absorb a further £1750, leaving a balance of £439 to be carried forward. It is noted that in view of the unusually high cost of commodities ruling throughout the half-year and the general increase of expenses the result shown in the report is most gratifying. The following comparison of accounts may be made:—

	Half-year Ended Mar. 31, 1911.	Mar. 31, 1912.

COLONIAL MUTUAL LIFE.

The Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society, Limited, is making application to the Parliament of Victoria with the object of removing legal doubts and to prevent suggestions that the society is anything but a purely mutual institution. A question has been raised (writes the "Argus") as to the provision in the memorandum of association of the society, declaring that the society is a company limited by shares, and as to the possible effect of that provision upon certain of the articles of association. When the society was founded the Life Assurance Companies Act was not in existence, and the society was registered under the trading section of the Companies Act. That fact involves the question whether the society is an altogether mutual one, seeing that the constitution makes references to "shareholders." The opinion of leading counsel (Mr. Irvine, K.C., and Mr. Starke) has been obtained, and we understand they have advised that, although the questions involved are highly technical, they recommend that the bill, as advertised, should be applied for to deal with such questions and prevent their being raised in the future. The bill is framed to remove doubts as to the legal position of "members" and others interested in the society's business. Any claims which exist against the society will not be in any way affected or prejudiced, but will remain in full force, and the business of the society, which has always been, and still is, carried on as a strictly mutual insurance society, will be entirely unaffected.

TRADE OF SOUTH AFRICA.

The sixth annual statement of the Trade and Shipping of the Union of South Africa, being the second annual issue since the promulgation of the Act of Union, is a bulky volume published by the Department of Commerce and Industries of the Union. The statistics, which include those of Southern and North-western Rhodesia, as well as of the Union, are complete for the year 1911. From the figures supplied in the publication, the following table of imports and exports of the Union for last year, and the previous year, is compiled:—

1911.	Imports.	Exports.
Merchandise	£36,925,384	£21,930,046
Total	£38,035,495	£57,308,214
1910.	Imports.	Exports.
Merchandise	£36,727,367	£21,766,206
Bullion and specie	2,213,327	32,172,906
Total	£38,940,694	£53,939,112

It will be noticed that while the imports of merchandise showed a slight increase the exports of merchandise were slightly and of gold largely increased.

AUSTRALIA'S SHARE.

Principal imports from Australia were butter, 2,073,963lb, valued at £137,093; cakes, 135,201lb, valued at £5770; jams and jellies, 1,147,703lb, £17,023; flour, 43,358 tons, £344,445; wheat, 2,649,702 bushels, £495,171; currants and raisins, 37,338lb, £602; other dried fruits, 48,574lb, £835; bottled and tinned fruits, 286,867lb, £3717; fruit pulp, 98,166lb, £1253; frozen beef, 8,083,859lb, £73,869; mutton, 3,462,019lb, £22,308; tinned and preserved meat, 2,096,316lb, £53,684; poultry, 2,096,316lb, £52,664; sugar, 13,016,108lb, £79,946; vegetables, 1,040,368lb, £3294; agricultural machinery, £2044; lead, 2190cwt, £1294; coconut oil, 122,706 gallons, £20,181; seeds, 115,637lb, £4678; tallow, 2824 tons, £86,259; timber, 349,162 cubic feet, £28,338. The list of exports to Australia is very short. Bark accounted for 8,300,738lb, valued at £21,293, of which 8,578,254lb, of the value of £14,419, came to New South Wales. Blasting powder was exported to Australia amounting to 401,250lb, valued at £13,903; ostrich feathers, 1250lb, £4937; fish, 39,647lb, £1147. A comparison of imports from and exports to Australia may be given:—

	Imports from Australia.	Exports to Australia.
1911	£1,350,234	£47,915
1910	1,608,346	41,353

Of some interest are the details of the exports by States. Thus we learn that the exports of merchandise to New South Wales considerably more than doubled, while to Victoria there has been a decrease of almost one-third. The figures are:—

EXPORTS FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

To State—	1911.	1910.
New South Wales	£18,448	£6,858
Queensland	2,043	3,943
South Australia	15,242	14,418
Tasmania	1,336	1,657
Victoria	9,990	14,106
Western Australia	856	371
Commonwealth	£47,915	£41,353

A "TRUST-BUSTING" SEQUEL.

Instead of depressing shares in the oil companies composing the Standard Oil Trust as a result of the "trust-busting" campaign of the American Government, there has been an enhancement of shares. Since the Supreme Court of the United States declared the company to be a monopoly operating in restraint of trade, there has been (writes the "Financier") an enhancement of nearly 250,000,000 dollars in value, of which more than 60,000,000 dollars accrues to Mr. John D. Rockefeller himself, who owns more than 25 per cent. of the securities of the various companies into which the Standard Oil Company has disintegrated. Shareholders, however, are protesting against the policy of the management in maintaining profound secrecy relative to dividends, earnings, book values, etc. Not one shareholder in a thousand, it is stated, has the least knowledge on those very important points. Officials of the Standard Oil Company have received no intimation of the rumoured intention of the Attorney-General to make a renewed investigation into the operations of the subsidiary concerns.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An interim dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum has been declared by Henry Jones Co-operative, Ltd., and will be payable on June 1.

The directors of the same company will propose to a general meeting of shareholders that the capital of the company be increased from £500,000 to £750,000 by the creation of 250,000 shares of £1 each, and that 50,000 of these shares be issued at £1 per share, payable on application, the shares to be offered and allotted to the shareholders in the proportion of 1 to 10 of their present holding.

INDUSTRIAL.

AUSTRALIAN SERGES.

A DEVELOPING INDUSTRY.

At the present day all kinds of wool can be manufactured into the softest wearing apparel that does not irritate the skin. England produces the largest quantity of serges and tweeds, but America has the largest mills. Germany also manufactures extensively.

The Australian industry is as yet in its infancy. However, it is growing, and in a few decades, no doubt, the mill proprietors will be able to supply tailors with sufficient materials for the entire use of the Australian community. In fact, there should be no reason, except for wages, why we should not manufacture sufficient serges and tweeds to enable us to export to all parts of the world. Wool is purchased here; it is sent thousands of miles to be made into cloth, and much of it returns to us as woollen and serge clothing. It is not that Australian serges and tweeds are unpopular. Every tailor knows that they are preferred by the majority of the people. But the supply is below the demand, and consequently importing is necessary.

Japan has recently been buying wool from Australia. Japanese merchants have come to this city to transact business. When the wool sales are being held at the Sydney Wool Exchange, the Japanese buyers are familiar figures in competition with the Continental and Australian merchants for our wools. More Japanese buyers are seen on the Wool Exchange every year. It is only a matter of time before some of them will be amongst Australia's largest buyers. This nation has commenced to erect mills for the purpose of making its own clothing. Both last year and this year English machinery manufacturers have been busy making machinery for the mills of Japan.

Some of the finest serges that are sold by leading tailors in Sydney are manufactured locally. The machinery used is more intricate than in any other industry. The sorter is the first man who handles the wool that is to travel on a long journey, first of all through water, then through a score or more of whirring machines that wind it into "slivers"; it is drawn and twisted, woven, and finally dyed and finished. The wool sorter classes the greasy wool.

"Do you see that wool," he said, pointing to a loose bundle that was dirty and greasy; "that will eventually be turned into a very fine serge." To an outsider the wool was so discoloured that it appeared to be unworthy of attention. When it was examined, however, it was found that the fine threads could be pulled out to a considerable length. Scouring machines remove the dirt and grease, and make the wool pure white. Every fibre is separated by the carding machine. It is an education to see the tangled wool gradually pass from roller to roller, each of which contains thousands of minute steel teeth, and emerge in neat, even, and continuous lengths called "slivers." Of the many machines used in the mill, the combing machine is the most interesting. It is a marvellous piece of mechanism. The machine combs all the wool into a uniform length, and throws out all the short pieces. It is interesting to observe dozens of pieces of long, pure white wool gradually being drawn through rollers and wound into balls.

From machine to machine the wool passes, becoming thinner and thinner, but longer and longer. Every fibre is laid straight, and is steadily drawn out into threads. Time after time, the wool goes through winding machines, and is wound on bobbins; on each occasion coming out thinner but longer. The wool is made into yarn by the spinning machine. Two threads are wound together on a twisting frame. When the threads are being wound for the shuttle for the weaving, they are passed through a machine called a pirn winder, upon which, if the thread should break, the bobbin immediately stops. Another feature of this machine is that, after the exact quantity of thread has been wound on to a bobbin, the bobbin falls and the thread is broken. The weaving loom, if not the most interesting, is certainly the most important machine. The long threads, which are called warps, are made into cloth by the cross threads, which are called wefts. On the weaving loom a shuttle containing the threads for the wefting of the cloth is thrown from one side of the machine to the other through long threads, 126 times a minute. On an average, two inches of cloth are made in a minute. There are dozens of similar machines working at their utmost capacity in the factory of the Australian Woollen Mills at Marrickville. The long, intricate process of manufacture is not yet completed. The cloth has to be scoured, dyed, and cleansed before it is passed to the tentering machine, which dries and stretches it to a uniform width. After the loose fibres have been taken off, and the cloth brushed by machinery, it is pressed and steamed and sent to the warehouse. From the time the wool passes through the sorter's hands till the time it reaches the warehouse, about six weeks have elapsed.

"Our material has found a good market, and we can very easily sell all we make. The industry is just beginning to go ahead," said a gentleman connected with the manufacture of worsteds. Although sufficient employees can be obtained, difficulty is experienced in getting skilled labour. Generally unskilled people are taught the trade, but when it becomes necessary to employ skilled labour, the men are hired under contract from England. One fact that is noticeable in a mill is the large percentage of female employees. The work is light, and they are attending at nearly all of the winding and weaving machines. There are also many skilled men in the industry.

Following are the latest figures available, showing the progress of woollen and tweed mills in New South Wales:—

Year.	Mills.	Persons employed. Males.	Females.	Woollen cloth & tweed manuf. Yards.	H.P. of plant (full capac.).
1900	4	163	58	400,187	210
1901	4	162	72	595,020	325
1902	4	171	104	566,230	305
1903	4	170	110	458,303	290
1904	3	148	97	481,280	305
1905	3	151	111	479,590	280
1906	5	166	178	498,164	327
1907	5	179	216	512,640	397
1908	5	210	245	524,853	476
1909	7	283	345	794,312	924
1910	8	319	420	804,146	1188

During 1910 over 800,000 yards of tweed and cloth were manufactured by the mills of this State. The figures for last year are not yet available.

COMMERCIAL.

THE BUTTER MARKETS.

Prescott, Limited, report concerning the butter markets of the Commonwealth and London as follows:—

Sydney.—There has been no change in values this week, choice quality selling at 120/. Interstate demand has improved slightly, and with the colder weather there is a slight falling-off in production.

Melbourne.—The market was more steady on Thursday, and buyers were operating more freely for choice butter. Superfine westerns are unchanged at 1/3, to which price they were reduced on Tuesday. Gippsland and north-eastern, 1/2 to 1/2½; New South Wales and Queensland, fresh 1/1½ to 1/2, medium and stored lots from 1/ to 1/1. Arrivals for the week ended April 19 were 7004 boxes and 56 tons cream.

Brisbane.—The market has been slow at 120/ for choicest quality throughout the week, but, as Melbourne orders are now coming on to the market, it should improve matters next week. Seconds and thirds are "hanging fire." Last week's production is estimated at about 11,690 boxes.

London.—The market has again declined. Danish, 120/; New South Wales, 106/ to 110/. At the lower range of prices the market has closed steadier. These selling prices represent a heavy loss to consignors, as the Sydney market at the time the butter was shipped stood at 130/ per cwt. This means a loss of 30/ per cwt.

LINSEED OIL.

The variations that have characterised quotations for linseed oil for some months past have been somewhat mystifying to importers. On the whole the trend of values has been in favour of producers, a fact which is rather difficult to account for in view of statistics relating to the world's production of seed, which have been compiled by "Dornbusch." These serve to indicate that the linseed harvest of 1911 ranked in quantity next to the record ... 1907, when 2,763,445 tons was the ... Last season's outturn, according to the authority mentioned, represented ... tons, or a gain of 28 per cent. on the yield of 1910. An element of strong doubt surrounds the estimates of the output of Argentina, one cable message recently reporting a decrease of something like 100,000 tons in that country. The figures given for the South American republic by "Dornbusch" are 638,000 tons, but this official estimate was accepted most hesitatingly, and was published in the compilation with the cautious qualification that "Argentina, despite a record acreage, unfortunately again proved more or less a failure, and we have yet to learn whether the official estimate of 638,000 tons can even be relied upon." The total production for last year included 557,800 tons from India, a crop which has been exceeded never previously since 1904, when 571,832 tons comprised the yield. Russia's contribution continues steadily to increase, amounting in 1911 to 670,000 tons, as against 650,000 tons in 1910. North America is officially reckoned to have yielded a crop 170,000 tons better than in 1910, but commercial authorities are of opinion that the excess is barely 70,000 tons. Canada is officially reported to have trebled the previous record, but, a good proportion being under snow when the estimates were made, the actual quantity has yet to be defined.

At Darling Harbour on Saturday 870 tons of wheat and 112 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour on Saturday totalled 238 bales.

EXPORT TRADE.

MEAT PACKING IN BRISBANE.

Fresh developments of the meat industry in Queensland are taking place, and the probable demands for larger exports to capture new markets, as well as to supply the usual lines of British trade, are being anticipated. The increase of stock during past favourable seasons, and the present promising outlook, make the creation of further meat works necessary. The erection of the Moreton meat works on the Brisbane River, which were opened on the 13th instant by the firm of Thomas Borthwick and Sons, Limited, certainly shows that there is no diminution of enterprise, nor lack of confidence in the future possibilities of its extension and prosperity. According to "Dalgety's Review" about 200 head of cattle and between 4000 and 5000 sheep can be treated per day at the new establishment, and refrigerating chambers and every modern appliance for the quick and successful despatch of the work has been supplied. The Moreton Meat Works ought to be a valuable addition to the operations of the Queensland meat trade.

PRODUCE.

RAILWAY MARKETS.

LARGE RISE IN LUCERNE HAY.

At the railway markets, Saturday marked the close of a week conspicuous for its dullness. Produce was scarce, and there was very little competition. With two exceptions, bidding was again very dull on Saturday. Competition was keen over a consignment of lucerne chaff and dust from West Tamworth. These fetched respectively 6/9 and 5/5 per cwt. Neither of these commodities are often seen in the yard.

Wheaten chaff was, if anything, a little lower. Consignments of prime quality fetched 6/10. Others from 5/9 to 6/9 per cwt. There was a scarcity of oaten chaff, and only five truckloads were sold, which obtained from 5/7 to 6/9 per cwt.

Considerable interest centred round a consignment of lucerne hay from Mudgee. It obtained, after keen bidding, the exceedingly high price of 7/6 per cwt. Another consignment, of lesser quality, from the same place, went for 7/2 per cwt. Other consignments ranged in price from 4/2 to 6/ per cwt. A few bags of maize were sold at 5/4½ per bushel.

Trucks of produce placed in position for sale totalled 48, and consisted of hay 6, straw 1, chaff 29, wheat 3, maize 2, potatoes 7.

The manifest included:—Chaff 32, hay 13, wheat 5, maize 2, potatoes 2, pumpkins 1, straw 1, lucerne dust 2.

Sales effected were:—

MINING.

LONDON VALUES BUOYANT.

LOCAL MARKET AFFECTED.

SILVER AND COPPER SHARES FIRM.

A decided change came over the market on Saturday morning, and proved a cheerful week-end to holders of copper and silver shares. On the previous day speculation was on very listless lines, and it looked as if the week would end up very dull. The reverse, however, proved to be the case, and the cause of this was the evident buoyancy of the London Stock Exchange on Friday, as disclosed by the "middle" quotations to hand on Saturday morning.

These indicated a "bull" market in both silver and copper shares. B.H. Proprietary moved from 51/6 to 52/3; B.H. Block 10 from 50/ to 51/3; Zincs, ordinary, from 10/1½ to 11/; the preference scrip from 36/3 to 36/6; North Broken Hill from £6/1/3 to £6/2/6; whilst British (old) held firmly at 59/6. In copper stocks Mount Elliotts jumped from £5/13/1½ to £5/18/9, and the inference is the London board of directors have received further information about the developments at No. 5 level from the manager, Mr. W. H. Corbould. Both Great Cobars and Mount Lyells commanded firm offers, but Hampdens and Mount Morgans sagged a little.

Telegrams from Adelaide and Melbourne showed that the Stock Exchanges of those cities were favourably affected by the firmness of London, and the Sydney Stock Exchange was similarly influenced. Speculation was unusually brisk for a Saturday, and what was still more pleasing to scrip-holders, was the fact that the general trend of prices was upwards.

This will be seen by the fact that in the silver division Broken Hill Proprietary moved from 51/ to 52/4½; British Broken Hill (old) from 60/6 to 61/6; North Broken Hill from £6 to £6/2/; and Zinc Corporation from 10/4½ to 11/8; whilst Broken Hill Junctions maintained a firm position at 8/10. The only stock that sagged was B.H. Junction North.

In view of the strength of the London Stock Exchange quotations for Australian copper propositions, Mount Elliotts jumped from £5/8/ to £5/19/. Mount Morgans commanded strong support at 57/6 and 57/9, whilst Hampdens at 35/3 on six weeks' terms, indicated steadiness. Wallaroo and Moonta sold firmly, whilst Munganas were unchanged.

Gold shares were very quiet. Black Range West steadied at 2/, and 2/1. Tin stocks were likewise very much in the background, despite the splendid price ruling for the black metal. A parcel of Tongkah Compound changed hands at 36/3, the last sale recorded some weeks ago being at 35/, hence the position of the stock has much improved, and is said to be due to the auction dredge getting into better tin-bearing ground.

A brokers' cable message states that amongst the shares quoted on the London Stock Exchange on Friday were the following "middle" prices:—Broken Hill Proprietary, 52/3; Broken Hill North, £6/2/6; Broken Hill Block 10, 51/3; British (old), 59/6; Briseis, 8/7½; Mount Lyell, 33/9; Zinc, ord, 11/; ditto, pref., 36/6; Mount Elliott, £5/18/9; Great Cobar, 98/1½; Mount Morgan, 58/9; Hampdens, 35/3; Golden Horseshoe, 60/; Associated, 7/; Northern Blocks, 5/1½; Boulder Perseverance, 3/4½; Bullfinch Proprietary, 11/; Kalgurli, 47/6; Ivanhoe, 97/6; Great Boulder, 13/.

MINING NOTES.

The Mount Bischoff Tin-mining Company (Tas.), reports a crushing of 913 short tons of ore, for 10¾ tons tin oxide. Previous yield, 14 tons tin from 1153 tons ore.

The output of ore from the Hercules Mine (Tas.) for the week ended April 19 was 630 tons of sulphides to Zeehan and 83 tons of zinc ore to Burnie, leaving on hand 60 tons of sulphides and 50 tons of zinc ore.

The approximate yield of stream tin obtained by the Pioneer Tin Company, Tasmania, for the six weeks ended April 20 was 47 tons, but it is explained that while No. 1 electric plant was in operation throughout the period, No. 2 electric plant worked for only two weeks. A dividend (the 16th) of 6d per share, payable May 13, has been declared by the directors. The previous dividend was paid on March 2.

Though various causes delayed the starting of the Block 10 Company's new mill (says the Melbourne "Argus"), the first portion was put into commission after a period of adjustment, running at the beginning of the month, and some figures have since been made available. Two returns covering a week and five days, to April 17, are so far obtainable, and these show that 3067 tons of ore assaying over 12½oz silver, over 12¼ per cent. lead, and over 14¼ per cent. zinc have been treated. The concentrates made amount to 404 tons, the assay value of the last week's product being 63.9 per cent. lead, 36.2oz silver, and 7.7 per cent. zinc, which figures were slightly higher for lead and zinc than those for the previous five days. Recoveries so far are low, being for the first period 66.04 per cent. lead, and 37.45 per cent. silver, and for the subsequent week 65.07 per cent. lead and 38.31 per cent. silver. The expectation was that half the plant to be ultimately installed would be in operation when ore treatment was resumed, so that on the figures last made available, the capacity of the mill should be well over 3000 tons per week. An average weekly tonnage greater than that amount, it will be remembered, was attained by the old plant in several half-yearly periods, but recoveries for some time after its installation did not get above 36.96 per cent. silver, and 65.68 per cent. lead. Figures as high as 41.17 per cent. silver and 73.98 per cent. lead were eventually shown, but not maintained. Those for the two last half-yearly periods prior to the reconstruction of the plant were 40.09 per cent. silver, 66.79 per cent. lead, and 37.26 per cent. silver and 65.45 per cent. lead. The new plant has, however, hardly yet had time to fulfil the promise that its metal recoveries would be equal to those of any plant at the Barrier. That the increased profit anticipated with the new plant is yet being earned is unlikely, since the metal extraction so far has not been bettered.

GRAFTON COPPER MINE.

GRAFTON, Saturday.

The manager of the Grafton Copper Mining Company, Cangai, reports for the four weeks ended April 20 as follows:—Four furnaces worked full time: ore treated 1097 tons, producing 192 tons matte, containing 70½ tons copper. Matte roasted 166 tons, producing 103 tons of metal, containing 63.816 tons copper. Total ore mined, 489 tons. Small quantity of ore mined due to making connection to No. 3 winze from D level west, preventing stopping at that end of the stope. At 50ft below C level west, in No. 4 winze, crosscuts were run in south 8ft and north 4ft, but no ore struck. Drive run in 7ft 6in in west, striking good ore. Bottom of winze had evidently entered horse of mullock met with in the east end of No. 1 stope C west, extension of a level west started to connect with No. 4 winze from C level west, and driven 4ft, making total length of level 362ft. C west winze sunk 3ft, total 55ft 6in, bottom in mullock. West drive in Melbourne section driven 35ft 6in, total 103ft 6in. Face in clean mullock. Crosscuts were started from the drive 40ft from face north and south, former 3ft in country carrying clay seams, and later 6ft, face carrying lode material with splashes of ore. The tram line has been extended 38 chains into the wood area, and another 12 chains will complete this work.

MOUNT ELLIOTT, LIMITED.

SPLENDID ORE DEVELOPMENT.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

Mount Elliott finished up an eventful week by moving to above £6, the latest advance being traceable to the further result from crosscutting at the No. 5 level. After firing out, the bottom of the crosscut shows sulphide ore, carrying 21 per cent. copper, for very nearly the width of the crosscut, and 2ft high. The official message added:—"Now boring back and sides, and when fired will telegraph again. The quality of the ore showing at the time the message was despatched was regarded as excellent.

Woodcarvers are bidding high for blocks of a prehistoric oak which has recently been unearthed at a depth of 40 feet on the northern side of Charing Cross "tube" station, where tunnelling work is being carried out. The trunk was found lying at full length. The moistened sand seems to have preserved it from decay, though certain parts were soft. One section of hard wood was 4 feet thick. It is supposed that the oak must have been washed down river in a flood, since London is believed never to have been the site of real forest wood.

WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS.
THE FAMILY STIMULANT. A PURE SPIRIT.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The trotting meeting organised by the Victoria Park proprietary in aid of the suffering poor of Great Britain caused by the late coal strike, takes place this afternoon, under the auspices of the Australian Trotting Club, and the programme for the occasion should attract a large attendance, for a large number of well-known track performers are engaged, and the sport promises to be of a highly interesting character. The track is excellent going, and the reserves never looked better. A special tram service lands visitors at the racecourse gates, while the ordinary traffic to Zetland will also be available. The first event is timed to start at 2.30 p.m.

The attractive programme for Tattersall's Club May meeting at Randwick on the 11th proximo demands the attention of owners and trainers to-day, for, at 4 p.m., nominations close with the secretary, Mr. J. B. Olliffe. The prize-money for the half-dozen events on the card totals 1500 sovs., of which 400 sovs. endow the Winter Stakes, the stakes for the other events ranging from 150 to 300 sovs.

The weights for the Canterbury May meeting should see the light this forenoon.

Nominations for the May meeting of the Wallsend Jockey Club, to be held next Saturday, are invited by the secretary, Mr. E Cowcher, Wallsend, up to 8 p.m. to-day, and up to 4 p.m. Mr. H. B. Dando will receive entries at the office of the Warwick Farm Racing Club, city. The prize-money aggregates £400, of which £100 each goes to the Town Plate and Final Handicap, and £75 each to the Plattsburg and Welter handicaps.

The racing at Warwick Farm on Saturday was of an interesting character throughout, but backers of favourites had a bad time, inasmuch as in all instances the most fancied horses failed to materialise, while the unexpected victories of Ule in the Farm Stakes and Scotch Queen in the Flying Welter left the ringmen with a large margin of profit on the afternoon's operations.

Entries will be received up to 5 p.m. to-day by the secretary, Mr. J. Underhill, for the seven items on the card for the pony and galloway race meeting to be held at Rosebery on Saturday next. The sum of £450 prize-money has been provided, of which £75 each goes to the Rosebery Handicap and the Approved Stakes, while the other prizes are £60 each.

One of the worst exhibitions of hurdle racing witnessed in the metropolitan area for a long time was that displayed at Warwick Farm on Saturday. With the exception of St. Leonards the half-dozen that left the paddock to face the battens had little or no public experience in that branch of the game, and, of these, three fell by the wayside, and the fourth finished the course, though he missed one of the obstacles. The Dip carried most money, but he was closely run in the market quotations by Gorlias, while Ramiro and St. Leonard were the only others backed with any confidence. Norebo was the first to come down, and his bad example was followed by Ramiro and Ennispona, the latter of whom kept on his feet for three-parts of the journey. Gorlias and The Dip were together in front as they ran past the homestead for the last round, but the former ran off at the obstacle near that point, leaving The Dip with a substantial lead. Gorlias, however, continued in the race, and, healing The Dip at the home turn, came on and passed the judge's box the easiest of winners, while St. Leonard just managed to cut The Dip out of second money. On returning to scale a protest, lodged by the owner of St. Leonard against Gorlias, on the ground that the son of Gaulus had run round the obstacle afore-mentioned, was upheld, and the race was awarded to St. Leonard; while the stipendiary stewards imposed a fine of £10 on J. Clifton, who had the mount on Gorlias, for continuing in the race after having missed one of the jumps. St. Leonard was bred at the Yarraba Stud, Riverina, by Mr. J. M'Caughey, and is by St. Swithin from Mountain Rose, by Manchester from Waratah by Millionaire, and he has not earned a winning bracket since he scored over the battens at Moorefield nearly three years ago.

Mr. J. Denmeade, secretary, will receive entries up to 4 p.m. to-day for the five events on the programme for the May meeting of the Wollongong Jockey Club, on the 7th prox. The sum of £100 is distributed over five events, of which £25 each goes to the Illawarra Stakes and Wollongong Mile.

Backers had 17 runners from whom to select the winner of the Farm Stakes at Warwick Farm on Saturday, but they failed badly in the task. E.U.G., a son of Hindoo, who has been earning winning brackets out west, and the Coonamble representative, Wool, were sent out joint favourite, while Jedburgh and Savanax were the best supported of the others. Most of the running was made by Ayr Girl, with Jerburgh and Wool in good positions, but the unthought-of Ule put in an appearance at the home turn, whence Wool came very fast, and was in front at the half-distance, but from that point Ule wore down the son of Haut Brion, and accounted for him after a very exciting contest. Ule, who started in the 20 to 1 division, was bred at the Belltrees stud, and is by Ruenalf from Ulex, by Lennox from Ilex, by Martini-Henry (son of Musket). She carried the livery of her trainer, A. Gollan, and opened up her winning account.

Entries for the meeting of the Goulburn Racing Club, to be held on the 9th and 10th prox., must be lodged with the secretary, Mr. Norman Hay, Goulburn, before 8 p.m. to-day, while up to 4 p.m. nominations can be lodged with Mr. H. B. Dando, at the office of the Warwick Farm Racing Club.

The New Zealand bred gelding, Elfbolt, and Coolahburragundy carried the bulk of public money in the Liverpool Mile at Warwick Farm on Saturday, the first-named having the market call; while Blue Flyer and C.H. also came in for a fair share of support. C.H., Blue Flyer, and Mavus formed the leading division to the distance, where Coolahburragundy, who always held a good position, found an opening on the rails, of which he took advantage, and comfortably accounted for the favourite, who finished fast. The winner hails from T. F. Scully's stables, and is by imported Playbill.

A couple of Maltsters were successful at Caulfield on Saturday. The Katandra Two-year-old Handicap was secured by Peck o' Maut, an Inglewood bred colt, whose dam, Lovelorn, is by Grafton from Lovelock, by Lochiel from My Love, by Yattendon, and who cost his owner, Mr. S. D. Brunton, 400 guineas as a yearling. Habel, who secured the Brighton Handicap, was bred at the same stud, and is a near relation to Peck o' Maut, as his dam, Loveday, is half-sister (by Projectile) to Lovelorn.

Amy C., M.P.L., and Lady Rouvray were the only withdrawals from the Juvenile Handicap at Warwick Farm on Saturday, leaving 14 youngsters to do battle for the prize, and the Waukenphast colt, Pedestrian, was the popular selection, while Royal Actor ran him very close in the market quotations, and the only other backed for money was the Fortunatus gelding Perversion. Lady Ibex, with Boambee in attendance, set the pace until fairly in line for home; then Boambee faded right out of it, and Royal Actor, who was always well up with the leaders, threw out a bold challenge to the filly, and getting on terms at the half-distance, beat her home after an exciting battle, while the favourite, who had been hampered in the ruck, came with a late run, and gained the minor situation. The winner is a Rylstone bred colt, by Royal Artillery (brother to True Blue) from Grace Palotta, by Robinson Crusoe from Campanilla, by Maribyrnong, and was purchased by the North Queensland sportsman, Mr. T. Crothers, for 45 guineas as a yearling. Royal Actor is trained by W. Risby, and this was his first success under colours.

Gunboat, who figured so prominently in the A.J.C. Autumn campaign at Randwick, made a bold bid for the Glenhuntly Cup at Caulfield on Saturday, but his run was a trifle late, and he failed by a narrow margin.

The field for the Warwick Handicap on Saturday was one short of a dozen, and the three-year-old filly, N.S.W., carried most money, while Haze and Harley were next fancied in order, and there was a good demand for Kyloe and Dion, but expansive prices were available about the others. The favourite and Harley got badly away, and N.S.W. had her chances further discounted by coming into collision with Harley as they turned out of the straight, the filly dropping right back. Marvel Queen, with Haze and Lady Warpaint in close attendance, made the running until half a mile from home; then the latter took charge, but was joined by Haze in the next furlong. Haze had the strength of the opposition as she came into the home stretch, with Dion, Ulmus, and Kyloe in her wake, and she scored easily at the end from the Havilah representative. The winner is the property of the Wanaaring sportsman, Mr. C. Hebden, whose colours have been in evidence lately, at Randwick on Leta, Idyla, and Britain, all of whom are trained by P. Nolan, at Randwick. Haze, who is by St. Alwyne (imp.) from Hazebrig, by Wallace from Tinstream, by Gang Forward, was bred by Mr. C. J. Britten, of Tamworth, and is full-sister to Bective. Haze did not win out of her turn, for she has not troubled the judge since she scored in the Moorefield Handicap last November.

Nari, who was among the equine visitors at the A.J.C. Autumn meeting, but did nothing towards defraying the expenses of the trip, placed the Glenferrie Welter to the credit of her owner, Mr. Herbert Power, at Caulfield on Saturday. Nari, who was bred by her owner, is by imported Pistol (son of Carbine) from Athata, by Trident from Nellie, by Tim Whiffler (imp.).

A field of 26—the largest of the afternoon—left the paddock for the Flying Welter Handicap at Warwick Farm on Saturday, and there was stanch support for Yarrum and Irishman, while the best backed of the others were Debutante, Wyealla, and Menes. Irishman never gave his party any hope, but Yarrum, who took charge at an early stage, appeared at the distance as though he would pull his supporters through. Inside that point Scotch Queen, who was always well placed, tackled the son of Flavus, and the pair, right clear from their followers, had the issue to themselves. Gaining on her opponent at every stride, Scotch Queen had Yarrum in difficulties at the half-distance, and beat him home rather easily, at the same time doing a good turn to the ringmen. Scotch Queen is a Widden-bred mare, by Ayr Laddie (imp.) from Queen Agnes, by Grand Flaneur from Dame Agnes (imp.), by Hermit, and is half-sister to Hela and Lady Esma.

The programme for the Cup meeting of the Newcastle Jockey Club, on the 18th and 22nd prox., is announced, and the general entry closes with the secretary, Mr. J. Grisdale, on Monday, May 6. Nominations have already been received for the Newcastle Cup, and for the nine events for which entries are invited, the prize money totals 1050 sovs., of which 200 sovs goes to the Jockey Club Handicap. There are two events of 150 sovs each, four of 100 sovs each, and two of 75 sovs each, and all classes of horses are catered for.

The sportsman who races as "Mr. J. Birk" has had a peculiar experience with his recent purchase, Norway, whom he bought at Messrs. William Inglis and Sons' sale of blood stock on the 15th inst. The gelding was that evening taken to a trainer's quarters at Zetland, and, prior to being stabled he was left for a few minutes in a paddock adjacent, but when the attendant went to put him in his box, Norway had disappeared, and nothing was heard of him until Saturday last, when he was found at Tempe.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN SPORTING NOTES.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The racehorse Koonoona, who recently met with an accident in his box, died on Friday night. He was bred and owned by Mr. John Lewis, and was leased to the trainer J. Paterson.

Mr. F. Merton's horses for the Adelaide cup meeting—Kuringai, Precious, and Borrosov—who arrived from Sydney by train on Saturday, have stood the journey remarkably well.

Trainer Scobie reached Adelaide on Saturday, and in the afternoon worked his horses at Morphettville.

WARWICK FARM APRIL MEETING.

COOLAHBURRAGUNDY WINS LIVERPOOL MILE.

HAZE THE WARWICK HANDICAP.

Ideal weather for the enjoyment of outdoor sports was experienced at Warwick Farm on Saturday, when a very large gathering witnessed the sport provided for the April reunion of the club. The track was excellent going, and, though there were several mishaps in the race over the battens, neither riders nor horses were much the worse for their misadventures. The stipendiary stewards had to deal with a protest in connection with the Hurdle Race, and which was upheld, but, after opening an inquiry into a collision in the Warwick Handicap, the matter was postponed until to-day. The general arrangements at the course were ably supervised by the secretary, Mr. H. B. Dando. Details:—

HURDLE RACE, a handicap of 75 sovs.; second horse 10 sovs from prize. About 2m.

Mr. E. Bunn's br g St. Leonard, by St. Swithin—Mountain Rose, aged, 10st 2lb (F. Fielder) 1
Mr. N. M'Kenna's ch g The Dip, aged, 9st 10lb (W. Hall) 2

Other starters: Ennispona, 9st (G. Phillips); Ramiro, 9st (F. Moore); Nerebo, 9st (G. Reid); Gorlias, 9st (J. Clifton), disq.

Betting: 5 to 2 v The Dip, 3 to 1 v Gorlias, 4 to 1 v Ramiro, 5 to 1 v St. Leonard, 12 to 1 each v Nerebo and Ennispona.

Gorlias and Nerebo moved off in front and showed the way along the back stretch five lengths clear from The Dip, who was a couple of lengths in advance of Ramiro and Ennispona. Passing the five furlongs post Gorlias drew clear, and at the end of the next furlong Nerebo came down, and coming round the bend Ramiro followed his example. The Dip ran up level with Gorlias at the St. Leger hurdle, where some interference appeared to take place, and the Dip led past the stand, with Gorlias at his heels, Ennispona was a dozen lengths off, and a couple in advance of St. Leonard. Gorlias ran off at the hurdle near the homestead, leaving The Dip with a lead of eight lengths; and with that advantage he showed the way along the back from Gorlias, who was half a dozen lengths clear from the other two. There was no change until they reached some interference appeared to take place, and The Dip came round the bend, with St. Leonard and Gorlias in pursuit. Gorlias took charge at the turn for home, and coming on, passed the judge's box eight lengths from St. Leonard, who was a couple in front of The Dip. A protest lodged against Gorlias was upheld, and the race was awarded to St. Leonard. Time, 3m 58s.

FARM STAKES, a handicap of 50 sovs; second horse 5 sovs from the prize. 1m.

Other starters: E.U.G., 9st 5lb (R. Walker); Savanax, 7st 7lb, all 7lb (P. Meddick); So So, 7st 10lb (A. Shanahan); Florican, 7st 8lb, inc. 1lb over (S. Lamond); Rubecula, 7st 5lb (G. Pinn); Famous Queen, 7st 12lb, inc. 7lb over; Clonony, 7st 5lb (S. Callinan); Miss Rosary, 6st 12lb, all 7lb (H. Allen); Ayr Girl, 7st 5lb (E. Islip); Rosegraft, 7st 4lb (G. Betting: 3 to 1 each v E.U.G. and Wool, 6 to 1 v Jedburgh, 8 to 1 v Savanax, 10 to 1 v Willow Green, 20 to 1 each v others.

Ayr Girl, Clonony, and Willow Green were smartest off the mark, and Willow Green and Ayr Girl came past the seven-furlongs post with Jedburgh almost on terms, and they were succeeded by Dan Patch and Florican. When they reached the five-furlong post Ayr Girl was three lengths from Willow Green and Jedburgh, after whom came Dan Patch and Wool. Passing the half-mile post Ayr Girl was still in charge from Jedburgh, Wool, E.U.G., and Dan Patch, but as they rounded the bend Jedburgh took charge from Ule and Wool. Jedburgh and Ule were fighting it out at the distance, just in front of Wool, Willow Green, and Savanax, but Ule forged to the front at the half-distance, and won by half a length from Wool, who had Willow Green at his girths. Jedburgh and Savanax were close up next, followed by Dan Patch, Butolia, and Freesia, with Clonony last. Time, 1m 44½s.

LIVERPOOL MILE, a handicap of 50 sovs, second horse 5 sovs from prize.

Mr. J. M. Allison's bg Coolahburragundy, by Playbill (imp.)—Pride, 6yrs, 8st 12lb (J. Pike) 1

Mr. J. Glazier's b h Salladay, 6yrs, 8st 5lb (R. Abbott) 3

Other starters: Mavus, 9st 12lb (M. Connell); C.H., 8st 7lb (H. Duggan); Embracer, 8st 2lb (J. Williams); Lord Jeweller, 8st 2lb (G. Hook); Kilmeadon, 8st 2lb (W. Dougherty); Murat, 7st 13lb, inc. 1lb over (R. Walker); Blue Flyer, 7st 12lb (W. H. Smith); Bubble Up, 7st 12lb (P. Peterson).

Betting: 2 to 1 v Elfbolt, 3 to 1 v Coolahburragundy, 7 to 1 v Blue Flyer, 8 to 1 v C.H., 10 to 1 v Kilmeadon, 12 to 1 v Mavus, 20 to 1 each v others.

Elfbolt and C.H. were smartest off the mark, and at the end of a furlong C.H. and Blue Flyer were disputing the lead, just in advance of Mavus, Coolahburragundy and Salladay. That order prevailed to the half-mile post, and Blue Flyer, C.H., and Mavus came round the bend in line, followed by Kilmeadon and Coolahburragundy, and so they swung into the straight, where Coolahburragundy moved up on the rails, with Elfbolt in the centre, and the former taking charge at the half-distance, won by a length from Elfbolt, who was a length and a half in advance of Salladay. C.H. was fourth, followed by Blue Flyer, Lord Jeweller, and Embracer, with Kilmeadon at the tail of the hunt. Time, 1m 45s.

JUVENILE HANDICAP, a handicap of 75 sovs, second horse 10 sovs and third 5 sovs from the prize. 5f.

Kuhn); Irishwoman, 7st 11lb (J. Mason); Golden Bee, 7st 7lb (N. Westfallen); Perversion, 7st 7lb (J. Lightfoot); Hot Cake, 7st 4lb (J. Stonnell).

Betting: 7 to 4 v Pedestrian, 5 to 2 v Royal Actor, 5 to 1 v Perversion, 10 to 1 v Lady Ibex, 12 to 1 v Relievo, 20 to 1 each v Irishwoman and Boambee, 25 to 1 each v others.

Solanio, Pedestrian, and Boambee were first to show out, but at the end of a furlong Lady Ibex was leading from Boambee, Solanio, and Royal Actor. Coming round the bend Lady Ibex and Boambee were disputing the lead a couple of lengths from Royal Actor. Solanio was a similar distance off, with Perversion and Relievo at his heels. As they swung into the straight Lady Ibex shook off Boambee, and at the distance was two lengths from Royal Actor, and the latter getting on terms with the filly at the half-distance, beat her home by a length. Pedestrian, who came late on the scene, was two lengths away third, and six in front of Perversion, after whom came Let Slip, Solanio, and Relievo, almost in line with Boambee and Dormer, bringing up the rear. Time, 1m 3½s.

WARWICK HANDICAP of 100 sovs; second horse 20 sovs and third 10 sovs from prize. 1¼m.

Mr. C. Hebden's b m Haze, by St. Alwyne (imp.)—Hazebrig, 4yrs, 7st (G. Hook) 1

Betting: 3 to 1 v N.S.W., 7 to 2 v Haze, 4 to 1 v Harley, 7 to 1 v Kyloe, 8 to 1 v Dion, 14 to 1 each v others.

Haze and Dion were first away, while N.S.W. dwelt and lost some ground. Passing the stand, Marvel Queen took charge from Haze, Lady Warpaint, and Dion, with Harley at the tail of the hunt; but a little further on Harley and N.S.W. came into collision, and the latter nearly came down. Marvel Queen turned out of the straight and passed the homestead followed by Haze and Lady Warpaint, and so they raced along the back and to the half-mile post, where Lady Warpaint ran to the front, with Marvel Queen at her heels, after them coming Haze, Ulmus, and Dion, with N.S.W. last. Haze joined Lady Warpaint as they came round the bend, with Dion and Ulmus in pursuit; but Haze was first into the straight from Ulmus, Dion, and Kyloe. Haze was not afterwards troubled, and, coming on, won by two and a half lengths from Dion, who beat Kyloe by a neck for second place. Harley was five lengths away, and three in front of Ulmus, Marvel Queen, and N.S.W., with Colma last. Time, 2m 8½s.

After they had settled into their strides, Debutante and Yarrum were out in front, and showed the way past the five-furlong post at the head of a great cluster, but when they reached the half-mile post Yarrum was in charge, closely followed by Ramble, Scotch Queen, Wyealla, and Precision. Rounding the bend, Yarrum increased his advantage to a length and a half from Scotch Queen, who was followed at length intervals by Debutante, Wyealla, and Ramble, with Precision three lengths away at the head of the others. Yarrum turned into the straight with Scotch Queen, Debutante, and Menes in hot pursuit, but when they reached the distance Yarrum and Scotch Queen were right clear from their followers. Inside that point Scotch Queen threw out a bold challenge to Yarrum, got level with him inside the half-distance, and beat him home by a length. Menes was six lengths off third, and a couple in front of Wyealla, after whom came Thalmous, Debutante, and Fugue, while the last to pass the post were Zenia and Nalhu. Time, 1m 16s.

CONTROL OF ATHLETICS.

A.A.A. AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Lord Desborough referred recently to the unrest and insubordination predominating in sport just now, and the truth of the remark has been brought home to followers of athletics during the past few days, by the decision of the big school organisation to sever its connection with the governing body in this State.

The withdrawal of the Public Schools' Athletic Association from New South Wales A.A.A. is accompanied by the explanation that, being affiliated to the Sporting Federation, the schools' body does not see the necessity for further direct connection with the Amateur Athletic Association. It seems that the real position is not clearly understood.

In the first place, the A.A.A. is charged with the administration of amateur athletics—i.e., running, walking, jumping, hurdling, and field games—throughout the State, and, as such, any club wishing to carry out sports under proper control, at once owes allegiance to that organisation. In the past, the affiliation fee paid by the schools has given the many thousands of boys the right of entry to interclub events at any gathering; it has allowed the different affiliated clubs to send its members to the annual function of the schools, which means that it has given the many clubs which make up the Public Schools A.A.A. the benefits of affiliation, including a voice in the administration of the sport.

In the second place, on the formation of the Amateur Sporting Federation of New South Wales, the controlling amateur bodies joined together with certain specified objects. There was no intention that the control of any particular sport should be vested in the federation; on the contrary, each body was at once set down as governing the various forms of sport it had previously controlled. The combined body was brought into existence to regulate the amateur status; to deal with general disqualifications; to protect and conserve the interest of each affiliated body, and maintain the rights of each; and, generally, to consider all questions affecting amateur sport, and act as a "go-between" for the governing bodies of each. Some objection was taken at the time to the inclusion of the Sydney University Sports Union, Great Public Schools A.A.A., and the Public Schools A.A.A., as all these organisations owed allegiance to the various bodies whose sport form a part of their own operations. However, they were admitted, but not as controlling any sport, unlike the other thirteen associations, which each had its own game or athletic exercise set out to govern.

Thus it is clear that being tied to the federation and the A.A.A. does not in [illegible] way dup[illegible] all control. In the first instance, it is [illegible] matter of controlling amateurism, and the regulation of general suspensions, etc., among the head bodies. In the second, it means handling the detail work of carrying out a particular pastime and the administration of the exercise. If the schools' withdrawal is right in the case of the A.A.A., it would similarly be correct in the case of swimming and the various forms of football, all of which are affiliated to the federation; but such action has not been taken, although the circumstances are identical.

What the breaking away really means is difficult to fully estimate, but any athlete affiliated to the N.S.W. A.A.A. competing at the school gatherings without permission, whether he be boy or adult, will render himself liable for suspension. It is one of the fundamental rules of all amateur organisations that a member cannot compete against unaffiliated individuals without permission; but it is questionable whether this power will be brought into force in the case of schoolboys. However, the cost of governing a sport should be met by the parties participating, and there seems no good reason why the Public Schools A.A.A. should not support the governing body in this direction, the same as the athletic clubs.

The federation also may take steps to bring the parties together again, as it has given the A.A.A. control of athletics, including schools, and it can hardly fail to "conserve the interests and maintain the rights" of the A.A.A. in this direction, while the Public Schools' A.A.A. is affiliated to the combined organisation.

ATHLETICS.

The event of greatest interest to amateur athletes on Saturday was the combined clubs' opening run at Parramatta Park. The event was under the control of the Cumberland Harriers, and seven clubs took part. At the reserve the Leichhardt Harriers decided 220 yards and running broad jump handicaps. The 75 yards professional handicap promoted by Mr. J. J. Manning, at Marrickville, brought out a field of 70 sprinters.

THE OPENING RUN.

WOOD AND FITZSIMMONS TIE FOR FIRST.

SOUTH SYDNEY WIN THE PENNANT.

The combined clubs' opening run of the cross-country season, organised by the Cumberland Harriers, was successfully carried out at Parramatta Park on Saturday. About 60 runners took part, representing Cumberland, Botany, East Sydney, Newtown, Redfern, South Sydney, and Y.M.C.A. Prizes were allotted for the first two men finishing, and a further inducement was that a pennant would be presented to the club securing the highest number of points for the best muster and neatest costumes. The banner will be made in the winning club's colours, with the name worked upon it. Messrs. C. T. Ferguson, J. Inglis, and H. A. Westhoff were the judges of the competition, and after a lengthy deliberation awarded the prize to the South Sydney Harriers. The points were given in the following order:—

South Sydney Harriers, 39 points 1
Botany Harriers, 38 points 2
Cumberland Harriers, 34 points 3

Redfern, East Sydney, Y.M.C.A., and Newtown were next in order.

The opening run was over a distance of five miles, and comprised a route through Parramatta Park, over a cross-country course with rails, fences, and barbed wire obstacles, concluding with a run over a grassy slope to the finish at the bowling green. W. McLaren, of the Cumberland Club, acted as leader for four miles, the instructions issued being that he must not be passed. With one mile to go, the men were drawn up, and W. Woodward acted as pace-maker for the last stages. A fine race ensued between R. J. Fitzsimmons (South Sydney), and T. J. Wood (East Sydney). The South Sydney man led down the hill, followed by Wood, and they were level 50 yards from the tape. From this point a magnificent struggle followed, and the two breasted the line together. A conference of judges resulted in a dead-heat being declared. W. Browne (East Sydney) was six yards in the rear, followed by F. Colbert (Cumberland). The positions of the first ten men were:—T. J. Wood (East Sydney) and R. J. Fitzsimmons (South Sydney), dead-heat, 1; W. Browne (East Sydney), 3; F. Colbert (Cumberland), 4; E. J. Manson (South Sydney), 5; H. Tye (Botany), 6; R. Hosford (Cumberland), 7; A. Todorovitch (Cumberland), 8; J. Dugleish (Botany), 9; E. E. Austen (Redfern), 10.

SOUTH SYDNEY HARRIERS.

The meeting arranged to take place at the Sports Club to-morrow evening, will be held at the training quarters at Moore Park.

LEICHHARDT HARRIERS.

This club decided two events on the local reserve, with the following results:—

220yds Handicap.—A. E. Michael (9yds), 1; N. Carlow (18yds), 2; W. Ryan (5yds), 3. Time, 24 3-5s.

Broad Jump Handicap.—R. H. Pike (allowed 4ft), 19ft 1in; A. E. Michael (allowed 2in), 18ft 8in, 2; W. Ryan (allowed 1ft 2in), 17ft 11in, 3.

Owing to the course being under water the one-mile handicap was abandoned.

PROFESSIONALS AT MARRICKVILLE.

The fourteenth 75yds handicap promoted by Mr. J. J. Manning for a prize of £10 10s was run on Saturday at the recreation grounds Marrickville. There were about 2000 spectators. Some very close finishes were witnessed. Results:—

MOSMAN RECREATION CLUB.

The tenth annual meeting of the Mosman Recreation Club was held on Friday, when a satisfactory report was adopted. It showed that, in the bowling section, of the 64 matches played the club had won 40. The bowling championship of the club was won by Mr. P. B. Colquhoun, with Mr. A. H. Davies as runner-up. Johnstone and Walters were the champion pair, while the champion rink consisted of Jones, Gelding, Johnstone, and Walters. Numerous other competitions were carried out.

In the tennis section the year had been successful in every way, the membership being 75.

LOWLANDS DEFEATS MAITLAND CENTRAL.

On the Lowlands green yesterday Lowlands defeated Maitland Central by 90 points to 82.

WOONONA CLUB.

BULLI, Sunday.

The annual meeting of the Woonona Bowling Club was held last evening, when the following officers were elected:—President, Mr. J. S. Kirton; vice-presidents, Drs. Dixon and Palmer, Messrs. A. Sellers, G. C. Jones, W. B. Green, J. M'Meekan, J. B. Nicholson, C. Dinning, J. Glass, J. Mitchell, H. L. Garlick; treasurer, Mr. W. Rees; hon. secretary, Mr. T. Horan. There is a membership of 72, and the debt on the property is £121. The president, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. W. Martin (who has left the district, and was an active member for many years) with a fine set of carvers.

HOCKEY.

The second round of the hockey competition was played on Saturday.

Played on the Crescent oval, and won by University by 12 goals to nil. Terrey contributed five goals, Hughes 3, Ritchie 2, and Morgan and Taylor one each.

Corinthian II. beat University III. at the Crescent oval by 6 goals to 2.

LACROSSE.

SYDNEY v EASTERN SUBURBS.

The last of the practice matches were played on Saturday last.

At St. Luke's Park the newly-organised Eastern Suburbs Club played Sydney, and the game ended in a draw, 11 goals all.

Birchgrove A and Sydney B met at Birchgrove, the former quite outclassing the latter.

The Sydney Fortians engaged Birchgrove B as an early match at Birchgrove, the latter winning by 2-1.

Stanmore B and St. George played at Kogarah Park, the former winning by a small margin.

MANLY v MOSMAN MOHICANS.

Manly and Mosman Mohicans played a draw at Moore Park. Both teams showed a high proficiency in stick-work and combination; but the back division of each failed to mark their respective men thoroughly. The fault, too, was prevalent as in the other games, of hanging on to the ball, and thus losing opportunities to score.

Manly II. v Hurstville provided the early game at Moore Park, and the former won by 4-2. The play of these two teams was excellent—and augurs well for the success of the B grade. Hurstville, which is composed of practically new men, deserve to be commended on their play, and a little more adeptness at stick work and a little more accuracy in checking will make them a team to be respected in their grade.

LAWN TENNIS.

CYCLING AND MOTORING.

NOTES.

Mr. E. L. Betts, hon. secretary of the Enfield B.C., advises that a special general meeting of club members is to be held to-morrow night at the Olympia, Burwood road.

Entries are due on May 4 for the open road race promoted by Canley Park and Liverpool clubs, to be run over the course from Liverpool to Enfield and back, distance 25 miles, on May 18. The race is to be run under the auspices of the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union, and there is a good prize list. The next open road races are the City Club's 10 miles on May 25 heats and June 8 final, and the Redfern Club's Picton to Ashfield race on June 3, King's Birthday.

The annual opening run of the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union will be held some weeks later than usual this year, as the executive cannot find a suitable rendezvous at present. This fixture will probably be on June 23.

An amateur bicycle club, with Mr. R. B. Peterson as hon. secretary, has recently been formed at Springwood, and has affiliated with the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union.

A. & A. HORDERN,

SYDNEY'S SMARTEST SHOP, 685-697 GEORGE-STREET, HAYMARKET, SYDNEY.

I AM THE ONLY TAILOR ADVERTISING TAILOR-MADE COSTUMES AT £5/5/- AS A SPECIALTY.

Many drapery establishments DO certainly mention Five Guineas, but their object is to get you to order a costume at a higher price.

Their cost price may be a little under five guineas, but the big profits they need to keep, their large establishment going, increase the price to you very considerably.

But I am a practical cutter and tailor—specialising solely on tailoring.

That is why I can make a SPECIALTY COSTUME TO ORDER for 105/.

Of course the profit I ask is nowhere near that asked by fashionable drapers.

But that is to your advantage.

I can save you money from start to finish, and yet give you a most stylish costume, fully trimmed, with durable linings, and in a most pleasing fit.

Will you call and see me about your Winter Costume to-day?

I have just opened some lovely materials, and they are exhibited in my window.

There are superior Tweeds and Serges from England, Scotland, and Ireland, as well as from the best Australian Mills —handsome designs that are a treat to wear.

PLEASE NOTE.—I SEND PATTERNS TO ANY ADDRESS IN AUSTRALIA, WITH INSTRUCTIONS FOR SELF MEASUREMENT IF REQUESTED.

GEORGE PINKERTON,

COSTUME SPECIALIST, 12 QUEEN VICTORIA MARKETS, GEORGE-STREET, SYDNEY.

SNOW'S IS UNDER A CLOUD TO-DAY.

A GREAT WHITE CLOUD OF ONE THOUSAND BEAUTIFUL LACE AND NET BLOUSES.

LET US TELL YOU ABOUT THEM.

An Importer of High-grade English Blouses wished to close his season and make way for new goods which were rushing over the seas to him. But one thousand Blouses, who could take such a quantity?

SNOW'S

supplied the answer, and the deal was closed. Now they are here in the Showroom, sorted up into three groups, and offered

AT PRICES THAT FAVOUR UNSTINTED BUYING.

TAKE GROUP ONE.—It contains Blouses of originality at 16/6, which are well worth from 25/ to 29/6.

Here is a very Fashionable Blouse of Fancy Net, with plain tucked front and pin tucked yoke, trimmed with Heavy Guipure. Can it be true that such a creation is offered at 16/6?

Yes, Madam. And here are others in the same group. Fancy Nets, trimmed with Guipure; Fancy Laces, and Plain Nets trimmed in scores of different styles. The shades are Cream and Paris, and there are Small Women's, Women's, and Outside Sizes, so that no matter what your measurements you may share in this opportunity.

Magyar styles abound.

IN GROUP No. 2 are Blouses at 11/6. (They would be good values at 17/6 and 19/6). There is plenty of variety here, too. Some coming in Good Point Lace, some of Silk with sleeves and trimmings of Point Lace; others of Plain Net, tucked all over, and trimmed with Guipure.

"Which do you consider the best bargain in this group?" we asked the Blouse Buyer. "It's impossible to say," came the reply, "but you might mention specially this beautiful Blouse in Allover Lace, trimmed with Guipure and finished with Black Velvet. Such a rare production never was meant to carry a 11/6 price ticket." But that's always the surprising thing at Snow's—the quality is invariably better than the price. If you like the Magyar styles, they are here.

GROUP No. 3 CONTAINS BLOUSES AT 8/11. There are Blouses in the popular Magyar styles, with the effective seamless appearance. One is shown in piece Lace, trimmed with Guipure. And there are others in Jap. Silk and Point Lace, and still others wholly of Point Lace.

In every group there are dozens of styles. Remember that, please, and, though one thousand Blouses may seem an immense quantity, Snow's is a busy shopping centre, so, if you would share, come without delay.

A WINDOW DISPLAY IS MADE. YOU CAN PASS JUDGMENT ON OUR VALUES WITHOUT LEAVING THE SIDEWALK.

Mail Orders will be filled promptly, and if purchase is not satisfactory money refunded.

Freight paid within New South Wales.
